Understanding the Game of WATER POLO

Water Polo can be a confusing game for spectators. The whistle is constantly blowing and the play never stops, even when someone is ejected for a penalty. In addition, there are many misconceptions about the game, including how the players keep their horses swimming. Well hang in there, because the following information should help to make the picture much clearer.

General Information

1. Each team has six field players and a goalie.
2. Field players can only use one hand to touch the ball, goalies two.
3. Games consist of 7-minute quarters for club divisions, 8-minute quarters for varsity divisions.
4. The object of the game is to score, by placing the ball completely in the goal. Players may move the ball by swimming or passing.
5. Teams may substitute after a goal is scored, during a time-out, or during the play from the ejection area.
6. Each team receives three time-outs and one 20-second time-out per game.
7. Shots blocked out of bounds by defensive players result in the defensive team receiving possession. If a defender uses two hands to block a shot, the offensive team receives a penalty shot.

Fouls

When an infraction of the rules occurs, the referee will point in the direction of the team taking possession, while blowing his whistle. The ball is put back into play with an action called a free throw. This means the player gets three seconds of free time to throw the ball to another teammate or swim it up the pool. A player cannot shoot his free throw unless outside the five-meter line. If the ball is not put into play within three seconds, the other team takes possession.

Fouls can be ordinary or major. Ordinary fouls are best understood as minor fouls. For example, a defender may reach over an opponent's back to get at the ball while facing away from the goal. The penalty for an ordinary foul is a free throw for the opposing team.

Major fouls are more severe and are penalized accordingly. For example, when a defender fouls an opponent too aggressively, or from behind when the opponent is facing the goal, the defender is ejected for 20 seconds (players may reenter if their team recovers the ball before the ejection time is up, or if the opposing team scores). When the foul occurs within five meters of the goal and the referee believes the player had a high chance of scoring, the opposition shoots a penalty shot. Major fouls can also occur through disrespect to the referee or when a player interferes with an opponent's free throw. Players may only receive three major fouls before elimination.

If all of this has you totally confused, just sit back and enjoy the game. The easiest way to follow the play is by watching the scoreboard. If your team is ahead at the end, great! If not, well consider that you have expanded your horizons. When the game is over, you can at least explain to your friends that the horses never get wet.

History of the Collegiate Water Polo Association

Administration

The Collegiate Water Polo Association is a member of the NCAA and is comprised of collegiate institutions. The purpose of the Association is to serve its membership through a variety of ways, including the coordination of a competitive schedule. As a non-profit 501 (c)-3 organization, it is also a charitable entity, capable of receiving donations that are tax deductible. All gifts of this kind may be sent to the office, with an acknowledgment returned to you for your tax records.

The Collegiate Water Polo Association provides a number of benefits to its membership including:

Services

- Conference web site
- Competitive schedule
- Hotel reservations
- Job placement service
- Administration of Association activities
- Assignment of officials
- Referee training program

- Coaching resources
- Desk official training and support

CWPA Sportsmanship Statement

The CWPA and the NCAA promote good sportsmanship by student-athletes, coaches, and spectators. We request your cooperation by supporting the participants and officials in a positive manner. Profanity, racial or sexist comments, or other intimidating actions directed at the officials, student-athletes, coaches, or team representatives will not be tolerated and are grounds for removal from the site of competition. Also, consumption or possession of alcoholic beverages and tobacco products is prohibited.

Affiliate Organizations

There are many organizations affiliated with the sport of water polo and the landscape can be somewhat confusing when trying to sort out which entity offers what services. To make matters a little easier to understand, the organizations can be divided into two basic groups: scholastic and non scholastic. The scholastic organizations are those that have some affiliation with the educational system. These include college, high school, junior college, and middle school teams, as well as their respective administrative bodies that offer competitive leagues and support. In this category you would find state sanctioning organizations, the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), and the collegiate conferences recognized by the NCAA or NAIA. Each organization operates independently with its own governing structure.

The NCAA and the NAIA are two organizations that serve a unique position. They each provide a supervisory role for their member schools. The colleges and universities that are members of each respective organization choose to establish and follow a set of guidelines that govern competition. Specifically, these guidelines include eligibility, academic progress for their student-athletes, competitive rules, championship guidelines, recruiting, and financial aid. Schools that become members of one of these organizations agree to abide by the rules and principles established within the organization. The NCAA and NAIA only provide oversight for the varsity teams on campus, not the collegiate clubs.

In addition to the NCAA and NAIA there are conference structures that operate for the purpose of arranging competition for their member institutions. Some conferences like the Big East or ACC handle several sports, while others like the CWPA handle just one sport. With respect to water polo, all collegiate clubs that play competitively are members of either the Big Ten or the CWPA conferences. To understand the difference between the conferences and the NCAA or NAIA, think of the conferences on a smaller scale performing similar functions for their member institutions. The conferences work with the NCAA and NAIA to help provide competitive opportunities and services, yet they still remain independent organizations with their own governing systems and budgets.

Non scholastic organizations include all other entities that offer the opportunity for people to be involved in the sport outside of an educational institution. These include YMCAs, Boys & Girls Clubs, township programs, parks and recreation programs, privately organized water polo clubs, and independent organizations like American Water Polo. United States Water Polo fits under this category as well, serving as the National Governing Body for the sport. They are also responsible for supporting and training an Olympic Team for men and women.

For more information about any specific organization, contact the CWPA office at 610-277-6787.

Competitive Format

The Collegiate Water Polo Association is divided into two classes, varsity and sport club. Each class of membership is then divided into divisions based on geography.

Varsity Class

Northern Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule within the division to determine regular season rankings. All teams attend the division championship, with the seeding determined by the won/loss records during the season.

Southern Division

Teams play a double round robin schedule within their respective regions (east or west) to determine seeding for the championship, in which everyone attends.

The top four teams from each division championship move on to the Eastern Championship. The first place team at the Eastern Championship qualifies for the NCAA National Championship in December.

Sport Club Class

Teams are divided into divisions, based on geography. The top team from each division championship qualifies for either the National Collegiate Club Championship or the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship.

Atlantic Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule within their region and then a crossover event where they compete against four of the five teams from the opposite region. The four opponents in this instance are selected at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Great Lakes Division

Teams play four opponents drawn at random during the first weekend to seed for the championship. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Great Plains Division

Teams play double round robin over two weekends. All teams attend the championship, with teams seeded according to the regular season won/loss records.

Heartland Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Mid Atlantic Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random within their regions. All teams attend the championship tournament. Seeding at the championship alternates between the regions, with the first seed awarded to the region that won the prior season (western) in 2005.

Missouri Valley Division

Teams play eight of the nine opponents during two weekends with match-ups drawn at random. All teams attend the championship, with teams seeded according to the regular season won/loss records.

New England Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship, with seeding based on won/loss records.

New York Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule within their region and then a crossover event where they compete against four of the teams from the opposite region. The four opponents in this instance are selected at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

North Atlantic Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship, with seeding based on won/loss records.

Northwest Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship, with seeding based on won/loss records.

Pacific Coast Division

Teams play eight of the ten opponents drawn at random over several weekends. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Southeast Division

Teams play eight of the nine opponents drawn at random over several weekends. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Southwest Division

Teams play eight of the ten opponents drawn at random over several weekends. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Texas Division Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Tie Breaker System - All Situations

If two teams are tied using the tie breaker system below and they have played each other, the head-to-head competition is used to determine ranking.

Tie Breaker System - Two Teams

If the won/loss records of two teams are the same, the team that won in their head-to-head competition is the higher seed. If these teams each beat one another, the goal differential in their games is used to break the tie. If the goal differential in their contests against one another is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, the differential for all common opponents seeded higher is used. If no common opponents are seeded higher, the goal differential against the highest seeded common opponent is used.

Tie Breaker System - Three or More Teams (for seeding championships)

If more than two teams are tied in won/loss records, goal differentials among the teams tied serves as the tiebreaker. If the goal differential in their contests against one another is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, the goal differential between common opponents seeded higher will be used to determine ranking. This may require averaging the goal differential per game if the number of games between common opponents is unequal. Should teams be tied in won/loss record and they have not played each other, goal differentials against common opponents that are seeded above them are used. If no common opponents are seeded higher, the goal differential against the highest seeded common opponent is used.

Tie Breaker System-Three or More Teams (for advancement in championships)

If more than two teams are tied in won/loss records, goal differentials among the teams tied serves as the tiebreaker. If the goal differential in their contests against one another is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, their original seeding will serve as the tiebreaker. If the totals are tied at any time between two of the three teams, the tie is broken by their head-to-head result.

Goal Differential

Goal differential is a term used to describe the difference between goals scored against an opponent and the number of goals scored by an opponent against a particular team.

Northern Division

Brown University

The Brown men's team is looking to build on the momentum that was created by last year's squad as the Bears finished with a 20-11 record, a fifth place finish at the Eastern Championships and a final national ranking of #19 -- all accomplishments that have not been seen by Brown water polo in over seven years. Brown will be led by senior captains Luke Samson and Stu Thompson. Gerrit Adams, a second team All-North selection, will be returning along with fellow junior Alex Robb, while rookie Jerry Wolf Duff-Sellers is also anticipated to make an impact. The sophomore class, which includes three of the top four goal scorers from 2005, is looking to again ignite Brown's offense in 2006. Mike Gartner, a 2005 first team All-North and All-East selection returns along with second team All-North selection Hank Weintraub. Grant LeBeau and Nico Fort will also have significant roles on this year's team. Freshman Zach Levko will be looking to make an immediate impact this year, specifically on counterattack. Frosh goalies Kent Holland and Mike Peterson will be looking to fill the hole that four year starter Jay Fantone left following last season. "This year we have exceptional players at every position. We have our sights set on winning the Eastern Championship," says third year head coach Jason Gall.

Connecticut College

Connecticut College enters the fall season with a streamlined team after graduating seven players from last year's roster. Junior Brian McVeety will also be missing from the line-up as he is studying abroad in New Zealand. Stepping back in to help the Camels after a year abroad of his own is senior Gerald Wols. Transfer defender Rene LaPlante is one new face with lots of experience who will look to help Conn immediately and two freshmen will further lift the program as Brendan Kempf from Loyola High School in Los Angeles and Connor Matzinger from Bishops High School in San Diego join the team. Kempf will start the season backing up senior co-captain Alex Feinstein in the cage. Feinstein holds school records for saves and steals in a game, experience that will help him mold Kempf into the future leader of CC's defense. Dan O'Shea is the sole returning junior as he should improve and help the Camels to their best season yet. A trio of talented and speedy players round out the senior class with Adam Philips, Bob Kyne and co-captain Sam Nasuti all looking to end their collegiate careers with a record year. Three sophomores will also play a key role in 2006. Wright Scott-Kem started as a freshman and his experience will again play a key role in the Camels' offense. Nick Llewelyn had a quiet first year but is looking to thunder through 2006, and A.J. Bricetti led the team in scoring as a freshman and certainly looks to contend for the title again this season.

Fordham University

The development of the Fordham University water polo squad continues in the right direction under third year head coach Bill Harris. For the second straight season, Fordham improved their overall win total, as the team recorded nine victories last season after an eight win 2004 campaign, and brought in a talented recruiting class. In addition, the Rams had their first All-Conference selection in some time with junior Paul Shrewsbury garnering All-Northern Division second team honors last year. Harris has brought in another strong recruiting class for this season, raising the talent level up another notch and adding needed depth. Returning this season are the Rams' three scoring leaders from 2005, including Shrewsbury and sophomore Todd Conway, who both had 32 goals to lead the team. Junior Taylor Landesman will add to the Rams' firepower after notching 27 goals a year ago. The Rams also return stellar defensive players in sophomore two-meter defender Zack Weinbaum and sophomore goalie Timmy Will, who registered 156 saves and 52 steals in 21 games last season.

Harvard University

After a seventh place finish last year, the Harvard Crimson is poised to make a run at the Eastern Championship this season. Most of last year's team returns, to be joined by a crop of seven talented freshmen. Leading the way on the perimeter will be senior co-captains Allesandro Lazzarini and Michael Garcia, a recipient of All Northern and All East-team honors in 2005. John Voith and Eric Byrd, both skilled and versatile utility players, round out the senior class. Other key returnees include junior sharpshooter Chris Ludwick and sophomore David Tune. Sophomore Jay Connolly, one of the East's most effective goalies last season, is joined by freshman Nikhil Balaraman. Spencer Livingston and Egen Atkinson will both see significant time in their first seasons at the 2M and 2M-defense positions. 2004 All-America selection Rick Offsay returns to his alma mater for his second year as an assistant coach.

Iona College

The 2006 Iona College men's water polo team enters the new season with high hopes despite the departure of several key players. Sophomores Nick Velasquez and Patrick St. Cin are the top returning scorers from last season with 31 points and 29 points, respectively. Senior Chris Vidale will join Velasquez at the driver position to give head coach

Brian Kelly a solid duo. Another pair of sophomores, Mark DiCola and Elliot Hullverson, saw plenty of playing time as rookies in 2005 and will be counted on heavily in the new season. Sophomore Adam Neid looks to replace the departed Jason Simpson in goal for the Gaels after seeing limited action last season. Ed Gronkowski, also in his second year, may see time in net in addition to playing his familiar utility spot. Iona will also feature an exciting freshman class consisting of 2M Joe Przekota, 2MD Emre Erdogan, utility Sean Doyle and driver Shawn Neilson.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT)

While losing four of their top six scorers following last season, MIT will be looking to replace some offensive fire power as the Engineers have 14 freshman who will try to help fill the void. MIT returns its top two defenders in Kevin Amendt and Morgan Laidlaw, and will look to seniors David Dryjanski, Phil Cassel and Oliver Venn to step up and lead the way on offense. In cage, Rob Truax returns to defend the goal. Sophomores Mike Smith Bronstein and Palmer Rosemond are expected to improve after their rookie campaign as the Engineers will look to build upon their success and make a run at the title.

Queens College

Queens College comes into the 2006 season still rebuilding. Queens was fifth at the Northern Championship Tournament last season, missing the Eastern Championship by one place. This year's team returns only four of last year's starters as Vedran Jurjevic, Josh Conway, Kevin Cartney, and Gus Cordovil will suit up in 2006. Transfer goalie Kory Wilson, the first addition in goal for Queens in the past two seasons, should bring leadership to the defense. Queens has also added freshman, Matt Pluta who will be splitting time in center over the course of the season. There are many things that could happen this year with the Queens water polo team and if they play smart and don't give up, hopefully they will move up that one place needed to make it to Easterns this year.

Saint Francis College

After making their first trip to the NCAA Men's Water Polo Final Four Championship this past season, Coach Carl Quigley and the St. Francis College Terriers will look to repeat that performance once again with high hopes of an even better outcome. Last year, St. Francis advanced to the consolation game of the NCAA Final Four, but fell by the score of 10-6 to Loyola Marymount. The Terriers finished the season with a 20-10 record as the team was able to reach the NCAA Championships along with winning the ECAC Championship, Collegiate Water Polo Northern Championship and Collegiate Water Polo Eastern Championship. This year, St. Francis returns all but two of its players from last season as Gergerly Fabian was lost to graduation and Morin Stern is studying abroad. Goaltender Dusko Radovanac, who played every game last season, and was named to the Eastern Championship All-Tournament team, returns to anchor the team this year. Also returning is junior Botond Szlama, who was named MVP of the Eastern Championship and earned recognition on the Eastern Championship All-Tournament and CWPA Northern Division All-Conference teams. Due to the loss of Fabian, who was an honorable mention All-America selection in both 2004 and 2005, the Terriers will turn to a core of players in Bogdan Petrovic, Christopher McClure, Milos Vuksic, Carlos Omana and Or Gil who could help St. Francis continue its tenure as CWPA champions. St. Francis will welcome a recruiting class of five, including two goalies, and the return of Ben Barnett and Andro Vrdoljak, who spent last season studying abroad. Finally, the Terriers welcome a new assistant coach in Mikhail Klochkov, who was formally the head water polo coach at Queens College.

Southern Division

Bucknell University

Bucknell must overcome the loss of two four-year starters in Aaron Platshon and Brad Roslyn, while also replacing three-year starting goalie Trevor Mullins. That might appear to be a daunting task, but the Bison are equipped to handle it. Senior captain Mark Masterson led the team in scoring with 48 goals last year when Bucknell faced 17 nationally ranked opponents on its way to a 14-18 record. Juniors Jason Rechel and Kyle Roslyn will also help shoulder the offensive load. The duo totaled 33 goals as freshmen and upped that figure to 69 last year. Eighth-year head coach John Zeigler only expects that trend to continue. Junior Lucas Belenky is expected to take over in goal after serving a two-year apprenticeship under Mullins. Despite playing in just 11 games his first two campaigns in Orange and Blue, Belenky showed promise and will enter the season as the starting goalie with 6'8" freshman Nick Donahue backing him up.

Gannon University

Gannon returns eight lettermen from last year's 9-13 squad. The Golden Knights ended the season with nine victories in their last 16 matches, placing fourth at the Division II Eastern Championships and seventh at the CWPA Southern Division Championships. Gannon's four seniors will be asked to carry much of the offensive load during head coach Kyle Witt's second year at Gannon. Charles Doane, the school's all-time leading scorer with 208 career goals, returns to the pool after taking the 2005 season off. Fellow seniors Brennan Lodge and Todd Gibson enter the season among Gannon's all-time top 10 in goals, assists and steals. In 2005, Lodge and Gibson scored 31 and 14 goals, respectively. Bryan Morphy completes the squad's group of seniors after recording two goals and four assists last season. Juniors Zach Dusckas, Matt Krizmanic, Pat Mack, Paul Musille and Brandon Thomas will also see significant playing time. Richie DiLoreto, the lone sophomore, will be asked to play the field in 2006 after competing much of last season in cage. The talented incoming freshmen class includes Stephen Espinet, David Perchinske, Darren Stone and Kyle Stunkard.

George Washington University

George Washington men's water polo head coach Scott Reed is optimistic his 2006 team can improve upon last year's success and compete for a CWPA Eastern Championship. The Colonials posted a 12-16 record in 2005, marking the most wins for the program since 1998, despite losing six contests by two goals or less, a trait Reed believes his 11 returnees have shed. The upperclassman Reed will rely on most heavily is senior John Hornberger. The lone senior on the 2006 team, Hornberger led George Washington with 42 goals and 61 ejections drawn last fall and added 20 assists. Junior Chris Whittam will be the anchor of the defense and the main option in the cage this year after splitting time with the departed Tom Mills the past two seasons. Whittam led the Colonials in saves for the second straight year in 2005, totaling 134 stops in 66 quarters played. He also helped the offensive cause on occasion, handing out 11 assists. David Zenk returns after an outstanding rookie season in which he led GW in points (75) and assists (34) and finished second on the team in goals (41) while coming off the bench. Zenk also led the Colonials in steals (76) and sprints won (48) and was second on the team with 12 man-up goals. His speed and scoring ability will make him the go-to player in the Colonials' attack this fall.

Johns Hopkins University

Johns Hopkins University will look to continue its strong showing from last year as junior Sean McCreery was named the 2005 American Water Polo Coaches Association Division III Player of the Year, while head coach Ted Bresnahan was chosen as the Coach of the Year. Hopkins, which earned a pair of All-America selections last year in McCreery and James Singleton, ended the season ranked first in the Collegiate Water Polo Association Division III Poll with a 24-6 overall record and an undefeated mark against Division III teams. McCreery finished with a team-high 82 goals, but the Bluejays will need to find a replacement for the graduated Singleton who had 36 goals and earned Eastern MVP honors last year.

Mercyhurst College

Mercyhurst finished their 2005 season with a second straight eighth place finish at the Southern Division Championships. Huge strides were made last season while regularly starting all freshman and sophomores. This inexperience was tested throughout the season with seven of their twenty-one games finishing as one goal games or in overtime with losses coming in four contests. Kevin Riordan, a two year starter, would hold the school record for assists in a season, after posting 32 as a sophomore last year. However, sophomore teammate Oscar Calderon totaled 34 assists in his first season for the Lakers. Calderon also broke the school record for ejections drawn with 41, but he was not the only newcomer to contribute last year. Sophomore Andrew Schonhoff finished with team highs in goals (45) and points (68) last year and sophomore Jorge Montero broke the school record for steals, with 40, and added 40 goals as well. Both athletes were honored as first team All-Division II East players. As if that is not enough firepower, the Lakers return Trevor McIlwaine, a 2004 starter who missed the entire year with a knee injury. Sophomores Zach Bell and Mihailo Jovanovic, along with junior Kyle Bogucki, will give the team more depth. Bell added excitement with his shooting a year ago, scoring 31 goals, while Jovanovic and Bogucki played in every game and brought energy on both ends of the pool. Seniors Chad Ward and Kevin Weishaar round out the returners and will be important pieces as they are called upon for leadership and experience. Two freshmen bring needed attributes to the squad and should compete for playing time. Kane Ashton has tremendous speed and Jarrett Pivarunas' defensive mindset will be welcome additions.

Penn State Erie, The Behrend College

Penn State Behrend returns nine players from last season's squad and has added 10 to the roster to account for the largest team in program history. Leandro Azevedo, Anthony Spoto and Andre Prankevicius will captain the team for the 2006 season. Another player to watch is Steve Sopher, who will bring his four years of experience to the table to lead the Lions to a higher finish at the Division III Eastern Championship and the Southern Division Championship.

Princeton University

Princeton enters the 2006 season looking to turn the close losses it sustained in the Southern Championship game and the Eastern semifinals into wins this season. The Tigers have established themselves among the top Eastern programs and will look to regain the Eastern title that Princeton won in 2004. Princeton lost its all-time leading scorer, John Stover, to graduation following the 2005 season, but returns six of its top seven scorers from last year. Senior Nicholas Seaver, who scored 41 goals in 31 games a season ago, leads that group. Junior Zach Beckmann (35 goals), senior Chris

2006

Collegiate Water Polo Association

Kelsch (26 goals), sophomore Brendan Colgan (24 goals), senior Reid Joseph (21 goals) and freshman Eric Vreeland (21 goals) are all returning goal scorers that made strong contributions to the Princeton attack last season. In goal, Princeton will rely on junior Scott Syverson.

United States Naval Academy

Head Coach Mike Schofield returns a solid group from last year's 22-7 squad that was one win shy of Navy's 12th NCAA Tournament appearance. The Midshipmen dropped a 10-9 heartbreaker in the CWPA Eastern Championship a year ago, marking the second straight year that St. Francis has ended Navy's season. In the 2005 meeting, Navy held an 8-5 halftime lead, but struggled offensively in the second half. Gone from that team is All-America selection Alex Ratcliffe and All-East performer Jordan Gentry, but back is an outstanding group of role players that are ready to take their games to the next level. Nine letterwinners return, including the 2005 CWPA Rookie of the Year, Michael Mulvey. The sophomore ranked sixth on the team in points (28) and fifth in goals (24) a year ago. Also back will be senior Todd Carlson, who scored 41 points (22 goals, 19 assists) last year, after tallying just 15 points in his first two years on the Yard. Andrew Plumb returns after a stellar junior campaign with 56 points (30 goals, 26 assists). The total was the second-best scoring output on the team behind Ratcliffe's 79 points. Tyler Hill (25 points) and Aaron Recko (35 points) are also returnees that netted at least 20 points a year ago. In goal for Navy will likely be junior George Naughton. Naughton had an outstanding sophomore season, recording a .535 save percentage with 193 saves. The 193 saves were the sixth most in school history. Naughton will be pushed by Steve Craney, who played well in limited action last year, as well as in the spring season.

Washington & Jefferson College

Washington & Jefferson College returns six of its top eight scorers from last year's 9-10 squad. The Presidents will be led by senior Brian Train and junior Joe Hamilton. Train will finish his career among the top scorers in school history as he has amassed 113 goals and 66 assists in his first three seasons. Last year, he accumulated 29 goals and 17 assists. Hamilton has teamed with Train to form one of the region's top 1-2 punches as he has netted 63 goals and handed out 32 assists in the past two years. Sophomore Andrew Whittam poured in 18 goals and dished out 10 assists in his first collegiate season and will be looked to increase his production this fall. Junior Brent Johnson finished second on the squad a year ago with 20 assists, while senior Justin McMichael will pace the defense after picking up 28 steals last season. Senior Paul Esber and junior Andrew Wnuk split time in goal in 2005 and will battle for the starting nod. Esber grabbed a team-high 96 saves and 44 steals, but Wnuk led all goaltenders with a .590 save percentage.

Atlantic Division

Duke University

Duke University comes into the 2006 season looking to follow its second place finish last year with the program's first ever Atlantic Division title. The team will have to replace the leadership of goaltender Steven Gangstead and field players Shawn Friel and Peter Asmuth, but return almost every other major contributor from a group that went 10-2 in league play last year returns. The team will be led by top scorer Ryan Goldhahn, who recorded 16 tallies in the divisional championships, and junior captain Brint Markle. The team's depth will lend itself to an attacking style of defense, anchored by all-league set defenders Ersen Akici and Will Garrigues. On offense, two meter men Cliff Cummings, Jamie Friedland and Goldhahn will lead the attack. Second year players Ben Rothstein, Ted Belsches and Robie Anson will also be called upon to contribute significant minutes for the Blue Devils.

Georgetown University

The Hoyas enter the 2006 season with all but one of last year's Atlantic Division winning starters returning. The veteran squad is led by seniors Adam Schepps, Danny Colligan, Will Wagner, Frank Agzarian and Will Wagner. Agzarian and Wagner, who were missed last year because of abroad study, will rejuvenate the team with their long-awaited return. The Hoyas also boast a plethora of young talent, notably their strong sophomore class. Ryan Nageotte anchors the defense at the goalie position. Last year's lead goal-scorer Chuck Treece aims to put even more goals in the back of the net this season. With this talent and the possible addition of other players, the 2006 season looks to be an exciting one for the Hoyas.

James Madison University

The Dukes are excited for another year of competition in the Atlantic Division. Led by seniors Hunter Dunlo, Jacob Thielen, Tanner Simenson and Robby Saady, the Dukes hope to improve upon their third place conference finish last season. James Madison has a solid returning team between veteran players Chip Severn, Kevin Zeiler and Craig Whitcher joining forces with players newer to the game like Mike Lightman, Jamie Kelly, Thant Thein, Matt Spencer and Jess Gibbs. The Dukes also boast a promising freshman class to round out the team and to help make them major contenders in the Atlantic Division.

Loyola College

Loyola College enters the 2006 season with high hopes for improvement as the team will aim to build upon the sturdy foundations developed in the 2005 season. The team will be led by goalie Tim Snow and Gibbs Burke, the squad's leading goal scorer and a first team all-league selection last year.

University of Maryland

In the wake of a fifth place finish in the Atlantic Division last season, the Terps will seek to move into the top tier of the division in 2006. Led by Glenn Boslego and Noah Abelson on offense and Sean Hart and Mike Kellerman on defense, Maryland will also look to Phil Wight, Dave McEnerney, Ari Halper-Stromberg, Nasos Papanikolaou and Clint Gill in its title quest.

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

The Carolina Tarheels are entering the 2006 season with high hopes of returning to the top of the Atlantic Conference. With returning All-America selection and Conference Player of the Year Adrian Cummins, and strong leadership from veterans Andy Young, Peter Enns, Kevin Herlihy, Russ Parmele and Chris Lam, the Heels have a solid core of players who have played together for multiple seasons. Several key additions have also been made to the team which expects to once again exhibit a tenacious defensive effort.

North Carolina State University

North Carolina State will look to carry its momentum and build upon a successful spring. After gaining experience last year, NCSU will try to take advantage of its team speed and improve on its transition offense and defense. The team feels like they are right on the verge of returning to the top of their conference and look to realize the goal this fall.

University of Richmond

After three consecutive rebuilding seasons, the 2006 Spiders are looking to regain their status as one of the top teams in the Atlantic Division. After losing one player to graduation, Richmond's co-captain Chris Vola will pace an experienced offense comprised of senior Dan Merrill at two-meter offense and junior utility men David Sylvia, Jay Mense, James Cartmell and Ryan Wentling. Sophomore two-meter defender Logan Finerty and driver Kevin Hylinski will also be major contributors. Co-captain Victor Fedorov will provide leadership and discipline during his second season as the team's starting goalie. The Spiders will also look to a talented freshman class led by Zac Dreyer to provide depth and an offensive spark off the bench.

University of Virginia

Virginia returns this fall with a new team and a new strategy. Initially, the team aims to recover from the graduation of several starters by rallying around returning fourth year stars Matt Deasey, Dan Demento and Jeff Barry. Additionally, the team will look to the guidance of last year's All-Conference second team veteran Alexander Hawkins, who will provide an important contribution to the two-meter position. Virginia will also rely on the experience of fourth year Chris Smith as well as third years Jamie Matthews, Carl Price and Russell Deppe. Second years Paul Kiehl, Isaac Wood and Tommy Schaperkotter will also add to the Cavalier's arsenal.

Virginia Polytechnic Institute & State University

The Hokies' 2006 season looks promising with many returning players and young talent as the team hopes to improve upon their fourth place finish in the Atlantic Championship last year.

Great Lakes Division

Albion College

Profile not available at time of printing

Ball State University

Ball State is still working towards finding a roster with water polo experience. The last two years have been the best seasons ever for the Cardinals, and this year will be another season with much improvement. Winning will be expected this season for the first time in the history of the program. Matt Hatoway has been a fantastic goalie and will join several other seniors in leading the team with experience the Cardinals have never seen before. Two strong freshmen, Jon Cozart and Kyle Mathias, should also explode with confidence this season. Also returning is team captain Daniel Miller, who was rewarded second team all-conference honors last year. Other returning starters include Meredith Dalenburg and Kenne Crocker who have continuously offered strong performances throughout their water polo careers.

University of Dayton

The Flyers enter the 2006 season with high hopes as Dayton lost one player to graduation and added several young and experienced players. The Flyers will look to capitalize on their new found depth and compete for the Great Lakes Division Championship.

Grand Valley State University

Grand Valley State will look to remain a top the mountain in 2006 as the defending national champions return most of their 2005 roster for another title run. Last year, the team knocked off Middlebury College (17-4 W), Yale University (8-7 W), UCLA (4-2 W) and Michigan State University (9-8 W) at the National Collegiate Club Championship hosted by Williams College for the program's first national championship title in water polo. The biggest loss that GVSU will have to overcome this year is the departure of senior Pat Lowman who provided the squad with scoring, defense and leadership last year. To fill the gap, the team will add four freshman among some other new additions as Grand Valley will be looking to repeat as National Champions.

University of Notre Dame

Despite the loss of five starters, the Irish look to have a strong team consisting of young talent. Many players will be asked to step up and fill some large gaps left by departing players. Captains Steve Shepard, Jon Kelly and Patrick Connors are confident they are up to the task and don't expect a major drop-off from last season.

Ohio University

Ohio University is looking to improve on last year's season after losing a strong senior class. This year the Bobcats feature two new coaches, Ian Fraser and Peter Zien, combined with an experienced senior class and a pair of returning All-Conference first team players. After last years second place finish in the Ohio Valley Conference Championships, the team will look to capture a new division as Ohio moved to the Great Lakes Division. Strong two meter play will come from Zien and All-America honorable mention selection Hart Williams. Fraser will take care of the defense at two meters while Greg Jones and Steve Leow control the outside. Off the bench, Beau Berkeley and Max Laird will be key for the Bobcats title hopes as both possesses an aggressive style of play and speed. Another factor will be the return and experience of 2004 All-Conference player Scott Anderson. The team is also excited about the developing play of their solid underclassman.

University of Toledo

The University of Toledo club water polo team enters the 2006 season after a strong third place finish in the Great Lakes Division last year. The Rockets will look to their lineup of returning veterans, including second team All-Conference winners Brandon Poddany and Andrew Hudak, to support the team.

Great Plains Division

Iowa State University

The 2006 season will be a rebuilding year for the Cyclones as Iowa State experienced a "perfect storm" year in which the team captured the Great Plains Division title and earned a trip to nationals. This year, the squad will have to fill several large holes in their lineup following the loss of several key players, including Drew Enlow and Jake Nickel. The Cyclones will fill these holes with Matt Burkhalter and Andrew Mountsier. Also, filling in will be new captain Jerome Trageser and long time member Kevin Maulding. Nate Kjolsing will be the Cyclones' strong presence on the left side. Other important returning members are seniors David Chipman and Nate Taucher, and juniors Emily Evers, Erica Ebensberger, Rachel Goldsmith and Andy Glowaski. Several new members will join the team this year, such as Addison Drake and Daniela Faas

University of Kansas

After a strong season last year, Kansas is coming back this year with more experience and strength. Team chemistry is very important to the Jayhawks and with so many returning players, Kansas is sure to be on the same page. The team will be seeing the return of star drivers Damon Smith, John Leach, Jeff Lessman, Ari Watman, Kevin Faster, Mike Schmidt and Kevin Morley. Returning from a year of studying abroad is JP Bornholdt. Zach Arndt returns as the offensive key, while Diane Basore and Andrew Meagher will be important on defense.

Marquette University

2006 will be Marquette's first season as a member of the CWPA and first full season as a club sport. Marquette participated in one tournament in the spring at the Mizzou Water Polo Tournament and finished second out of four teams, losing only to Missouri. All but one member of that team returns this year following the loss of two-meter Martin Hopkins, who hopes to rejoin the team as part of the coaching staff after graduating. Davor Mitrovic returns as one of Marquette's most dangerous players. Sporting a 6'10" wingspan, Mitrovic causes havoc on defense and is a threat from anywhere within half-pool on offense. Another key returning player is goalie Matt Vavrik who played outstanding at the Mizzou tourney and still has plenty of room for improvement. Kevin Vincent and Mike Leuchtmann, former high school teammates, have reunited to form a stifling defensive tandem. Crafty lefties Scott Fleming and Christine Leigh, as well as sharpshooters Kristina Pilolli, Pete Mohan and Steve Lanera provide plenty of balance to an offense that is still learning to play together. A strong defense and plenty of grit will characterize this young team as they hope for a successful first season.

University of Minnesota

With the entire starting lineup of the 2005 team returning, the Gophers look to be the strongest they have ever been. The commitment and dedication of the veteran players will prove successful this season as Minnesota looks to make its first trip to the National Championship. Offensively, the Gophers return Jake Wollensak as their leading scorer. He will be aided by the help of Ian Wagan and Chris Redman. On defense, Jeff Remakel and Dennis Bebie will continue to protect Bill Scheels in goal.

Minnesota State University, Mankato

Minnesota State University, Mankato will field a team of relative rookies to the sport of water polo this year as only Bram Olson has extensive experience in the sport. Olson, who was a member of the 2004 Great Plains Division champions at the University of South Dakota which advanced to the University of Notre Dame for nationals, will serve as a coach during the season. Following some exhibition games last year, the team will seek vast improvement in their water polo skills during the 2006 campaign, and more importantly, priceless experience playing the game.

Heartland Division

Carleton College

Profile not available at time of printing

Grinnell College

The Grinnell College Wild Turkeys will be starting 2006 with a young but experienced team following a 2005 season in which the team finished fourth in the Heartland Division. Captain Ali Titiz led the team last year in scoring and will be a significant factor in the upcoming season, while All-Conference goalie Brian Smith will anchor the defensive end.

Knox College

Knox has big shoes to fill this season with the departure of All-Conference player Hassan Massoud. Fortunately, the team intends to use sophomore Gary Novak and junior Lexie Kamerman, both top shooters, to improve on its third place finish in the Heartland Division last season. Sophomore goalies Nikiforos Tsaravopoulos and Sarah Williams will maintain the Knox defense, with Zac Skinner, Andrew Prendergast, Kim Kreiling and Elizabeth McPhail rounding out the starting line.

Macalester College

After claiming last season's Heartland Tournament crown, the Scots are hungry for a return trip to the national championships. The team will be led by National Player of the Year Elad Rachevsky who led Macalester in nearly every statistical category as he can put the ball in the net and is a solid defender. Senior David Wright and juniors Jared Rudolph and Ramiro Nandez also return for the Scots as the trio have a deft scoring touch. Murat Ilgen returns in goal for Macalester, while newcomer Seth McIntire should also be a contributor in the Scots quest for repeat titles.

St. John's University (Minnesota)

St. John's is coming of its second consecutive runner-up finish in the conference. Lead by seniors Peter Przekota, Joey Chapman and Nick Musech the Johnnies look to win the conference this year. Three other players to watch are Patrick Stanaway, Dan Williams and Dan Hansen.

Saint Mary's University (Minnesota)

SMU will look to improve upon last year's results as the squad expects to experience a breakout season and move up in the rankings in 2006.

Mid Atlantic Division

Bloomsburg University

The Huskies are looking to improve on last year's successes with six of the squad's seven starters returning. In addition, newcomer Nick McGuiness adds experience to a building program. The Huskies hope to finish above .500 and be competitive in every game this season.

Carnegie Mellon University

The 2006 season for Carnegie Mellon University should be an exciting year for rebuilding. The CMU Tartans squad will look for leadership and growth from its younger players as most of the starting line graduated last year. A key to the Tartans hopes will be sophomore goalie Alex Schlichting who possesses long arms to keep the opponents' scorers at bay. Seniors Sam Smith and Josh Godick, along with juniors Matt Eager, Mary Katica and Scott McCaffrey, will be threats as drivers. Sophomore Nik White will start the season in hole set, while graduate student Jonathan Hurst will continue to support the Tartans as the team's primary scorer.

University of Delaware

The University of Delaware comes into the 2006 season with great aspirations. The Blue Hens, in only their second year of existence, are looking forward to providing some tough competition in the already fierce Mid Atlantic Division. All of the pivotal UD players from last year are returning, as well as a strong group of new recruits. This year, Delaware will rely heavily on its one-two combination of Phil Bafundo and Fred Ludd at the two-meter position. Key senior players such as Sean Lyons, Andrew Malinak and Chris Stockwell are looking to put this young club on the map of the elite East Coast teams. Delaware seeks to shore up a somewhat suspect defense with a few key additions to the solid tandem of Rob Panas and Craig Eckbold. The younger players, such as sophomores Kim Gravatt, Rob Seraiva and junior goalie Matt Williams, are also eager to establish a winning tradition at Delaware.

Grove City College

Grove City continues a restructuring process after the loss of its varsity status two years ago. Prospects look good for the team this year with 15 returning/experienced players and eight newcomers. After qualifying for Division III Club Nationals last year and being unable to attend, the team is eager for another shot at nationals. The team will rely on the skills of returning goalie Jeremy Harbaugh and returning starters Jason Amos, Ben Burkley, Peter Larsen and Caleb Courage. Larsen's brother, Lincoln, will also be instrumental in the team's national title hopes.

Lehigh University

After the best finish in Lehigh Water Polo's short history, a majority of last year's talent returns to take another crack at capturing the Mid Atlantic crown. The Mountain Hawks will look to the leadership of experienced players like Eryn Gaul, John Kupstas, Alex Seipp and Nicole Woomer to guide the squad to the summit. Tom O'Donnell will take over as goalie, while Claude Kershner returns to arm Lehigh with an intimidating outside shot for a second season.

Millersville University

Millersville looks to rebound from a rough season a year ago. Captains Dave Boutin and Kevin Van Such are primed to lead this team to a successful season as the Marauders will depend on their experience to improve following a rebuilding year in 2005. Goalie Keith Sparano looks to hold down the defense in his second year in goal. Though Millersville lost two key players from last season to graduation, they expect the void to be filled as the Marauders expect their incoming freshmen to make an impact.

University of Pennsylvania

Penn looks to build on last year's second place finish with the addition of several new players and many returning players. The Quakers will be lead by senior co-captains Randy Gornitzky and Tommy Acchione. They will be joined by first team All-Conference player Ben Naecker and Zach Zwarenstein. The defense will be anchored by Zwarenstein and goalie Andy Jie. The Quakers hope that the combination of an experienced returning team and many skilled newcomers will help Penn return to nationals this season.

Pennsylvania State University

Penn State comes into the 2006 season looking to make another run at the National Tournament. The Nittany Lions return five starters from last year's team that won the Mid Atlantic division championship and finished 12th at Nationals. The returning starters from last year's team are both of the two-meter players, senior D-hole Robbie Thomas and junior O-hole Ben Radcliff, the leading scorer, senior Adam Filer and senior drivers Carter Hayes and Pat Boyle. However, most of Penn State's success will hinge on the play of sophomore goalie Chris Simcox, the only goalie on PSU's roster, who is looking to fill the shoes of 2005 Player of the Year Eddie Silverman. The Nittany Lions also have a large and talented group of freshmen and sophomores who will be expected to play valuable minutes for the team.

University of Pittsburgh

The 2006 season marks the first year the University of Pittsburgh's men's team will play in an official league. Boasting a combination of veterans and new players, Pitt is looking to test itself against a competitive field. Led by Jonathan Lustgarten, Frank Kopriva and Adam Nelson, with returning players such as Andrew Robinson and Sean Talbot, and newcomers like Nick Sciotti, Carl Crott and Andrew Keelan, the Pittsburgh Panthers should have an exciting season.

Slippery Rock University

Slippery Rock moves into the club division this year following a successful varsity season in which the team ranked among the top 20 teams in the nation. Four starters return from last year's squad which finished sixth at the Eastern Championships following a 9-8 overtime loss to Brown University. Seniors Arseni Grokhovski, Aaron Chapple, Ryan Holt and sophomore Sean Casella bring experience and veteran leadership to the Rock, while new recruits include Sean Tharpe, Mike Ingram and Miles Mangenis. Slippery Rock is looking forward to its first club season and aspires to remain among the top teams in the nation.

Villanova University

Villanova will be hard pressed to replace All-America selection Mike Gordon, who graduated last season. Gordon was the key to running the Wildcat offense and will be missed as a playmaker and scorer. Taking up the slack will be All-America pick Rob Mida, the team's primary offensive weapon at two-meters. Mida came into his own in 2005 and should pose a problem for most defenders one-on-one. Villanova's scoring should be fairly balanced from the field, with Kevin Comber, Sean McEleney, Jeff Cramp and Danny Perez expected to carry most of the load. Perez transferred from Florida International and possesses an excellent outside shot and driving ability. Comber is one of the fastest on the team and along with Tom Mazzafarro, the pair will form the mainstay of the team's counterattack speed. Two freshmen expected to have an immediate impact are Chris McKay and Brenton Green, both outstanding players in high school. Green will provide much needed depth at two-meters, while McKay may eventually fill the role left by Gordon's graduation. Regardless of the team's offensive abilities, their strength definitely lies in the goaltending of returning two-time All-America, Tom Hallett. Hallett's presence allows the Wildcat defense to take extraordinary chances that not only strengthen their defense, but help their scoring efforts as well. Look for Villanova to be one of the contenders in the division in 2006.

Widener University

Following a difficult 2005 season in which Widener University placed ninth in the Mid Atlantic Division, the Pioneers will look to make great strides in 2006 and contend for the title.

Missouri Valley Division

University of Illinois, Chicago

Profile not available at time of printing

Lindenwood University

Lindenwood University will again field both an "A" and "B" team this year as the team will look to make a run at the national title and gain valuable experience. On the "A" team, every starter but one returns as the team will be loaded with talent. Adding to the Lions' mix are Danilo Lazarevic, a graduate student who played three years at Salem International University, and sophomore Ben Soroferman, who transferred in from Slippery Rock University. The team will have a bevy of returning talent in All-America selection Pat McCreary and first team All-Conference goalie Larry Stream, as well as fellow first team All-Conference players Claudio Mermelstein and Darrell Phee.

Miami University (Ohio)

University of Missouri

The 2006 season marks the return of the Mizzou Tigers to the Collegiate Water Polo Association following an absence. Captain Andy Withington will guide the team this year, while senior Nick Eckelkamp is expected to anchor the team in goal. Senior Steve Hughes is anticipated to provide tenacious defense in conjunction with a powerful outside shot, while Martin Goebel, Charlie Maitz, Erick Wildgren, Mark Golden, Jon Tirjan, Shea Boyle, Pat Ruggeri, Matt Begeman, Erin O'Neill, Louis Brown, Spencer Phillips and Andrew Adams should also contribute.

2006

Collegiate Water Polo Association

Northern Illinois University

Northern Illinois is looking forward to competing in the growing Missouri Valley Division. Although much of the starting lineup returns this fall, Northern is hoping to utilize a bench that has been lacking over the past several years as the team hopes for a top half finish this year.

Saint Louis University

Saint Louis University is anxiously awaiting its first season in the CWPA. The team was founded in September of 2005 by several freshmen and was chartered by the SLU Student Government in January 2006. In their first year, SLU competed in several scrimmages, hosted their own invitational tournament and competed in the Mizzou Invitational Tournament. Returning from last year are Charlie Andrus, Alex Antal, Andrew Callahan, Tim Defosset, Brendan Harris, John Janowiak, Nick Leinauer, Lori Roskens and Colin Tyrrell. New this year are sophomore James McKee and freshman Tony Kruse

Washington University

With a number of young players on the roster, the Washington University Bears plan to have a great season. Seniors Tyler King and Alex Mueller are expected to provide outstanding leadership which will drive the team to nationals.

Western Illinois University

Profile not available at time of printing

New England Division

Amherst College

After a tough rebuilding season, the Amherst College Yo-Ho Penguins hope to build on the progress that they achieved last season. Senior co-captains John Ancona and Adam Kaplan lead a large squad of returning sophomores and juniors, who promise to add cohesiveness to what was a struggling offense. Despite graduating lead scorer Tommy Gonnella and defenseman Dan Savage, Amherst hopes to plug up the gaps in its lineup with returning sophomores John Neff and Edward Prevatt, as well as junior James Stanton, who returns after a year abroad. In addition, Amherst expects good things from perimeter shooters Andrew Maslan and Michael Waskom, as well as speed and intensity from sophomore Joseph Scala. Courtesy a revamped offense and constant effort on the defensive end, the Yo-Ho Penguins hope to make a dent in the New England rankings this fall.

University of Rhode Island

The University of Rhode Island comes into the 2006 season in a building mode as the Rams will attempt to establish themselves among the elite of the New England Division and gain a foot hold for the sport of water polo on campus.

Tufts University

Profile not available at time of printing

United States Coast Guard Academy

After a building and development year last season, the United States Coast Guard Academy appears to have a bright future in the Collegiate Water Polo Association. Led by captains Eric Vryheid and Ryan Caple, the 2006 season looks hopeful due to the amount of returning key players and a promising freshmen class. All-Conference second team player Jack Shadwick is joined by Colby Schlaht, Christian Berry, Doug Fallon, Bobby Brown, Nate Baladad, Ian Campbell and goalie Ashley Lerner as the driving force behind the team.

Wesleyan University

Wesleyan will look to capitalize on experience and depth in 2006 as the Cardinals will take flight with six senior starters, a strong junior core and an influx of youth in search of the program's fourth consecutive Division III club national title. Anchored on defense by senior goaltender Mike Molina and senior captain Matt Brownstein at two meter guard, the team will be led on offense by John Haley and Mike Pepi. The team's primary two meter man and leading goal scorer with 49 tallies, Haley will represent a focal point on offense, balanced out by junior captain Pepi as the team's premier driver. Senior Ben Byers, a NESCAC distance champion, and junior distance man Tom Lovett will provide fast break offense and energy. Seniors Matt Donne and Erich Klothen come off strong finishes in 2005 and will round out the offensive and defensive attack for the Cardinals. With a deeper and more varied schedule of competition leading up to the New England Division final and the Division III Championship, the Cardinals have the tools to put together a strong polo season and continue building on their recent success.

Williams College

Williams comes into the 2006 season energized from a strong finish at nationals last year. Despite the absence of core players, including offensive powerhouse Will Cunningham and accomplished goalie Zach Orjuela, the Ephmen will look towards veteran players and promising underclassmen to drive the team's success. Williams will rely on returning starters, including senior Brett Marinelli, juniors Michael Daub and Sebastian Sherentel, and sophomore David Lebowitz to provide the team with a solid foundation, especially at two-meter. Seniors Phil Arnolds, Ezra Burch, and Nick Gallucci should also make significant contributions. Juniors Jeremy Doernberger and Jeff Lyon, and sophomores Tyler Bonewell and Regi Periera should provide a solid defensive presence.

Yale University

The Yale Bulldogs return for the 2006 campaign on the heels of perhaps their strongest performance as a club team. After losing to the eventual national champions by an overtime goal, Yale has added talented freshmen to a group of experienced upper-classmen to make another run at the national title. Yale will look to senior co-captains Evan Smith and Bryce Kaufman as well as junior player-coach Paul Mittermiller to lead the Bulldogs in the water, while a team of alumni will provide direction and expertise from the deck. Smith and Mittermiller supply offensive firepower from the set and wing, while Kaufman and senior goalie T.D. Smith anchor the defense. With quick, smart and opportunistic play, the 2006 Bulldogs hope to defend and elevate their status among the country's elite teams.

New York Division

Binghamton University

Profile not available at time of printing

Colgate University

Coming off its second division championship in three years, the 2006 Raiders will have to deal with the loss of two of their top players from the previous year. That said, captains JJ Figueroa and Hill Stoecklein lead a team that is returning plenty of talent and will look to combine that old blood with a large group of incoming freshmen to produce another successful season in New York. Offensively, the Raiders will combine strong outside shooting from Figueroa and Stoecklein with a quick counter attack led by senior David Hill and sophomore Scott Dunlavey. Emphasis will be placed on strong defense led by Figueroa and two-time All-America selection Orion Ganase in the cage. After playing some of his best polo at the 2005 Division Championship and National Tournaments, and competing with the Trinidad National team over the summer, Ganase (who will also serve as team manager) should return ready to produce a dominant effort in his final season. The team will look to senior AJ Newman and juniors Mike Wooldridge and Matt Buttarazzi to step up with key contributions at both ends of the pool. Always ready for a challenge, Colgate is ready to work hard to achieve its goal of a second straight division championship.

Columbia University

Profile not available at time of printing

Cornell University

After finishing sixth in the New York Division last year, Cornell University is excited about its upcoming season with a strong class of returning sophomores and additions throughout the lineup.

New York University

The 2005 season was supposed to be a rebuilding year for the Bobcats after losing a number of veterans to graduation, but a strong crop of talented underclassmen helped NYU to a second place finish in the New York Division and a repeat second place finish at Division III Nationals. This year, returning all but two starters, NYU hopes to improve on last year's record and earn another shot at the national title. The Bobcats are led by All-Conference hole set Adam Miller, John Barnett, Brett Garrison, Dylan Lewis and goalie Adam Esparza.

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute will experience another growing year in the Collegiate Water Polo Association as the team continues to encourage membership and growth on campus in the sport of water polo.

University of Rochester

Rochester is looking to maintain its climb up the final rankings in the New York Division after finishing fourth in last season's play. The Yellowjackets return all of their starters, including division MVP Felix Santiago. UR's success this upcoming season will be centered around the squad's team defense led by the two meter play of Aaron Dewitt. Adam Williamson is continuing to become a formidable presence in goal, while speedy sophomore Mike Hoffman will take on a stronger role in the offense after refining his game this off-season. The team hopes to supplement their starting core with some new players who will aid in returning UR to the New York Division championship game.

SUNY Geneseo

Geneseo is returning a large number of last year's players and several new faces will be seen this season. Seniors Calum Russell and Chris Gaffney will provide leadership and guidance during the season while controlling the tempo of the game. Junior Mike Baker will be returning to help fill in the gaps on the offensive side of the ball and cement the defense. Geneseo hopes to have a faster game pace due to the swimming prowess of Tim Picciott and Sig Culhan. Brad Cedolin looks to return from an arm injury which kept him out of most of the 2005 season. Rob Mammano, Ryan Busha and Nick Watson will see a considerable increase in playing time this year as they continue to grow as players. Kunal Lakhlan adds an element of physicality to Geneseo's squad with the strength of his play and powerful shooting.

2006

Syracuse University

The Syracuse Orange enter their second year of CWPA competition and are looking to build upon the experience they gained in their inaugural season. The foundation for the Syracuse offense remains intact as it returns its top two scorers in junior Sam Ricketts and sophomore Paul Dawson. Second year players Carl Murray and Eric Hammil will also make major contributions on the offensive end. Drew McMurray returns to play goalie for the Orange and is the team's top defensive asset. In the field, Kevin Loester and Jerry Sherwin will be counted on to play tight defense and limit opponent goals. Many incoming freshmen will join the team and could see significant playing time immediately.

United States Military Academy

The Army team is looking forward to a great year with a strong group of seniors and a deep bench of underclassmen. Finishing third in the New York Division last year, Army hopes to return to Nationals for the first time in four years. Led by captains Mark Hogan and Ted Boeddiker, Army looks equally strong offensively and defensively entering the 2006 season.

North Atlantic Division

Bates College

Profile not available at time of printing

Boston College

Profile not available at time of printing

Bowdoin College

Bowdoin looks to improve on its middle of the pack finish from last season as the team hopes to take advantage of its strong swimming and shooters.

Colby College

Colby College enters the 2006 season poised to improve upon the success of the past two years. After two consecutive third place finishes, the White Mules will once again be a title contender. Defense will continue to be the focus of the most experienced squad Colby has seen in years. Led by the abilities of goalie Kit Clark and hole defender Andrew Peterson, Colby will look to wear down its opponents on the defensive end. The offense will be anchored by hole set Sam Wampler and outside sniper Jabez Dewey. Ryan Adams, Travis Townsend, Zac Bloom and

Michael Finnerty will see ample playing time and should make some strong contributions to the team.

Dartmouth College

Dartmouth enters the 2006 season with high expectations after having finished the 2005 campaign in a disappointing second place in the North Atlantic Division. The team will return six of seven starters this year, losing only Kemper Diehl. Returning for another year is Pierce Perotti, who made the switch from goalie to two-meter set last season with the arrival of Kyle Finnegan, who will continue to man the cage for the Big Green. Brothers Dan and Mike Bazylweicz will continue to anchor a speedy Dartmouth team, providing excellent defense and goal output. Porter Diehl will continue his work as two-meter defense, and Tom Healy will add a strong outside shot. There are a number of players in contention for the final starting spot this season, including Captains Chris Knape, Neil Willis and Shane Foster, as well as returning players Taylor Holt and Andrew Ballentine. Dartmouth hopes that its small but talented freshmen class will be able to positively contribute by the end of the season.

Middlebury College

Middlebury College looks to continue its tradition of excellence coming off of two league victories and two appearances at Club Nationals. Coach Brian Goodwin brings a wealth of national team-level experience and will continue to employ a host of retired foreign players to show the team how to compete at the international level. Seniors Peter Sung, Andrew Edelstein and Dekker Deacon will bring much needed leadership and experience to the young squad. Juniors Andrew Herzik, a former league Player of the Year, and Toshi Kido look to improve upon already stellar performances last year with the help of a rigorous summer conditioning program. A slew of returning sophomores are highlighted by Zach Wood and Derek Schlickeisen, while the arrival of several incoming freshmen could help Middlebury to defend its league title and improve its standings at Nationals.

Northeastern University

The Huskies of Northeastern University enter their first season as members of the Collegiate Water Polo Association with the intent of competing with and ranking among the best teams in the North Atlantic Division.

University of Vermont

The Vermont squad looks forward to another great season as the team has increased its win total every year since joining the league. Vermont enters the season with another strong team led by North Atlantic Division first team selection Ian Sotzing, who led the team in steals and blocks and finished second in goals last year. Dan Harrington led the team in scoring last year with 22 goals as a freshman. Look for senior Eric Brandom to be on the scoring attack along the perimeter as he should keep goalies on their toes with his shots from outside seven meters. Inside two meters, Greg Murphy should star for the Catamounts. A key for Vermont's title hopes in 2006 will be the squad's defense. Senior Denny Madigan should continue to create breakaways and lead the counterattacks down the pool as last year he led the team with three breakaway goals, including two fourth quarter buzzer beater shots. With the addition of former swimmer Brad Smith, Vermont should be faster up and down the pool. Sophomores Sandy Mervak, Joe Hardie, Will Bowen and juniors Nik Muenke and Callie Burgess will all see plenty of pool time and give the Catamounts a competitive edge.

Northwest Division

Central Washington University

Profile not available at time of printing

University of Oregon

The Ducks return this fall with even more depth than last year's squad. Senior Jon Ashford leads the team in his final season at Oregon with his aggressive offense and his hunger to improve on the team's eighth place national ranking. Juniors Pete Cromelin, Tom Leach, Sam Schrager and Matt Sillaman are notorious in the Pacific Northwest for their offensive prowess and animal-like characteristics. Sophomores Trapper Felt and Nate Lindquist return after successful rookie seasons with plans to contribute on both ends of the pool. The team has added firepower with transfers Nate Jessop and Andrew Del Carlo to give the Ducks even more potential on their flight to the top.

Oregon State University

Coming into the 2006 season, the Beavers have their goals set high as returning stars Erik Rottman, Zeno Helm, Russel Rosenberg and Jon Gabriel look to take this year's team all the way to Nationals. The 2005 season focus was to acquire new players, a mission accomplished by recruiting a full squad of freshmen and sophomores. The future looks bright for the Beavers as a mere handful of players will be leaving at the end of the 2006 season leaving a strong team for years to come.

University of Portland

The men's Pilot team returns for a strong conference season with a full team of returning players. The team will be lead by captain Robert White with leading scorers Jake Luty and Terry Thompson returning as well. Other returning players include Brett Turner and Tim Newby who will add to the depth of the team. Also new players, such as Trevor Brownd and James Boyer, will be needed as the program grows. The goalie position will be filled by sophomore Aaron Moretti.

University of Washington

The University of Washington continues to look strong coming into the 2006 CWPA season following a 2005 campaign which found the Huskies back in the Northwest Division title game for the first time in several years. After falling to the University of Oregon 11-9, the Huskies finished second in the division just ahead of Oregon State. Graduated seniors Brad Dillman (All-Northwest Division first team) and Grame Satterwhite have left large holes to fill, but it is up to the returning and rookie players to determine how far they can go in 2006.

Washington State University

Following a season in which the team finished seventh in the Northwest Division standings, Washington State University will turn to goalie Tristan Groot, hole set Ty Cook and Pat Bauer to guide the team. Key additions to the roster include Matt Van Gunda and Dan Larson as the team looks forward to a year of improvement while breaking in several new players.

Western Washington University

This will be a year of growth and change for Western Washington University. The Vikings lost senior Devin Trowbridge, but sophomore Miles Gilmore will be stepping into his shoes as a team leader with the help of veteran Scott Newell.

Pacific Coast Division

California Polytechnic State University

The Mustangs will look to take the Pacific Coast Division title this year following a runner-up finish in 2005. Cal Poly graduated only a few players, and young talent has already filled the holes left by commencement. The team will be lead by returning starters Daniel Harris, Ryan Smillie, Josh Mix and Bobby Erzen, and a deep bench will compliment their potent offense. The freshmen class should strengthen the roster, especially Aaron Shilling. Cal Poly will boast strong two meter defense from Daniel Harris and Aaron Shilling, and on the other end of the pool look for a solid two meter set from Trent Kloppenburg. In the goal, second year veteran Mark Horner takes the helm backed by freshmen Casey Ryan and Kevin Gericke.

California State University, Chico

Chico is looking at a squad that is mostly unchanged from the previous year as the majority of the players from the 2005 season return for another campaign. There is only room for improvement with this club and the squad is optimistic about having a good season.

California State University, Fresno

The Bulldogs should field a strong roster this year as the team's strengths include Drew Clute, Ryan Olfert, Sean Smith, Gabe Calderon and Julio Alvarez. Defending the goal are returning goalies Jacob Ray and Garrett Morgan. Fresno State will also welcome a slew of competitive newcomers to the Bulldogs' squad to help improve the team's depth.

University of California, Davis

The UC Davis men's team looks to improve on its third place finish in last year's Pacific Coast Division and win the division this year. Davis has a strong group of returning players, and with the addition of a few freshmen and walk-ons, will look to make its first trip to Nationals. The UC Davis men's team is always open to host games and travel to tournament and games. If you are interested in playing us, please contact Coach Adam Donovan for details.

University of California, Los Angeles

Hoping to carry over the momentum from its fourth place finish at Nationals, UCLA comes into 2006 with focus and determination. Despite the loss of all three team captains, including Pacific Coast Division Player of the Year Brian Singleton, the team expects to hit the ground running with the addition of some promising new players. Under the leadership of Pacific Coast Division Coach of the Year Sam Bakhshandehpour, the team feels confident that it will continue to elevate its level of play. Notable returning players include 2005 first team members Andy Akers and Chris Sherman, as well as second team members Mike Stevenson and Travis Alexander. After receiving their first taste of national level competition, the Bruins are hungry for another division championship.

University of California, San Diego

The Tritons come into the 2006 season returning almost all of their starters from the previous season. In 2005, the Tritons took fourth in the Pacific Coast Division after a heart breaking second game loss to UCLA in the Division Championship tournament at Cal Poly. The Tritons are looking to have a break out year this season in the program's fifth year with the help of returning veterans and some promising freshman recruits..

Saint Mary's College

The Gaels will enter the 2006 season looking for continued growth. Following the graduation of All-America John Leary in 2005, the team returns only two seniors, Blake Wheatley and Shane Keane, to the squad. Younger leaders will often be called upon to step up in all areas of the game.

San Jose State University

The San Jose State men's water polo team has grown significantly over the last several years as the Spartans, who had problems with numbers last season, are looking forward to a winning season with over 16 freshmen and a transfer student. Juniors John Wagner and Michael Walters return as captains of the squad as well as two of the team's offensive threats. There will be an influx of new talent in goal as Daniel Gavens, a freshman from San Jose, will split halves with veteran netminder Jonathan Anderson. The Spartans, who will be coached by Lou Tully and Johnny Bega, could be dangerous on counter attack this year as the team possesses speed and agility in Aaron Lefevre, Michael Walters and Marshall Pilkington. As for two-meter, Matt McElroy and Wagner will control the offense in the absence of senior Jojo Martinez.

University of Southern California

USC is coming back strong after a tough year. With a talented incoming squad and the return of several stars, the Trojans hope to improve their odds and remain competitive as they have in the past. Spirits are high and many believe that this may be a championship season.

Southeast Division

Auburn University

The Tigers will look to roar in 2006 as Auburn returns a veteran lineup to the pool. Leading the team this year is fifth year senior Steve Winn, who will provide tough two-meter defense. On offense, Mike Thompson will provide offensive support at two-meters, while Jimmy Hanson, Jeff Kissel and John Holcomb remain on the perimeter for strong drives and outside shots. New to water polo, Danny Gutierrez brings speed to Auburn's lineup. Chase Foster and Craig Millar will look to improve their skills and add more depth to the team.

University of Central Florida

The men's water polo club at the University of Central Florida is coming off of a rebuilding season and is looking forward to having a great season with over 20 freshmen on the team.

Clemson University

Clemson will experience another season of growth this year as the team has a large number of athletes that lack enough experience to be a national championship contender. Fortunately, the team continues to improve as the squad grows in numbers. Among the strengths of Clemson this year will be the team's speed, as the roster contains several ex-varsity swimmers. The most valuable returning player is sophomore Ryan Mitrovich, who scored at least one goal in every game he played last season. The loss of a several seniors, including Tristan Cunio, who also scored at least one goal per game last year, was a hard hit on the team which will turn to its growing talent and new members to fill the holes.

University of Florida

Plagued by disappointment in the SEC tournaments the past two seasons, the Gators looked to rebound and bring the championship back to Gainesville. With veteran leadership in and out of the water, a new fire has been sparked in the UF players and coaches.

Florida International University

FIU is coming back with a strong team for its third season. Starters Chris Arias, Alex Martinez, Alex Mendoza and Damien Martinez return for the squad which will be bolstered by six incoming freshman. Included in the list of newcomers are Andy Alvarez, Danny Martinez, Chase Vaughan and Theo Jenetopolous.

University of Georgia

The 2006 season marks the University of Georgia's first as part of the Collegiate Water Polo Association. UGA has six players returning from the previous season. The offense will rely heavily on senior Dimi Matouchev, and juniors John Weatherford and Matt Mullen to score. On defense, the Bulldogs have a refreshed look with sophomore JR McMilan taking the two meter position and senior Will Hamby-Hopkins guarding UGA's goal. The team also has six new players joining the squad in addition to a new head coach, Ed Opalach.

Georgia Institute of Technology

After placing second in the Southeast Regional last year, Georgia Tech returns with four veteran starters and several young players who will look to take the program to the next level. Due to the loss of several experienced players, the squad will turn to All-America Honorable Mention Logan McLeod and graduate student Keith Suda-Cederquist.

Other players to watch include senior goalie Jordan Hill and junior Steve Kuehnle. Brian Twynham and Kasi David are expected to experience breakout seasons to help fill the gaps in the lineup.

University of Tennessee

Team captain Dan Wallace will look to the incoming freshmen for help off the bench as the Volunteers lost several key seniors. The Vols will also turn to returning starters Jonas Fridrichsen, Liz Scheffke, Andrew Piasecke and Seth Frank to fill void left by those players not returning for the 2006 campaign. Franklin Curtis appears stronger in cage than he has been in the past two years. Overall the Vols look for an exciting season while rebuilding and making strides towards the future of polo in Knoxville.

University of Arizona

Arizona comes into the 2006 season looking for that first, elusive National Championship after finishing in the top three in the country the last two seasons. They are setting their sights on a fifth straight Southwest Conference title. The Wildcats will be led by Player of the Year award winner Eric Qualls, while Arizona will also enjoy the benefits of key returning players and a superior class of freshman losing only two players from last year's squad.

Arizona State University

Arizona State University will be entering the club division for the first time in the program's history with a mixture of beginners and experienced players. The Sun Devils will look to start strong and climb through the Collegiate Water Polo Association ranks as the season progresses.

University of Colorado

The University of Colorado returns to the pool with promise and a sense of urgency after finishing third in the Southwest Division. After losing four seniors in 2005, the team has restructured around its sophomore class. Lead by seniors Michael Voelkel, Justin Buller and Mitch Cole, the Buffs will look to move up and contend for the championship.

Colorado School of Mines

The Colorado School of Mines looks to continue its building process in 2006 after a solid season last year. Although the team returns only one starter, a large recruiting class, combined with some growing experience will help Mines to remain competitive in the Southwest Division this year.

Colorado State University

Colorado State University will enter the 2006 season hoping to build on a strong showing from last year as the team finished fifth in the Southwest Division. The team lost seniors Per Wigand, Conner Hanan and Australian exchange student Eli White, but welcomes pre-season varsity recruit Chris Whaley from Illinois and two varsity players from the regional Colorado high school club team. CSU also looks forward to the return of its eight outstanding freshmen from 2005, including All-America and leading scorer Matt Atkinson. Ryan Sand and Thomas Roth will also be able to showcase their talents, as both were out for the 2005 season. Additionally, the team is led by new captains Rollin Hills and Steve McVicker who will guide a Colorado State squad which hopes to challenge the University of Colorado and University of New Mexico for preeminence in the division.

University of New Mexico

New Mexico comes into 2006 on the heels of a disappointing fifth place finish in the Southwest Division and the loss of star Lance Sjolholm. The team returns most of the starters from last season and will look to play better against archrival Colorado University.

Northern Arizona University

For the first time in six years, Northern Arizona University will field a men's team in the Collegiate Water Polo Association. The team has played at tournaments that were not affiliated with the CWPA. The team will rely heavily on its three returning players from California in the persons of Dustin Hillard, Adam Glickstein and Mikey Fonseca. Further, hole set Fred Dammeyer also returns to the squad as NAU will look to rebuild during the season.

University of Utah

Utah comes into the 2006 season under new leadership and a new direction. Following a #17 ranking and a heartbreaking loss to the University of Arizona last season, a new drive towards the Southwest Conference Championship has caused a few changes for the Utes. However, with the changes come some major losses. Clint Stevenson, an All-Conference player, will be leaving the team this year. However, under the direction of new coach Mike Goldhardt and captains Jared Huff and Justin Crump, the team will focus on defense. Huff will be the lead man in two meters, and a few additions to the team will help in both defense and scoring this year as Utah will look to capture the Southwest title.

Utah State University

Utah State is returning some strong players from last season who are looking forward to making their presence felt in the Southwest Division. On defense returning goalie Corey Holmgren and D-Hole Danny Esplin look to shutdown opponents and keep scoring to a minimum. The offense will be led by O-Hole Paul Wilson along with strong outside forces Chaitanya Gharpure, Jeff Lake and Ben Wilson. Utah State always picks up new players each year and we are excited for the potential that they bring. The club is looking forward to a strong season and some good water polo.

University of Wyoming

Texas Division

University of Houston

In their fourth season in the CWPA, Houston has shown steady improvement. The team will seek to continue the trend this year with some fresh talent and a renewed work ethic among its veteran players.

Rice University

The Rice Owls enter the 2006 season with an experienced group of returning starters hungry for success after a strong finish in 2005. Highlights from the 2005 season include a third place finish at the Texas Division Championships and five All-Conference team selections as David Lynch, Dean Burke, Chris Ottolino, Nick Hambley and Luke Gilman were recognized by the CWPA. Seniors Chris Ottolino, David Lynch and Jeremy Evans will lead the Owl's 2006 campaign, while the team will also rely heavily on the strong play of juniors Andrew Helvenston, Nick Hambley, Nick Berndsen and Dean Burke. The Owls have spent the off-season sharpening their talons and are eagerly anticipating the chance to spread their wings and swoop in to capture the Texas Division title.

Texas A&M University

After finishing second in the Texas Conference to the University of Texas the past three years, Texas A&M is looking to bounce back this year. This will be challenging with the graduation of star player Rudy Thomas, however, with six starters returning and the addition of Ryan Fogle, Texas A&M looks very strong. Leading scorers Brian Carey, Matt Davis, and Bobby Aertker will be leading the team with Corey St. Lawrence returning for his senior year as one of the best goalies in the conference. Look for Andrew Cihonski and Kyle Mendez to step up and play extremely large roles in A&M's run this year.

University of Texas

Texas had a strong finish last year winning its third straight divisional title and finishing the year sixth in the club poll.

The team is returning all seven starters and will be led by captains and All-Conference selections Mitch Halquist and Tom Andrew. Conference MVP Charlie Wood, the teams leading scorer, will be making his presence felt on offense again this year. The team's offense will also come from drivers Nate Drummond, Jeff Moltenberry, Matt Tanner and set Steven Kosler. All-America goalkeeper Jon D'Andrea and All-Conference guard Mike Hoffman will anchor the defense once again.

Texas State University

Texas State has consistently grown since the team's inception in 2004 and will take the next step to build a competitive team roster. Leading the way will be Francisco Fano and string of role players who will anchor an aggressive offense. In goal, Aric Wittaker will be an imposing presence.

Trinity University

Trinity enters the 2006 season hungry to move up in the national standings after taking fourth place at the 2005 Division III Club Nationals in Rochester, New York. Injuries and the loss of several underclassmen have left the team with an experienced core and a promising recruiting class which will look to break into the top three this year. The strengths of the team will be a stout defense and impressive shot blocking, as well as a calculated offense from a quick and versatile group of scorers.

PoloBase

Water Polo Event Manager

PoloBase is the only fully-integrated scoring system for water polo for use by high school, collegiate, open, and club teams. With PoloBase, one person can run the entire scoring table with ease. PoloBase includes:

- One-button game and shot clock management
  - Game score sheet and box score reports
    - On-demand reports, including team and athlete stats
    - Scoreboard display manager

Designed by a USWP “A”-rated referee with more than 30 years experience in software development, PoloBase is available in a Base edition, an entry-level Club edition, and a FINA-compliant International edition.

PoloBase is an Official Supplier of the CWPA.

PoloBase meets all requirements of USWP, NFHS, NCAA, and CWPA.

PoloBase was used at the:

- 2001 National Junior Olympics in Ann Arbor, MI
- 2004 Men's National Collegiate Club Championships at Notre Dame University
- 2005 NCAA Women's National Championships at the University of Michigan

“PoloBase software is incredibly simple to use, and it permits teams to manage the desk with fewer people. This will make it much easier for teams to organize and run events, knowing they need less staff.”

— Dan Sharadin
Commissioner, CWPA

“PoloBase software significantly reduces the chance of table errors. This allows our officials to focus more on the flow of the game and creates a better playing environment for the athletes, the coaches, and even the fans.”

— Tom Tracey
Director of Officials, CWPA

“I ran PoloBase at the Junior Olympics and the Michigan Boys and Girls High School State Championship tournaments. Workers actually have fun using PoloBase!”

— David Stover
Ann Arbor Pioneer High School
