

UNDERSTANDING THE GAME OF WATER POLO

Water Polo can be a confusing game for spectators. The whistle is constantly blowing and the play never stops, even when someone is ejected for a penalty. In addition, there are many misconceptions about the game, including how the players keep their horses swimming. Well hang in there, because the following information should help to make the picture much clearer.

General Information

1. Each team has six field players and a goalie.
2. Field players can only use one hand to touch the ball, goalies two.
3. Games consist of 7-minute quarters for club divisions, 8-minute quarters for varsity divisions.
4. The object of the game is to score by placing the ball completely in the goal. Players may move the ball by swimming or passing.
5. Teams may substitute after a goal is scored, during a time-out or during the play from the ejection area.
6. Each team receives three time-outs and one 20-second time-out per game.
7. Shots blocked out of bounds by defensive players result in the defensive team receiving possession. If a defender uses two hands to block a shot, the offensive team receives a penalty shot.

Fouls

When an infraction of the rules occurs, the referee will point in the direction of the team taking possession, while blowing his whistle. The ball is put back into play with an action called a free throw. This means the player gets three seconds of free time to throw the ball to another teammate or swim it up the pool. A player cannot shoot his free throw unless outside the five-meter line. If the ball is not put into play within three seconds, the other team takes possession.

Fouls can be ordinary or major. Ordinary fouls are best understood as minor fouls. For example, a defender may reach over an opponent's back to get at the ball while facing away from the goal. The penalty for an ordinary foul is a free throw for the opposing team.

Major fouls are more severe and are penalized accordingly. For example, when a defender fouls an opponent too aggressively, or from behind when the opponent is facing the goal, the defender is ejected for 20 seconds (players may reenter the game if their team recovers the ball before the ejection time is up, or if the opposing team scores). When the foul occurs within five meters of the goal and the referee believes the player had a high chance of scoring, the opposition shoots a penalty shot. Major fouls can also occur through disrespect to the referee or when a player interferes with an opponent's free throw. Players may only receive three major fouls before elimination.

If all of this has you totally confused, just sit back and enjoy the game. The easiest way to follow the play is by watching the scoreboard. If your team is ahead at the end, great! If not, well consider that you have expanded your horizons. When the game is over, you can at least explain to your friends that the horses never get wet.

CWPA Sportsmanship Statement

The CWPA and the NCAA promote good sportsmanship by student-athletes, coaches and spectators. We request your cooperation by supporting the participants and officials in a positive manner. Profanity, racial or sexist comments, or other intimidating actions directed at the officials, student-athletes, coaches, event personnel or team representatives will not be tolerated and are grounds for removal from the site of competition. Also, consumption or possession of alcoholic beverages and tobacco products is prohibited.

Affiliate Organizations

There are many organizations affiliated with the sport of water polo and the landscape can be somewhat confusing when trying to sort out which entity offers what services. To make matters a little easier to understand, the organizations can be divided into two basic groups: scholastic and non scholastic. The scholastic organizations are those that have some affiliation with the educational system. These include college, high school, junior college and middle school teams, as well as their respective administrative bodies that offer competitive leagues and support. In this category you would find state sanctioning organizations, the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) and all the collegiate conferences recognized by the NCAA or NAIA. Each individual organization operates independently with its own governing structure.

The NCAA and the NAIA are two organizations that serve a unique position. They each provide a supervisory role for their member schools. The colleges and universities that are members of each respective organization choose to establish and follow a set of guidelines that govern competition. Specifically, these guidelines include eligibility, academic progress for their student-athletes, competitive rules, championship guidelines, recruiting, and financial aid.

Schools that become members of one of these organizations agree to abide by the rules and principles established within the organization. The NCAA and NAIA only provide oversight for the varsity teams on campus, not the collegiate clubs.

In addition to the NCAA and NAIA there are conferences that operate for the purpose of arranging competition for their member institutions. Some conferences like the Big East or Atlantic Coast Conference handle several sports, while others like the CWPA handle a single sport. With respect to water polo, all collegiate clubs that play competitively are members of the CWPA. To understand the difference between the league and the NCAA or NAIA, think of the conference on a smaller scale performing similar functions for its member institutions. The conference works with the NCAA and NAIA to help provide competitive opportunities and services, yet still remains an independent organization with its own governing system and budget.

Non-scholastic organizations include all other entities that provide the opportunity for people to be involved in the sport outside of an educational institution. These include YMCA's, Boys & Girls Clubs, parks & recreation programs, privately organized clubs, township/city programs, and independent organizations like American Water Polo. United States Water Polo fits under this category as well, serving as the National Governing Body for the sport. They are also responsible for supporting and training Olympic teams for men and women.

For more information about any specific organization, contact the CWPA office at 610-277-6787.

History of the CWPA

The Collegiate Water Polo Association originally began as the Mid Atlantic Conference, founded by Dick Russell (Bucknell University swimming & water polo coach) in the 1970's. Its founding membership included teams from Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

The management and oversight of the organization relied on volunteer coaches until 1990, when a commissioner was hired to perform basic scheduling for the 15-member teams in the league. Officiating assignments were performed at the time by an independent organization called the Eastern Water Polo Referees Association (EWPPA).

The next major milestone occurred in 1993, when the Southern and New England Conferences merged into the Mid Atlantic. The new structure combined all of the varsity teams in the East, along with the few sport clubs in existence at that time.

During the 1995 season, the conference received its first major challenge, as the organization experienced a strike by its officiating core. This strike ultimately resulted in the organization establishing its own officiating bureau, assuming responsibility for all of its officiating assignments. The conference hired Tere Ma as its inaugural Director of Officials and Loren Bertocci as its first Technical Director. These two individuals laid the groundwork for the Officiating Bureau that exists today.

Few changes were made to this structure until 2006, when the conference established a Technical Committee, comprised of former coaches and non-active CWPA officials for the purpose of education and development. One of these members, Ed Reed, initiated the CWPA's first online education program in 2007 for referees using video clips.

Over the years, the Association has undergone dramatic changes:

1970's	The Mid Atlantic Conference is founded by Dick Russell.
1990	The conference hires a commissioner to manage the league administration.
1993	The New England and Southern Conferences merge into the Mid Atlantic. The conference changes its name to the Eastern Water Polo Association. Thirty-nine club and varsity teams participate in the new structure.
1994	The Association adds women's teams to its membership. Total membership equals 55 teams.
1995	The conference ends its relationship with the Eastern Water Polo Referees Association and establishes its own officiating bureau. Tere Ma hired as the inaugural Director of Officials and Loren Bertocci hired as the first Technical Director. Men's Midwest division is added. Club championships are separated by division. Membership increases to 82 teams.
1996	Women's Midwest Division is added. Men's Southwest Division is added. Men's New York Division separates into regions to accommodate growth. Eastern Water Polo Association changes its name to Collegiate Water Polo Association to reflect the geographic representation of its membership. Membership rises to 95 teams.
1997	Women's Southwest Division is added. Women's Northern Division splits into New York and New England Divisions. Great Lakes Division is added. Men's New England Division splits to North Atlantic and New England Divisions. Membership reaches 110 teams.

COMPETITIVE FORMAT

The Collegiate Water Polo Association is divided into two classes, varsity and sport club. Each class of membership is then divided into divisions based on geography.

Varsity Class

The top four teams from each division championship move on to the Eastern Championship. The first place team at the Eastern Championship receives the CWPA's automatic berth and qualifies for the NCAA National Championship.

Northern Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule within the division to determine regular season rankings. All teams attend the division championship, with the seeding determined by the won/loss records during the season.

Southern Division

Teams play a double round robin schedule within their respective regions (east or west) to determine seeding for the all-inclusive division championship.

Sport Club Class

Teams are divided into divisions, based on geography. The top team from each division championship qualifies for either the National Collegiate Club Championship or the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship.

Atlantic Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule within their region and then a crossover event where they compete against four of the teams from the opposite region. The four opponents in this instance are selected at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Big Ten Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Florida Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Great Lakes Division

Teams play four opponents drawn at random during the first weekend to seed for the championship. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Great Plains Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Heartland Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Mid-Atlantic Division

The western region teams play a double round robin format within their region. The eastern region teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random within their region. All teams attend the championship tournament, which is separated into two groups with the top seven teams from the regular season playing in one group and the remaining six teams in a second group. Seeding at the championship alternates between the regions, with the first seed awarded to the region that won the prior season's championship.

Missouri Valley Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

New England Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

New York Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule during the regular season. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

North Atlantic Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Northwest Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Pacific Coast Division

Teams are divided into two regions. The southern region teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. The northern region teams play eight of the nine opponents within the region. All teams within each region attend their respective regional championship, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records. Following the regional championship, the top four teams from each region will advance to the division championship. Seeding for the championship alternates between regions with the region that won the prior year's championship receiving the first seed.

Rocky Mountain Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Southeast Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Southwest Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Texas Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule over two weekends with additional seeding games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Tie Breaker System - All Situations

If at any time two teams are tied in record or in goal differentials as you walk through the tie breaker system below, the result of their head-to-head competition breaks the tie.

Tie Breaker System - Two Teams

If the teams each beat one another, the goal differential in their games is used to break the tie. If the goal differential in their contests against one another is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, the differential for all common opponents seeded higher is used. If no common opponents are seeded higher, the goal differential against the highest seeded common opponent is used.

Tie Breaker System - Three or More Teams (for seeding championships)

If more than two teams are tied in won/loss records, goal differentials among the teams tied serves as the tiebreaker. If two teams are tied in goal differentials, head-to-head competition breaks the tie. If the goal differential in their contests against one another for all teams is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, the goal differential between common opponents seeded higher will be used to determine ranking. This may require averaging the goal differential per game if the number of games between common opponents is unequal. Should teams be tied in won/loss record and they have not played each other, goal differentials against common opponents that are seeded above them are used. If no common opponents are seeded higher, the goal differential against the highest seeded common opponent is used.

(for advancement w/in championships)

If more than two teams are tied in won/loss records, goal differentials among the teams tied serves as the tiebreaker. If the goal differential in their contests against one another is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, their original seeding will serve as the tiebreaker. If the totals are tied at any time between two of the three teams, the tie is broken by their head-to-head result.

Goal Differential

Goal differential is a term used to describe the difference between goals scored against an opponent and the number of goals scored by an opponent against a particular team.

CWPA VARSITY TEAM PROFILES

NORTHERN DIVISION

Brown University

The Brown University men's water polo team rebuilds this season after losing four of its top five scorers from the 2008 campaign. Leading Brown defensively is senior Kent Holland, who will be counted on once again to be stellar in between the pipes. Last season, Holland posted an 18-11 record and tallied 196 saves. Senior Zach Levko and juniors Corey Schwartz, second team All-North Second Team selection Gordon Hood and Brandon Yoshimura are expected to set the tone offensively, while sophomores Marcus Gartner and CWPA Northern Division Rookie of the Year Toby Espinosa add some punch on both ends. Schwartz netted 33 goals, handed out 12 assists and recorded 15 steals in 2008, while Levko posted 12 goals, 14 assists and 12 steals. Rookie Dean Serure and Svetozar Stefanovic man the center position cleared out by Mike Gartner. Third-year head coach Felix Mercado expects freshmen Mike Hartwick and Cyrus Modejhi to contribute on the defensive end of the field, while freshman Ryan Gladych adds some outside shooting.

Connecticut College

The new season brings a resurgence for the Camels of Connecticut College as the team will seek to improve on a fourth place finish at the Division III Eastern Championship and an eighth place mark in the final Northern Division standings. Following the loss of Division III Eastern All-Tournament selection Nick Llewellyn, who contributed 35 goals to the Camels' cause in 2008, Connecticut will rely heavily on second-year captain Conor Matzinger to pick up the slack. Last year, Matzinger rattled off 34 goals and earned Division III Eastern First Team accolades. In addition to Matzinger, watch for James Green to have a breakout year after tallying 12 goals. Two other potential breakout stars are Sam Mitchell and Hahn Je. Sophomore sensation Mitchell is primed to make a run at All-North First Team honors in 2009 after a 21-goal first-year mark, while Je tallied 14 goals and will look to increase his output as a junior. In cage, Brendan Kampf will mind the pipes in the wake of a 69-save performance last year.

Fordham University

The Fordham water polo team enters the 2009 season with a great sense of enthusiasm under sixth-year head coach Bill Harris. The Rams are coming off their first winning season since 1987, and are poised to be in the mix of contenders for the CWPA Northern Division title. The offense for the Rams will be their biggest strength with the return of juniors Alex Powell and Ryan Hultman. Powell was a First Team All-Northern Division selection in 2008 after leading Fordham in scoring for the second straight season. He ended the year with 69 points, 52 goals and 22 steals, all team-highs. Hultman was right behind Powell in most offensive categories, posting 38 goals and 11 assists for 49 points, while also adding 17 steals, which tied for third on the squad. Besides Powell and Hultman, the Rams saw the development of a number of other players, as seven other returnees had at least 12 goals in 2008. Of those returnees, senior Andrew Dentinger, juniors Scott Nemecek and Jakob Muller, and sophomore Andrew McKernin should be the prime candidates to fill out the Rams' lineup. McKernin, a former First Team All-America pick in high school, finished fourth on the team with 21 goals and fifth in points with 34. Dentinger (14 goals) and Nemecek (16 goals) each recorded 36 points in 2008, and are solid two-way players. Muller, who won a team-best 42 swimoffs, also had a solid season with 16 goals, 11 assists, and 21 steals. The Rams should also get some contribution from their latest additions, driver Jake Bakas and utility player Cashel Barnett. Bakas was a Third Team NISCA All-America selection his senior season and helped his high school team to the state championship. Barnett, a 6'-2" utility player that can play driver or the two-meter spot, earned All-America status twice (2007-08) and was a three-time All-CIF Northern California. In net, the Rams lost Second Team All-Northern selection Timmy Will to graduation, which means sophomore Christian Flessner will step into the starting role. Flessner appeared in four matches as a freshman in 2008.

Harvard University

Harvard returns 16 players from last year's squad, which finished sixth at the Northern Division Championships and boasted an overall record of 5-12, including a 3-4 record in CWPA action. The Crimson graduated captains David Tune, a CWPA Northern Division Second Team selection, and Jay Connolly, a former CWPA Northern first-team goalkeeper. This year's roster includes veteran experience, with four seniors and seven juniors led by captains Egen Atkinson and Bret Voith, a former Northern Division First Team pick. Senior Nikhil Balaraman and sophomore Alexandre Popp will handle the goalkeeping responsibilities. Atkinson is the Crimson's leading returning scorer, having tallied 23 goals last fall. Harvard also welcomes two newcomers to the fold, as Max Eliot and Antone Martinho join head coach Erik Farrar's squad. The healthy balance of experience and youth will look to boost the Crimson back to the upper-ranks of the CWPA.

Iona College

Iona looks to pick up where it left at the end off last season. The Gaels had strong play in the Northern Championships finishing third to qualify for the program's third Eastern Championship appearance in the past four years. The squad looks to improve upon their 2008 finish with a well rounded team of experienced upperclassmen and 10 new incoming freshman. The Gaels will be led by three-time leading scorer Joe Przekota. Przekota has tallied over 50 goals in each of his first three years and last season had a personal high of 88. Przekota also had his best tournament of the season at the Eastern Championship scoring 14 goals in three games. Leading the Gaels on defense will be co-captain and two-meter defender Emre Erdogan, a shutdown defensive player who also is tremendous at controlling the offensive 6-on-5. Goaltender Eric Konzem is one of the top goalies in North and will be starting in cage for his third straight year. Konzem set personal bests last year with 67 steals and a .570 save percentage. Seth Tasman returned from a medical red-shirt freshman year with 43 goals while keying Iona's transition game. Trevor Creighton was one of the top newcomers on the East Coast last season. A solid two-way player, Creighton scored 36 goals and added 36 steals in 2008. Iona is looking for key contributions at both ends of the pool from returning upper classmen Andrew Velasquez, Cameron Hudson, Hunter Carrier, Matt Joslyn, Ryan Oldendorf, and Ryan Scott. Also, the addition of 10 talented freshman, led by Kristian Bocage, will add depth to the 2009 Gaels as they look to make a push for their third straight Eastern Championship appearance.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Following a fourth place finish at the Northern Division Championship and a bid to the Eastern Championship, MIT will seek to take the next steps and move up in their division and the final league championship to make a run at the NCAA Tournament. Leading the charge will be a pair of All-Conference players in John Preis and Devin Lewis. A 2007 first and 2008 second team All-Northern Division selection, Lewis will be counted on for his leadership and all-around play, while 2007 Northern Division Rookie of the Year and potential All-Division pick John Preis is expected to be among the leading players in the North this year.

Queens College

Queens enters the 2009 season prepared to contend for a place among the top teams in the Northern Division and Collegiate Water Polo Association standings. Led by a new coach as former Saint Francis College (N.Y.) standout Or Gil takes over the squad, the Knights will seek to bring back the days of the program's 1997 and 2002 Eastern Championship teams with a small and talented roster of athletes. Players to watch include Matthew Degorio, Srdjan Milic, Guilherme Cordovil, Pearce Selleck, Ryan Laskowski, Jadranko Pockekaj, Uros Dzelebdzic, Kristopher Sweetman, Phil Cabasino, Doug Leresche and 2008 Division II Eastern Championship Second Team selection Joshua Tatro.

SOUTHERN DIVISION, EASTERN REGION

Bucknell University

Bucknell, which is ranked 18th nationally in the preseason poll, is coming off a 17-16 season where it faced 17 nationally ranked opponents. The Bison return their top four scorers, including Honorable Mention All-America selection Richie Hyden, who tallied team highs in goals (87), assists (51) and points (138). Six Bucknell returnees, including co-captains Johnny Stupp and Randy Ang, started at least 15 games in 2008. Stupp's 33 starts led the squad, while his career-high 68 points ranked third. Bucknell's strength in 2009 is expected to be defense. Opponents averaged just nine goals per game in 2008 and that number should be lower this year with two solid returning goalies in senior Nick Donahue and junior Miles Gilhuly. Donahue had a breakout year last fall and registered a career-high 213 saves. Gilhuly, who battled injuries much of the year, chipped in 74 stops in 18 appearances. The Bison have a small freshman class of just three players, two of which hail from the same high school in the Chicago area.

George Washington University

The 2009 season will be a rebuilding year for 11th-year head coach Scott Reed and the George Washington men's water polo team. The Colonials are slated to host their first match at newly renovated and renamed Charles E. Smith Center Natatorium in early October and Reed is hopeful his team, which will consist of twice as many underclassmen (10) as upper (five), will have gained enough experience to compete for CWPA Southern Division and Eastern titles. Seniors John-Claude Wright and Nick Archambault inherit the bulk of the attacking duties following the graduation of David Zenk, one of the most prolific point-producers in program history. Wright finished second on the team in 2008 in goals (43), points (64) and swim-offs won (27) and will be the Colonials' marquee driver this fall. Archambault, who set career-highs with 21 goals and 38 points last season, and sophomore Cray Rogers, the team's top returning playmaker with 23 assists and 54 points as a rookie, will look to ease the pressure on Wright. Senior Rick Rogers also will be counted on to increase his contributions following an eight-goal, 11-assist campaign last season. Reed welcomes a quartet of freshmen into the attack, led by West Coast recruit John-Paul Bezerra, who totaled 112 goals and 93 assists the past two seasons at California's St. John Bosco High. Rookies German Olano, Nolan Lozinski and Ross Kirkbaumer also will see action on the perimeter. Senior Marshall Freedman and junior Peter Thomas return to center to replace Nick Eddy, last year's leading goal scorer and a two-time CWPA All-South selection. Freedman finished second on the team last season with a career-high 28 ejections drawn and added 15 points on seven goals and eight assists. Thomas appeared in 22 games and will likely see increased playing time at two-meter set, while freshman Guy Helman, a member of the Olympic Development Program's Northeast Zone team, will step in at two-meter defense. Sophomore goalkeeper Alex Sotolongo had a solid debut season in 2008, finishing with 228 saves, 51 steals and a CWSA Southern Division Rookie of the Week award. Sotolongo will be the incumbent entering the season, but freshmen Sean Joyce and Cameron Illes will vie for time in net. Joyce led the St. Louis metro area with 347 saves as a senior at Ladue High, while Illes was a 2009 NISCA Second Team All-America and four-time All-State selection at North Allegheny High in Pittsburgh. GW will take to the road for nearly 20 matches to open the season while awaiting completion of Smith Center Natatorium renovations, participating in the Navy Open, Princeton Invitational, the ECAC Championship and Claremont Convergence in California before hosting Bucknell in its home and Southern Division opener on October 8. Outside of a difficult conference schedule featuring defending Eastern champion Navy, Princeton, Johns Hopkins and Bucknell, the Colonials also have non-conference dates set with Top 20 programs UC-San Diego, Santa Clara and Air Force.

Johns Hopkins University

With the loss of National Player of the Year Josh Kratz and three former first team All-America selections in Chris Hutchens, Alex Bond and Peter Davis, the 2009 Blue Jays have some big shoes to fill. This year's squad is lead by All-America pick and captain Kyle Gertridge. Gertridge, who finished third on the team last season with 57 goals and 77 points, should continue his prolific offensive ability with the help of seniors and fellow captains Reid Fox (14 goals, 16 assists) and Peter Sauerhoff (28 goals, 14 assists). Senior Jamie Neuirth (17 goals, 7 assists) will lend some international experience as he returned from the Maccabiah games as a silver medalist with Team USA. Senior Tony Aguilera, who tallied 29 points and finished third on the team in steals last year, will be a strong presence on both the offensive and defensive ends of the pool in his last campaign. MG Gonzalez added seven goals with 10 assists last year and will be asked to contribute and strengthen his multiple talents in this rebuilding year. The Jays hope Rookie of the Year Mark Strickland, who scored 20 goals and added 10 assists in his first campaign, can continue his development while junior John Barrett (16 goals, 19 assists) should add some needed experience and speed to the cause. To try and replace a senior class that won 72 matches and three Division III Eastern titles, freshman Chris Whitam, a California Hawaii All-America selection, will lead the Blue Jays youth movement after returning from his team's third place finish at the Junior Olympics. Fellow high school All-America selections Eli Levitt and Ross Schofield will add much needed strength on the defensive side of the ball. Freshman Alex Gastevich, a 6'-6" goalie from Chicago, will add help between the pipes. With the loss of four starters, a slew of freshmen will be factors in this rebuilding year as the Jays look to repeat as Eastern Division III champions and work to be a factor for the CWSA Eastern Championship.

Princeton University

Princeton enters the 2009 season looking to defend its Southern Championship crown and go one step further by winning the Eastern Championship and appearing in the NCAA Men's Water Polo Championship, which they will host this December at DeNunzio Pool. Last season the Tigers won their first Southern title since 2004 by edging Navy in the Southern title game. The two teams met again in the Eastern Championship title game two weeks later, but Navy captured the game, the league championship and earned the CWSA's NCAA tournament berth. Princeton returns the bulk of its offense from last season, only losing 40-goal scorer Brendan Colgan, the reigning CWSA Southern Division Player of the Year, to graduation. Last year's leading scorer, Eric Vreeland, is accompanied by Jeff Cole, Mark Zalewski and Douglas Wigley as the Tigers return four players that had at least 38 goals last season. The Tigers also return stellar defenders in Matt Hale and Gregor Horstmeyer and first-team All-South goalkeeper Mike Merlone.

United States Naval Academy

Navy's senior class has been a huge reason for a lot of the success over the last three years for the Navy water polo program. Now, facing its last chance, the class will attempt to do something no other team in Navy history and only two programs have done in league history -- win four straight CWSA Eastern Championships. Head coach Mike Schofield is looking to his seniors to lead the squad again this year. The team captain, goalkeeper Brett Rajchel, had a strong year in goal for the Mids, his first season of action, stopping 248 shots in goal, the sixth most in school history. Rajchel's classmates, Kevin Bell and Johnny Meiners, should also have big seasons. Bell is Navy's returning career leading scorer with 108 career points (59 g, 49 a) after tallying 50 as a sophomore and 46 as a junior. Meiners was named a second-team All-East honoree last year after scoring a career-best 49 points (30 g, 19 a) and he has 72 career points (42 g, 30 a). In addition, Schofield is looking for more from seniors Zack Anderson and Drew Kollmann, who saw limited action last fall, but have shown promise in the spring and summer workouts. The Mids do have a returning All-America pick on the roster in sophomore Kyle Wertz. Wertz scored 63 points last year, the third most in school history by a freshman, and grabbed All-America Honorable Mention accolades. One of the biggest questions Schofield faces for the upcoming season is who will replace two-time All-America selection Michael Mulvey. Mulvey graduated last year as the school's fifth-leading scorer with 314 career points, including 105 as a senior. Schofield is hoping from contributions from a slew of players that saw limited action last year to fill the void left by Mulvey and his classmates. The most likely candidates appear to be juniors Jordan Carter, Luke Baldwin and Alex Kofsky and sophomores Stevie Ray, Matt Carlson, Conor Handley and Darren McKay. Carter played in 17 contests last year with four points, but scored a key goal in Navy's CWSA Eastern title-winning game against Princeton last November. Baldwin started most of the year last year and ranked second on the team with 22 assists (33 points total). Baldwin is a versatile player that can help the team out in many ways. Kofsky played in 28 games with 27 goals, tallying six points with four goals and a pair of assists in the thrilling CWSA Eastern semifinal win over the Terriers of Saint Francis College (N.Y.). Ray played in just two games last fall, but gives the Mids the size and mobility to be a big threat this year. Carlson had an outstanding spring after scoring three goals in five games a season ago. Conor Handley played in three games last year, but is another player with good size that has had a solid off-season. Schofield also expects some members of the freshman class to step up and see playing time. The Midshipmen have played in 14 NCAA Tournaments, the sixth most in NCAA history.

SOUTHERN DIVISION, WESTERN REGION

Gannon University

Gannon returns 13 letterwinners from last year's 11-10 squad. Those 13-letterwinners accounted for 73 percent of the team's scoring in 2008. In addition to the scoring, junior Darren Stone returns in goal for the third consecutive season. He ranks third all-time in Golden Knights history in career saves (306), 15th in steals (39) and 17th in assists (26). Gannon returns its top two scorers in juniors Greg Naranjo and Dmitriy Simonoff. Naranjo recorded 33 goals, 16 assists and 15 steals a year ago to improve his place to 12th in goals (57) and 16th in assists (29) in program history. Simonoff was second on the team last season with 28 goals while adding eight assists and a team-high 37 steals. He enters the season 15th all-time at Gannon in goals (44) and 17th in steals (51). Junior Michael Piper will also add significant scoring after posting 24 goals in 2008 while also ranking among Gannon's all-time Top 20 in goals, assists and steals.

Mercyhurst College

"It's quality, not quantity," might be the commonly used phrase floating around the Lakers' locker room this season. Mercyhurst, who has typically fielded a squad of at least 15 members in years past, will look to defend its 2008 Collegiate Water Polo Association Southern Division-Western Region title with the services of just four returners and five freshmen. "We definitely don't have the depth we used to," said seventh-year head coach Curtis Robinette. "The players we have returning and the freshmen we added this offseason pack quite a punch though. A lot will be expected from this group". Despite the small squad, the Lakers shouldn't have a problem on offense with the return of Alex Moggridge. Moggridge, a 6'-1", 185-lb junior from Ottawa, Ontario, led the Lakers in goals (63), points (93), multi-goal games (8) and steals (51). His goal total also set the single-season record for the Lakers and helped him land on the All-America Team. Looking to help out Moggridge is Kane Ashton, a 6'-4", 210-lbs. junior from Orlando, Fla. 2008 proved to be a recovery year for the third-year driver, who suffered a season-ending injury in 2007. Playing in a limited role, Ashton still shined with a 12-goal, 20-point output through 13 contests. Defensively, the Lakers were hit the hardest with the graduation of Jake Coin and Jorge Montero. However, Robinette will still have the services of two-time All-America goaltender Andy Sekulski in cage. Sekulski proved to be the backbone of the Lakers defense in 2008 as the Mohnnton, Pa. native recorded 266 saves and allowed 188 goals in accumulating a 15-9 record. With the addition of the five freshmen, the Lakers will have a squad of nine members ready to go for the 2009 campaign.

Pennsylvania State University-Erie, The Behrend College

Penn State-Behrend will look to move up the Southern Division standings and continue its ascension to the top of the Collegiate Water Polo Association rankings in 2009. The Behrend Lions will field a young team led by senior co-captain Jacob Bernstein, who played in 19 games tallying nine goals and seven assists in 2008. Starting goalie and co-captain Robert Westhelle netted a save percentage of .460 a year ago. The Lions welcome four new players in Colin McGarry, Nick Loukides, Ali Khan and Jake DesRoches as Penn State will seek to build for the future and gain valuable experience against both CWPAA and non-league opponents.

Salem International University

Salem International University looks for 2009 to exceed last season. Greg Jones, a 2008 graduate of Ohio University, takes the reins of the program and hopes to lead the squad to a strong finish. Jones who served as a coach and player for Ohio University from 2003 to 2008 will be looking to rebuild the program and reestablish success in Salem. Returning starters for the Tigers include Jose Florentino and Hector Sanchez who brings speed and accurate shooting to the program. The outside game will come into play with Ivan Jovicic who adds athletic ability and experience to the squad. Milorad Adasevic will defend between the pipes. The program has a number of experienced freshmen ready to contribute to the 2009 season. Coach Jones is very excited to build the foundation for the SIU water polo program as the Tigers seek to be competitive in the Collegiate Water Polo Association now and in the future.

Washington & Jefferson College

This season is expected to be an exciting one as the Washington & Jefferson Presidents will serve as hosts for the Division III Eastern Championship on October 24-25 at the Henry Memorial Natatorium and will seek to maintain their place among the Southern Division's best small college programs. The Presidents will be without the services of All-America selection Andrew Whittam and four-year starter Eddie Werner, who graduated in the spring, but senior All-America goalie John Todd returns to serve as the anchor of the squad. Todd, a 2008 Division III Eastern Championship All-Tournament Team selection, finished as one of the nation's save leaders a year ago with 343 (12.7 saves per match) in his first year as a full-time starter. He is joined by four other seniors, Chris Blueher, Steve Hilty, William Kidston and Dan Martin. This group looks to help the Presidents post their first double-digit victory total since 2004. Hilty fired in 23 goals a year ago, including three hat-tricks, while Blueher, Kidston and Martin are versatile players who are anticipated to increase their offensive production. Hilty was also a Division III Eastern Championship All-Tournament Team choice. Sophomore Andy Rish, the team's leading returning scorer after compiling 25 goals in 2008, will be another player to watch after netting a season-high three goals twice against Penn State-Behrend. Junior Bill Krause is another talent that will factor in W&J's efforts on both ends of the tank. The Presidents are also hoping that four freshmen can contribute from the start of the season. Alex Shuey and Joey Weiland bring solid resumes from Pennsylvania high schools, while Mike Johnson and Cameron Chaves will compete for starting positions.

ATLANTIC DIVISION

Duke University

Duke looks to build on last year's Atlantic Division title and 11th place finish at Nationals. Led by Atlantic Division Most Valuable Player and All-America selection Charlie Neiman and senior captain Alex Fankuchen, the Blue Devils will utilize an up-tempo style to defend their title. Despite losing four seniors to graduation, the team returns four starters from a team that went undefeated in league play. With a strong core of upperclassmen and the continued contributions of sophomores Vinayak Nikam and Felipe Mejia, Duke is considered a favorite to repeat as Atlantic Division Champions.

Georgetown University

While Georgetown graduated a large and talented senior class, the Hoyas will still be one of the teams to beat in the Atlantic Division this year. Lone senior Adam Cassella returns to Collegiate Water Polo Association competition a strong force after spending a year traveling Europe and training with some of the best talent in the world. In addition to his presence, the backbone of this year's team will be their string of talented juniors of Matt Middleton, Simon Crocker and Tim Eberhardt. In their quest for the championship, the Hoyas expect breakout performances the squad's sophomores. Georgetown's secret weapon will be returning two-time Atlantic Division Goalie of the Year Rich Storey, who will be shedding his goalie cap this season and putting his long arms to use at two-meters. If all goes according to plan, this season the Hoyas could lay the foundation for an Atlantic Division dynasty.

James Madison University

James Madison has much to offer this season due to a core of experienced players, dedicated sophomores and leadership from the upperclassmen. Having grown closer as a team over the past few seasons, JMU has been training hard and preparing to compete with the division's best for the ultimate prizes, the Atlantic Division Championship and a berth to the National Collegiate Club Championship at the University of Florida. Although the team lost its starting goalie, the Dukes appear capable of winning games with a solid defense and explosive offense that will allow the team to keep pace in shoot-outs and lockdown in tight games. Featuring multiple experienced players that understand the game and what needs to be done to contend in the division this year, James Madison hopes to become more competitive this year with a plan of taking the division championship in the near future.

Loyola College

Loyola's water polo team embarks on another crucial building season with excitement. Under the direction of returning coach, Lauren Brug, the young club of both experienced and inexperienced players hopes to develop as a more competitive squad in the Atlantic Division. Brug, who was an award-winning player throughout college, will contribute the necessary motivational push and training as the program looks forward to the new season's challenges with hopes of improving individually and as a whole.

North Carolina State University

North Carolina State faces a rebuilding year due to the loss of half its starting lineup. However, with solid talent in the pipeline NCSU is aiming high for a strong finish in conference play. Anchored in the field by Kamau Brown, the Wolfpack will look for their scoring to come from Davis Murphy and Joseph Briggs. The team fields a strong presence between the pipes as six-year veteran Ralph Abbey returns in the cage. Watch for Ahmed Alandi, Zack Capets, Jensen Sales and Adam Nussbaum to step into key roles in their second season with the team and provide some much needed depth while gaining critical experience. The Wolfpack also hopes to unveil a new weapon in conference play for the first time with an all-girl lineup, anchored by Genevieve Pike. Look for NCSU to finish in the middle of the conference with an opportunity to sneak into the upper half with a little luck.

Saint Mary's College (Md.)

Among the Atlantic Division's newest teams, Saint Mary's will seek to build off what it learned during the squad's first season in 2008.

University of Maryland

Maryland seeks to become the sixth program in the history of the Atlantic Division to capture the title and advance to the National Collegiate Club Championship. Look for Steve Oursler, Cary Lyon Jr., Roy Lyford-Pike, Justin Smith, Amin Asemani, Michael Shwartz, Igor Shetynbuk, Alex Motsiopoulos, John McHugh, Brendan Desaulniers and Chris Gibeily to be among the division's best and most entertaining players. Duncan Graham and Kyle Bradshaw, Clinton Gill and Mike Kirwan should also factor in Maryland's title hopes.

University of North Carolina

North Carolina had a strong season in 2008 and looks to improve on the mark in 2009. Despite the loss of its leading scorer, Carolina returns every other player from last season. In addition, the team will benefit from the addition of experienced freshmen. With a year of experience together, the core of the team looks to lead UNC to win its first CWPA Atlantic Division championship since 2004.

University of Richmond

After two years of rebuilding, Richmond looks to improve upon its fourth place finish in the division three years ago. With seven seniors returning, this looks to be a promising year for the Spiders. Bob Deasey, returning from an injury that sidelined him all last season, will anchor the team with his two-meter play after leading the team in scoring his freshman and sophomore years. Starting goalie Gunnar Millier is returning to the team after missing last season while studying abroad. The Spiders will rely on consistent contributions from some of the younger players to stay competitive this year.

University of Virginia

Though the team graduated most of last year's solid starting front, Virginia welcomes back the powerful veteran core of Dan Sunday (2008 All-Conference First Team) at the two-meter position and John Kupstas (2008 All-Conference Second Team) at the right-hand flat. The return of only one more graduate student, Joe Jablonski, gives Virginia its youngest team in years. Lone senior Tim Liederbach will be crucial to the team's defense and give the team yet another option at two-meters, while southpaw Stu Keech will round out a rebuilding perimeter. Last year, Virginia relied heavily on the dedicated play of its freshman class, which will return to an even more critical role on both sides of the ball. Under the leadership of veteran coach Chris Warneke and junior captain Rob Wyllie, the teams looks to improve upon last year's third-place finish in the Atlantic Division.

Virginia Polytechnic Institute & State University

After losing two of its leading scorers last year, Virginia Tech will be looking to younger players to step in and contribute with increased playing time this year. With strong defense and smart team play the Hokies are working to challenge for the Atlantic Division championship again after a disappointing second place finish last year.

Indiana University

The Indiana club water polo team is extremely optimistic about the 2009 season. With newcomers Tyler Kelley, Mike Petereson, and Tommy Hollo the team has new depth that it has not had in years. Returning Starters Evan Burns, Andrew Shepard, Jake Smither, and Mike Ryden will be at the core of the team's success and have been over the past few seasons. Indiana is still looking for its first ever Big Ten title and believes that this team can truly be competitive enough to do that.

Michigan State University

Michigan State enters the season following their second National Collegiate Club Championship in the past three years. Riding a four-year Big Ten winning streak, the Spartans will strive to continue their dominance of their fellow Big Ten programs in 2009. While losing four of seven starters is potentially troubling, the Spartans have an excess of youth talent that looks promising to fill the voids and return to club to the National title game once again. Returning goalie Ben Shantz and field players Andrew Olesnavich and Nick Talaski have the experience, talent and ability to keep Michigan State among the nation's best for another year. Young players looking to step up include sophomores Jake Marsh and Chase Plank. Led by coach Laszlo Hruza, the Spartans have their expectations at the ceiling and are eager for the season to begin.

Purdue University

Purdue welcomes a large freshman class for its first season in the Collegiate Water Polo Association. The team is looking to the upperclassmen, especially two-meter Mikey Nickels, for leadership and dominating play on offense and defense. Strong offensive plays are expected from returning seniors Charlie Glick and Dan O'Connell, while Nathan Todd will be controlling the two-meter position on the defensive end. The team looks forward to working hard this season to be a competitor in the Big Ten Division.

University of Illinois

The Fighting Illini's upcoming season looks promising. With few losses from the 2008 roster, the team hopes to improve its final season ranking, rising from a fifth place finish at the Big Ten Championship in the 2008 season. At the top of the Fighting Illini's priorities is getting Patrick O'Connell back in the pool and training. After temporarily losing him, the team was hurt by the missing talent and skills he brings to Illinois. Due to O'Connell's leadership in and out of the pool, look for the Illini to be a force in the division. Watch for the play of Andrew Kazmiercz, Mark Lakis and Matthew Noonan to key Illinois efforts as all three are capable of earning division honors at the end of the season.

University of Iowa

Iowa is coming into its own, learning to play as a team and ready for some success this year in the Big Ten. Lefty utility player Jeff Winters, driver JJ Baginski and rifle-armed Bob Force key the Hawk-eyes. Luke Fevold, Rob McCugh, Jacob Saunders and Robby Lebeau also bear paying attention to in 2009. Iowa made great strides in experience last year and will complement the youth of the program with a crew of intelligent graduate students in Paul Kaminsky, Phil Butler and Mark Kloet. Goalies Matt Nurre and Max Malec will anchor the defense that has been the foundation at Iowa water polo the past few seasons. On the other end of the pool, the team's offense is a work in progress. As the underclassmen mature, outside shots will improve and free-up Jeff Winters, Stephen Daniels and Mike Peters in front of the cage. Iowa's goal is to finish in the Top Six in the Big Ten this year on the way to the titles in 2010 and 2011. Next spring, the team will move into a state of the art pool which should make it easier to recruit, host more tournaments and train for regulation size events.

University of Michigan

Michigan, the 2008 Big Ten Runner-Up, is poised to regain the national spotlight once again in 2009 with the strongest returning squad it has seen in six years. 2008 All-Big Ten First Teammates Ryan Pryor and Steve Weinberg lead an explosively deep team that boasts a roster in which seven or eight players have a shot at leading Michigan in scoring. Returning sophomores Levi Barry and Matt Woelfel, and returning senior captains Tim Raben and Rock Rowland will strive to play by the mantra "Actions, Not Words," as the team will seek to not talk about winning the Big Ten title, but just do it. Add an already accomplished incoming freshman class and Michigan should be a serious contender for the national title.

University of Wisconsin

The 2009 season will be a testing time for the Badgers. With the loss of starting two-meter John Wickes and goalie Matt Bielman along with utility player Eric Johnson, the Badgers are entering a rebuilding period. Promising young talents Chris Walker and Charlie Krause, and the crafty veteran Tom Dagenais, will need to step up and play a significant role in the offensive scheme for Wisconsin. Meanwhile, the returning starters from last season, including guard Kerry Read and goalie Yosef Lerner will need to pick up the slack of their graduated brethren. The Badgers are hoping to better last season's sixth place finish in the Big Ten.

FLORIDA DIVISION

Florida International University

Florida International has been working hard during the off-season to prepare for this year and avenge last year's disappointing finish. Defeated in 2008 by the Florida Gators, FIU was unable to participate in the National Collegiate Club Championship for the first time in the history of the program. However, the Panthers have vowed to not repeat the early termination of their season, especially with the 2009 National Collegiate Club Championship set to be hosted by division rival Florida this year. Leading scorer Alexander Lipin, who has racked up All-Conference, Florida Division Most Valuable Player and All-America accolades, returns to guide the team back to Nationals and a shot at the championship after playing as a member of the Junior National team in Russia. The Panthers also boast returning goalkeeper Theo Jenetopolous who in his senior year will anchor the Panthers in the water and outside the tank. Returning starters include Mario Mora, Chase Vaughan, Andy Alvarez, JD Garcia and Julien Sotil. Victor Gonzelez, a local high school standout, will also join the program. The most important addition to the roster, however, could be 2005 All-America Third Team selection Chris Arias. An established player at FIU, he has been away from the Panthers for the past two years but guided the program to new heights during his time as an undergraduate including three trips to the National Collegiate Club Championship. The team leader in goals and steals during his undergraduate days, he earned the 2005 and 2006 Southeast Division Most Valuable Player of the Year awards, in addition to garnering All-Tournament First Team honors as a senior at the National Collegiate Club Championship.

Florida State University

Florida State looks to have one of the strongest teams in school history. With the addition of award winning coach Chad Brandt and the return of five starters, the 'Noles will aim for a national title. The defense will be anchored by long-time two-meter defender Eric Ho, while the offense will once again be led by lob-master Steven McCarthy and left armed strong man Freddie Lee. But the power does not stop there. Dominant new additions like Jacob Gordon look to bolster an already potent team.

University of Central Florida

2009 looks to be a promising year for Central Florida. Returning almost all of the players from last year's third place finish in the Florida Division and the program's first Collegiate Water Polo Association Top 20 National Ranking, the Knights continue to bring in new talent and establish winning as a tradition at UCF.

University of Florida "A"

Florida enters the 2009 season with the momentum that carried it to finishing in fourth place at the 2008 National Collegiate Club Championship. The program lost defensive star Patrick Topps and utility player Brent Moser, but has retained other key figures such as two-time All-America and 2008 Florida Division Most Valuable Player Justin Oakes along with powerhouse goalie Travis Catron. Oakes will be accompanied in set by Matt Ori, a high school star of the Central Florida region. Isa Al Nash will be playing this season after recovering from a shoulder injury and will show the water polo scene why he is one of the best drivers from Kuwait for his age group.

University of Florida "B"

Profile not available

University of Miami (Fla.)

Although the Miami Hurricanes struggled in the win column a year ago, the team looked comfortable playing together by the end of the season. Key players must step up early this year, however, if Miami hopes to make a title run due to the loss of graduates Corey Bubb and Courtney McMahon. Jose Mora, Ian Dixon, Ryan Freedman, Nikki Keen, Blake Johnson and David Goldberg will be crucial to the offense this year, while goalie Brian Peters continues to provide solid support at the other end of the pool. Sophomore Marina Knize will also be an important component of the Hurricanes.

Ball State University

Ball State has a strong leading force among its returning players in Mark Serrao, Scott Meadows and Brian Haber. The team grows stronger every year with more returning players, great coaching and new freshmen.

Grand Valley State University

Arguably the most consistent program in the Great Lakes Division, Grand Valley State will look to continue its string of success this year as the Lakers are seeking their eighth straight championship. The team is rebuilding a bit, but will look to seniors Marc Wagner and Peter Huyser for leadership. Returning starters Josh Ensing and Josh Geneva will look to contribute more to the offense, while freshman addition Josh Gonzales will hopefully bolster a team looking to go to the National Collegiate Club Championships once again.

Ohio University

Ohio returns six of its seven starters from last year's roster, including two All-Conference players. After losing a few valuable assets, the Bobcats look to returning graduate student and team president Stephen Leow to control the two-meter offense. At the other end of the pool, sophomore Tim Jennings will play a key role in the team's defensive efforts. Managing the Bobcat's two-meter defense will be returning senior Peter Zien, who is also the team's coach. The Bobcats are anticipating the return of Troy Weber who was previously serving in Iraq. Weber, who played the goalie position two years ago, will play in the field this fall. Starting in the cage this year will be sophomore Brandon Crawford, who spent the off-season improving his leg strength. The Bobcats look for a strong left-handed shot from sophomore Aaron Wheatley, while senior Brian Zaborski, junior Mark Poskarbiewicz and sophomore John Ubbing made strong contributions to Ohio's attack last season as the program finished third in the Great Lakes Division.

University of Chicago

After struggling to field a team last fall midst a host of new faces, Chicago looks to build on some promising results in the spring. Senior and club president Greg Fahl headlines a group of tournament tested players who will be the core of this year's squad. The team should be strong defensively and on the perimeter, but must develop a full time two-meter player and goalkeeper. For the season Chicago looks to keep having fun and continue the improvement of last year with eyes on contending for the division championship in the future.

University of Dayton

With five returning starters, Dayton strives to come back strong from a disappointing 2008 season. Team veterans and seniors Brendan Blume, Matt Patterson, Jon Dombek and Mark Abram have experience and leadership to go along with solid fundamentals and quality water polo skills. Sharpshooters Aaron Zaggy and Ben Beachler also hope to give the team a much needed offensive boost. The team will also look to the bench with help from junior Brandon Salas and Sophomores Andrew Bogner and Joey Martin adding to the depth and diversity of the Flyers.

University of Illinois-Chicago

UIC seeks great things and new challenges in the program's fourth season. The team has switched to the Great Lakes Division from the Missouri Valley Division to be more geographically aligned and looks forward to great competition. After placing second in the Missouri Valley and seventh at last year's National Collegiate Club Championship tournament, a bevy of returning starters and new talent combine for the best talent pool in the history of the program. The team retains two-meter talent with Andrew Peterson and Michael Walsh, while three-year reserve goalie Tyler Rayome will man the pipes.

University of Notre Dame

Led by senior captain Luke DePasquale, junior captain Matt Fordonski and sophomore captain Dan Geisman, Notre Dame looks to overcome the loss of three starters for another successful season. Adam Brutocao and Bill Bauman add offensive firepower, while Sebastian Testero will carry the team with his defensive prowess. The addition of several new players will help the Irish through the season and may lead them to the top of the Great Lakes Division. While Notre Dame is young, expect them to play with the luck of the Irish in 2009.

Iowa State University

Iowa State is looking forward to this year's water polo season, but needs the sophomore class to fill the shoes of the seniors that graduated last year. Strong performances from Jake Gazlay, Greg Froehle and David Chipman will be needed for a fun and successful season.

Kansas State University

Among a slate of second-year programs in the Collegiate Water Polo Association, Kansas State intends to shock the division and make a run at the title.

Marquette University

Marquette enters its fourth season as part of the Great Plains Division with a smaller team than last year and a number of prospects coming in ready to play.

University of Minnesota

Minnesota wrapped up 2008 by recording its third consecutive sweep of the Great Plains Division to finish the regular season 8-0 before rolling through the division tournament on the way to the National Collegiate Club Championship at Ohio University. Minnesota is led by the key group of Cyrus Jamnejad, Jake Wollensak, Gannon Stromquist-LeVoor and Matt Kuzma. The line is centered around goalkeeper Matt Dahlberg, whose confident and educated presence creates a balanced team atmosphere.

University of Minnesota-Duluth

A first year program, Minnesota-Duluth will look to have fun, make friends and upset a few of the division's more established teams.

University of Kansas

Kansas realizes its position this year is at a rebuilding stage and efforts have been made to revive the group. Only four of the Jayhawks' top players return from last year's team which experienced heavy losses due to graduation. To compensate for the departure of most of the team and a lack of veteran experience, several new players have stepped up to take on the challenges of filling the voids in the lineup and expanding the tradition of water polo at Kansas.

On defense, the addition of All-America selection Jeff Ward will aid the established presence of returning goalie Brenna Roffers. Two-meter guard Brian Boone is another welcome addition to the defensive unit. The focus for this season is to balance the defensive backbone with a strong offensive front. Seniors Ahmed Badawi and Aida Zygas; juniors Shani Nisman and Matt Nahrstedt; sophomore Tim Sherman; and freshmen John Dennis and Bernadette Myers will receive substantial playing time and will be necessary for the Jayhawks to thrive in the division race this year.

University of Nebraska

Nebraska returns to the Collegiate Water Polo Association after a brief absence from competition. Following two seasons of leadership issues, the Huskers will finally be in the pool again. The team aims to have a strong rookie season with player/coach Sam Shamburek at the lead. Even with this fresh start, the squad has some experience on its side. Both two-meter Marko Nikolic and goalkeeper Kit Clark played collegiate water polo before joining the Cornhuskers. Also, Drew Trembly played with the Nebraska Club before it disbanded. Entering the year with few expectations, the Huskers should put up a fight during the 2009 season.

Carleton College

After a series of thrillingly close yet ultimately disappointing matches at the end of last season, Carleton looks forward to performing better than ever before. Chris Peckwill will lead the Knights on offense, aided by sniper Kevin Hallman, the exclusion-expert Brian Schuster and the talented Maggie Alexander. Following the loss of goalie Jason Pipkin to commencement, Carleton hopes to tighten up on the defensive end in all aspects of the game. Two-meter guard Schuster and Arielle Rebek aim to shut down the opposing offense in the field, while versatile Brendan Cassidy will be armored in the red cap this year ensuring the Knights continued strength between the bars. Overall, Carleton will rely on a deep bench of talented men and women, great teamwork and an unbreakable spirit to experience a successful season.

Grinnell College

The Grinnell Wild Turkeys expect another season of success on the heels of repeat appearances at the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship. The Turkeys aspire to win the division and place higher at the DIII National Championship than last year. Led on offense by rising sophomore Alex Phillips, who earned All-America and Most Valuable Player honors last year, and fellow contributing talented players Matt Hochstein, Max Stephenson, Patrick Thomas, Sinan Ozer and Sam Sherwood, Grinnell's title hopes appear promising in the division.

Knox College

Knox enters this season with a team comprised primarily of underclassmen, but all with the same goal of qualifying for the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship tournament at Bowdoin College. Jeff Wickman and Chandler Harris will return in cage this season, but may also contribute in the field. Alan Ning, Tyler O'Neill, Laura Blue, Anne Heberle and Kaylin Maanum highlight the starters. The team is youthful with only four seniors and no juniors, and has incredible potential for improvement over the course of 2009. Sarah MacDowell, Bekah Bally and Kathrine Miller are just a few of the players to watch over the next few years as they grow into potent scoring threats and tenacious defenders.

Macalester College

Macalester comes into the season with a young core of players as only five of the players on the team are seniors. After the loss of four seniors, including All-Conference Second Team selection Seth McIntire, Mac looks to their strong junior class, led by All-Conference First Team pick Jeff Yamashita and Second Team selection Nathan Young. In goal, fellow All-Conference Second Team honoree Max Kulicke anchors the defense. Paolo Venneri, Jordan Cline and Jeffrey Solazzi will be counted on to bring their size and power to the set position and provide a strong presence on defense. Brennan Panzarella, Vasily Trubetskoy and Ethan Forsgren will provide depth and shooting prowess. Additionally, Macalester team is excited to welcome several strong female players to the roster, including Meghan Davies and Claire Eder, to bring a roster with depth, experience and power to the Heartland Division.

Monmouth College

After winning last season's Heartland Conference Championship the Scots of Monmouth, also known by their nickname the Crab People, are focused on winning the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship by raising their offense and defense to higher levels of play. Led by returning captain and 2008 National Collegiate Club Scholar-Athlete of the Year Joe Moran, in addition to new captains Matt O'Rourke and Tom Pederson, the Scots return their entire starting line from a year ago. Players to watch include Steve and Ken Collins, Josh Dunn and Ed Novak. Pay attention to sophomores Andrew Wright and Joe Testoline as they gain experience and utilize their swimming experience to make themselves key support for the Monmouth starters in league games. Kevin Satler and Harrison Heilman are versatile players, who have been known to play both goalkeeper and field positions. Sally Hayes will come off the bench in relief, while Rachel Holm will aid the cause by utilizing her swimming ability and personality to support the team in and out of the water. Central to the Scots' balanced offense are lefthanders Jeff Skalon and Jeremiah O'Steen. Lauren Nelson and Frank Wasielewski should also contribute to the cause of another great season for Monmouth.

Saint John's University (Minn.)

Saint John's enters the 2009 season with a renewed energy after placing third in the Heartland Division last season and returning all of its starters. The starters include two All-America selections in captains Bobby Chapman and Clarence Manuel and three All-Conference selections in the form of Chapman, Manuel and Mark Solinger. Sophomores Jesse Otis, Mike Kelash and Chase Miller enter their second season with new insights and ability after getting through their first year of learning the game and experiencing collegiate water polo. Juniors John Sarabia and Mark Solinger will be taking on more leadership roles as next year's captains. Sarabia contributes his quick lefty shot in addition to his knowledge of the game, while Solinger brings his strong six-meter blast, charisma and energy that the team needs. While the roster may be small, the team's will power and determination are incomparable to any team in the Heartland.

Saint Mary's University (Minn.)

Saint Mary's begins the season with few returning players and a fair freshman class. The team will be looking to improve in the Heartland Division as well as place higher in the championship tournament. The team is excited to play in an all deep pool during the division tournament for the first time at Macalester College.

MID-ATLANTIC DIVISION

Bloomsburg University

Bloomsburg comes into the season following the loss of three key players in Dom Paraschak, Travis Young and Nick McGuinness. The Huskies finished the 2008 season fifth in the Mid-Atlantic Division Championship standings. Returning for one last hurrah in the tank are seniors Andrew Osipower, Josh Chandler, Steve Withers and Lee Hardin, who will all make notable contributions. Key returning offensive players include Tyler Delorenzo, Dereck Fritz, David Mancinelli and Joe Bentz will lead the way, while returning goalie Emily Stiles makes the saves. Other up and coming players include: Dan Montgomery, Aaron Steinhart and Erik Stefferud. Even with some of their best players graduated, Bloomsburg is looking to finish strong again this year with a very experienced team.

Carnegie Mellon University

Carnegie Mellon returns after finishing ninth in the Mid-Atlantic Division and competing at the 2008 Division III Club Championship at Villanova University. The graduating class was small, but valuable, including four-year goalie Alex Schlichting. Other members of the graduating class included graduate students Lucas Belenky and Kevin Gates who contributed significantly to the team with their knowledge. After completing his undergraduate tenure, four-year veteran Nik White returns as a graduate student for the Tartans. In addition to White, several strong players return including Division III All-America recipients Tony LoPresti and Anson Wang. In addition, Wang picked up All-Tournament Second Team honors at the Division III Club Championship, a feat he would like to repeat in 2009. Other key returning members include Collin Edington, who will be stepping into the role of goalie, David Bradshaw, Fiona Cormack and Christine Anderson. Underclassmen Keith Appleby, Myrka Lembo, Dyanna Becker, Nikki Carter and Clare McKendry are slated to receive substantial playing time and will be relied on heavily for a successful season.

Drexel University

Coming off an impressive second season of league play, Drexel is anticipating an even better season this fall. Led by new coach Jason Salgado, the Dragons have experienced significant growth since the team's inception and only graduated two seniors this spring.

Franklin & Marshall College

Franklin & Marshall joins the Collegiate Water Polo Association after a few seasons filled with impromptu practices culminating in sporadic games. While young and inexperienced, the team has caught polo fever and the excitement is only increasing with the Diplomats first season of intercollegiate competition. A few veteran players and multiple explosive athletes will take to the pool for the Dips with the possibility of qualifying for the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship. Although most of the players are new to the sport, all are lifetime competitive swimmers. Veteran players David Fell, David Apple, Alyssa Collins and Marissa Gribb form the core of the squad and will be counted on to guide the team through its first endeavors in the Mid-Atlantic Division.

Grove City College

Grove City is looking forward to a substantial number of young players to step up and compete this season. Team captains Lincoln Larsen and Matt Green, the only seniors on the team, hope to guide a young GCC team back to the Division III Collegiate Club Championship this year at Bowdoin College after an instructional year for the squad.

The team expects notable production from juniors Dan Wells, Matt Armstrong and Bennett Keefer, in addition to sophomores Collin Foster, Ben Bowser, Nick Hamilton and others to improve on the program's sixth place finish in the division a year ago.

La Salle University

La Salle enters its first season of Collegiate Water Polo Association play in a hopeful mood. The inaugural season should prove to be an exciting one, after the previous months were spent organizing the team. Team founders Kyle Manning and Ben Fallon entered their freshman year with the hope of a starting a club team, and courtesy the help of the La Salle Department of Athletics Department, were capable of making that dream a reality within a year. La Salle eyes a difficult but rewarding and successful first season. The team looks forward to finding out the strengths of each player. Sooner or later, stars will emerge. Regardless, each player on the team is essential and holds a special place in the history of La Salle Water Polo for this roster comprises the founding team, and without these players La Salle Water Polo would be merely another dream that failed to take wing.

Lehigh University

Having lost several key senior players, Lehigh is looking forward to a rebuilding year. As a small team with limited resources, the squad will be focusing on the fundamentals and basics of the sport. Under the leadership of captains Michael Fedorka and Libby DeFeo, the Mountain Hawks will be counting on senior players Michael LaVigne, James Malone and Rosanne Leith to power the team through the season. Additionally, the rising talent of Christopher Berzin, Zachary Hyder, Bryan Swintek and Benjamin Punshon-Smith bode well for the future of the program.

Millersville University

Millersville intends to rebuild this season after losing six key seniors. Last year, the Marauders finished eighth at the Mid-Atlantic Championship, their best showing in three years. Leading the young team this year will be new captains Josh Harter and Joe Dooling, along with seniors Melanie Buchanan and Royce Hilsinger. Hilsinger, the Marauders' 2008 leading scorer, is slated to lead the Millersville on offense, while new goalie Mike Fisher looks to make an immediate impact on the defensive end coming off of his high school all-state selection. Along with Mike Fisher, the freshmen are expected to make a big splash on the team.

Pennsylvania State University

The Nittany Lions are returning to the pool in their best form ever. Penn State is returning its full starting lineup from last year with the exception of replacing Sean Plunkett with returning senior Nick Landiak. The addition of Landiak to the starting line and the combination of experience and team chemistry that the team has achieved poise the Lions for their best season in years. A deep bench of upperclassmen and a strong incoming freshman class will help add speed to the team and complement PSU's starting line. The Nittany Lions will be dedicating their 2009 season to the memory of fallen teammate Jon Quigley, who tragically passed in a car accident earlier this summer. In tribute of Jon, the Lion's will sport the initials JQ on their suits and will also be hosting a charity invitational in his name on the weekend of December 4.

University of Delaware

Boasting a core of young players with a mix of veteran upperclassmen, Delaware is excited about the present achievements and future potential of the Blue Hens.

University of Pennsylvania

The reigning division champion, Penn returns to action following its second straight Mid-Atlantic Championship title looking to improve on a 10th place mark at the National Collegiate Club Championship tournament. Due to the loss of several offensive components, look for more versatility and creative offensive schemes from UPenn. Key players Brady Sieber and Jay Fantone provide two-meter strength, while the tandem of potential All-Conference First Team selections Chris and Pat Buck provide firepower from all angles and distances. Senior Michael Fu and junior Shane Gillette contribute speed and craftiness on the defensive end after leading the team in steals last year. New additions provide great depth to the Quakers' bench. Under the coaching of Antonio Merlo, Pennsylvania's offensive approach maybe different than in the past, but will keep the Quakers effective and in contention like previous seasons.

University of Pittsburgh

Entering its fourth season as a member of the league, Pittsburgh will turn to newly elected officers Mike Ickes and Steve Bailey for discipline and integrity to bring the team to new heights. Last year, the team went for a school record eight wins and captured fourth place in the Mid-Atlantic Division. Returning all but two starters, the Panthers are hoping to build off of last year's success. The team's success will rely heavily on senior Jeff Tabakato to fill the void created by the graduation of top players Frank Kopriva and Jon Lustgarten.

Villanova University

Villanova returns most of its 2008 roster which should make the Wildcats a decent contender for the division title. Team captain and All-Conference First Team honoree Chris McKay, who is the team's best driver and one of the better scorers, will be relied on for leadership. He will share the driving responsibilities with two other capable players in Kevin Comber and Dave Rounce (All-Conference Second Team). To balance its offense, Villanova will turn to Brent Green and JT Gladych to provide solid two-meter play, along with Justin Ferguson. All are experienced players and should be strong scoring threats. Defensively, the team will be led by Mike McArdle in cage. McArdle is coming off a learning season and is in his second year as the Wildcats' goalie. Other impact players are Jim Bell and Colin Reidy, two athletes that have seen significant improvement in the last two seasons.

Illinois State University

Illinois State rolls into the 2009 season looking to build upon its 2008 successes. Led by seniors Pat McKernin, Billy Carson, Nick Griffin, Nick Stercay, Bob Raggio and Ryan Schnoor, in addition to juniors Mitch Tucker, Mike Lipinski, Brian Nathe and Joe Armour, the Redbirds will field a team full of experience. Sophomores Zack Sejna, Ryan Forner, Ethan Matthews and Sam Musser return to the team and will continue to help the core of upperclassmen reach their goal of qualifying for the National College Club Championship for the first time in school history. Newcomers Mike Kehoe, Mike Byron, Nick Lauf, Sean Graw, Mike Blackwood, Sean Creedon and Scott Garreau look to make positive contributions this year and have promising careers for the rest of their time at ISU. One thing is for certain: the Redbirds come into the new season with a solid core of veteran players, and will surely field the most competitive team in school history.

Lindenwood University "A"

This marks Lindenwood's seventh season in the Collegiate Water Polo Association and the Lions will be shooting for another mark after winning an unprecedented third consecutive National Collegiate Club Division III title in 2008. After playing for and capturing the Division III title recently, the Lions will now strive for the National Collegiate Club Championship as Lindenwood will go for the division's automatic bid to the NCCC tournament this fall. Athletes to watch include 2007 and 2008 Missouri Valley Division Most Valuable Player Sharn Appel, in addition to Justin Bowers, Aaron Saule, Anton Milner, Andre Bovis-Lucki and Gregor Becker among others.

Lindenwood University "B"

The 2009 season marks the sixth consecutive year that Lindenwood University will field both an "A" and a "B" team.

Miami University (Ohio)

Miami will turn to seniors Kirk Bennett, Drew Bollea, Mike Duggan, Matt Foody, Dennis Grimm, Matt Preston and Will Hewitt to lead the team in the aftermath of a 5-4 loss to the University of Illinois-Chicago in the 2008 Missouri Valley Division semifinals to ultimately place third in the division. The team took the loss hard, not to mention the graduation of key playmakers such as Jeff Cammon and Ross McConnell. With no formal coach, and the help of many talented underclassmen, Miami will seek to return to the National Collegiate Club Championship and make this season one for the record books.

Northern Illinois University

Northern Illinois will seek to improve on its eighth place finish at the 2008 Missouri Valley Division Championship.

Saint Louis University

As Saint Louis returns for its second year in the CWPA, the Billikens will work to improve upon their fourth place rookie year finish. This year, the Billikens will rely on an improving core group of players, which loses only one contributor from last year, to make a run for the Missouri Valley title. The offense will be anchored by Steve Warner, Pat Donovan and Greg Keogh, who will be expected to cause havoc for opposing defenses. The offense will also benefit from the addition of freshmen John Heafner and Craig Borkovec. Sophomores Kevin

Arnold and Michael Kubik should also be key contributors. The Bilkens' game, however, will feed off of their suffocating defense, led by co-captains Ray Kreienkamp and Pete Cosentino. Freshman Michael O'Neill will also be expected to add depth in defending two-meters. Netminder and senior Tony Kruse looks to keep opponents searching for answers with his experience and skill in cage.

University of Missouri

Missouri is looking at the end of a long rebuilding period following a 10th place finish in the Missouri Valley Division a year ago. Thanks to a young, strong base of new players, Mizzou is building momentum to be a force in the division. Returning starters Joseph Trad, Marc Philips, Chris Frimel and Andrew Withington will stop at nothing to make this year the first of many remarkable seasons.

Washington University (Mo.)

On the heels of a sixth place finish at the division championship tournament, Washington will aim to move up in the Missouri Valley Division and take a shot at winning the National Collegiate Club Division III title.

Western Illinois University

Northern Illinois will seek to improve on its ninth place finish at the 2008 Missouri Valley Division Championship.

NEW ENGLAND DIVISION

Boston College

Boston College enters the season with high expectations after a 7-6 loss to Dartmouth College in the 2008 New England Division title game. Although the Eagles lost one of their top field players and starting goalie to graduation, a stable of rising sophomores and juniors are anticipated to capitalize on their newfound experience to fill the holes around and in the cage. The hope is that these young players mixed with the few experienced seniors on the team can keep Boston College in the running for a league title.

Boston University

Boston University enters its third season in the New England Division with the majority of its starters from last season. David Saxon led the team in scoring last season, followed by Paul Toran. Jon Freedman emerged as a true team leader during the spring. Eric Choi boasts the intangibles needed for a championship program, while Florian Dhondt and Andrew Matsas will be much improved with a season of collegiate water polo under their suits. Jeremy Butz and Konrad Szupinski are emblematic of the Terriers exuding unselfish play to help BU win the New England title.

Dartmouth College

Dartmouth enters the new season looking to follow up its division championship and eighth place finish at the 2008 National Collegiate Club Championship from a year ago. Despite losing five key players to graduation, the addition of veteran Ali Titiz and the leadership of captains Scott Sorensen, Doug Nelson and Charlie Friedland is sure to help the Big Green remain a potent force in the New England Division. Nelson will fill a gap guarding two-meters, while Sorensen will contribute with his sharpshooting from the perimeter. The team will also rely on sophomores as the Big Green have their sights set on a second consecutive visit to the National tournament and will be training hard to make it back.

Middlebury College

Middlebury's season looks promising as it returns five of its seven starters. Captains Patrick Burton, Zach DeVore and Jay Li will lead the Panthers this year. Seniors Can Celebi and Chris Stonerook will also provide direction, along with sophomore Andre Keiser. Second year players Robert Daly, Randall Collins, Jeff Haswell and Peter Hirsch look to leave their mark in the pool this year. Returning goalie Erik Shaw further enhances the Panthers' defense, while freshmen Eddie Hall and Sidney Weinberg seek to impart some youthful vigor to the team. The determined Middlebury squad will draw upon the wisdom of coaches Brian Goodwin and Tom McGinn, learning from seasons past and the international experiences of their players, to make a run at the division championship and beyond.

University of Massachusetts

Massachusetts will build upon a successful 2008 season in which the Minutemen finished seventh in the division race. Although the UMass club has only been in the Collegiate Water Polo Association for a few years, the team looks to establish itself as a force in the New England Division and a strong contender in the league. The Minutemen will depend upon the hard work and dedication of their returning and new players to bring home a New England Division title.

Wesleyan University

After finding a style of play that best suits the team's strengths, Wesleyan finished last season in fifth place at the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship hosted by Villanova University. Due to their entire team returning and several dynamic recruits joining the veterans in the pool, the Cardinals are expecting to experience a breakout season and improve on their sixth place finish in the New England Division from a year ago.

Williams College

Williams enters the 2009 season with a solid game plan and great expectations. Leading the charge for the Ephmen is a strong and experienced senior class with knowledgeable players such as Nick Herzik, Eddie Layng, and Rob Hannigan -- some of whom have been teammates on the starting squad since the 2006 season. Having graduated just two players last year, Williams remains largely intact and is looking forward to taking lessons from a mediocre finish last year to return to the New England Division tournament as a dominant force -- a fond memory for the seniors who claimed the New England title during their freshman year. The seniors are joined in their determination by solid junior and sophomore classes. Justin Marsh, Ben Wampler and John Guiffre look forward to hitting the pool and putting some points on the board. A number of freshmen will also join Williams this year as the Ephs hope to return to the top of the division standings.

Yale University

Yale enters the season prepared to build upon its strong campaign last fall in which the team took third in the New England Division. With the graduation of seniors David Gerstle and Paul Randt, Yale has some voids to fill at two-meter offense and in goal, but with the improvement of junior utility player Paul Orland and the arrival of freshman goalie Dan Kelly, these look to be fleeting setbacks. Returning All-Conference drivers Thomas Lazzarini and David Skophammer seek to continue their offensive dominance, while seniors Thomas Thorpe and Jay Kim will be relied upon for their defensive prowess. Graduate student Ross Macdonald and junior Andy Gordon will receive substantial playing time while Yale looks to have a successful fall season.

Binghamton University

Binghamton comes into this season with hopes of building off last year's seventh place finish in the division. After losing two key players in Nick Drohan and New York Division two-time All-Conference player Michael Ryan, the Bearcats will be relying on a few key players this coming season, including sophomore Vladimir Gudovich and junior James Stավdal, to lead the team on the offensive side. Binghamton's two-meter offense and defense will be stable this year with the emergence of sophomore Anthony Fiore and junior Kyle Seeley. However, the team's greatest strength will be at the goalkeeping position as Jeremiah Deboever and Russell Drake have proved to be a force to be reckoned with in cage.

Colgate University

Colgate is eager to redeem itself for an unsatisfactory season in which the program placed sixth in the 2008 New York Division standings. Led by senior Kevin Williams and junior Jason Cohen at two-meters and the combination of senior Adam Weisbarth and juniors Greg Reutershan and Parker Caldwell at the point position, the Raiders are set to make a run at the title. Although the team will miss Scott Dunlavey, Robert Bisnoff, Jamie Reutershan and Igor Spacenko, newcomers Donald Molten, Adam Drake and Michael Schon give the team reason to be excited about the future. Returning senior veterans Carl Ruggiero and Steffan Pierre will also prove invaluable this season, especially as Pierre fills a devastating gap in the goalie position that was quite difficult for the Raiders while he was studying abroad last year. Colgate expects scoring potential at each position and has high expectations for juniors Tim McGillicuddy, Lenny Frenkel and Youyou Qiu.

Columbia University

Following the loss of several key players, including two-year captain Joseph Matuk and two-meter Alexi Shaw, Columbia looks to reload in order to defend last year's division title and 13th place finish at the National Collegiate Club Championship. New captain Chris Vola will be counted on to lead the squad with help from veterans James Hao, Akhil Mehta and Colin Weltin-Wu. Returning starters Vola and sophomore Daniel Kirel are expected to lead the attack with goalie Alexandre Wright anchoring the defense. Graduate student Musa Kurdi should contribute solid play, while sophomores Keating McKeon, Willie Avendano and Max Banaszek continue to develop as players. Incoming talent, such as Will Reid and Jacob Tulipan, is expected to step in and help the Lions recapture the New York Division.

Cornell University

Coming off a fourth place finish in last year's New York Division Championship, Cornell returns a strong core of players hungry for a top finish in 2009. Seniors Alex Calderon, Chris Rubacha and goalie Jeff Kaufman will lead the team with their craftiness, experience and fortitude. Junguk Choi, Gabe Gershenfeld, George Yorgakaras, and Joel Sun form a formidable junior class, and second-year players Chris Moe, Doug Greer and Eric Yu are expected to build on their impressive rookie debuts. Sophomores Daniil Shalmiyev, Graham Webster and Adam Schuit continue to improve while the Big Red look forward to the emergence of newcomer Sam Thorpe and the return of Sean Lyons and Mike Rozner. Under the guidance of coach Yuval Grossman, Cornell has high hopes for the season.

Hamilton College

Hamilton College enters the New York Division in 2009 with a young and competitive roster. Led by juniors Chris DeConinck, Jake DeConinck and Andrew McDermott, the Continentals plan to rely on their experience to secure a successful season. Many of Hamilton's players have competed at the high school varsity level and will see significant playing time, including senior Logan Burruss, junior Kevin FitzPatrick and sophomores Tom Cyran, Jon Fung and Ryan Park. Others, like seniors Steve Chaponis, Jared Mareness and Clay Masters, and sophomores Mike Brennan and James Crafa, are novices at the sport but have picked up the game quickly through practice.

New York University

After another successful season for NYU with an undefeated mark in regular season play, the team suffered a setback by placing third at the 2008 New York Division Championship tournament. However, the squad bounced back and took second place at the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship. On offense NYU is led by Markus Quinn, while team steals leader and captain David Myre leads the stoppers. Lourenzo Araujo, Ben Granas and John Cynn should fill the voids left by last year's large senior class. While depth might be a concern, the starting players bring talent and a desire to win that should return them to the top of the New York Division and a return trip to the postseason.

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute

Rensselaer Polytechnic will seek to improve upon its eighth place finish at the 2008 New York Division Championship.

Syracuse University

Syracuse returns in 2009 with a strong starting lineup and bench. The team will once again expect spectacular play from graduate student Mario Martone and strong defensive fronts by junior Pete Smith and sophomore goalie John O'Sullivan. Alongside those two, the Orangemen will rely on the outside sharp-shooting of sophomore Tucker Scherger, who exploded as a rookie to rank among the 'Cuse scoring leaders. He'll be supported by fellow sophomore Troy Karski and graduate student Carl Ward. However, the team's success will lay in the hands of seniors Spencer Raymond, Danny Barry and Bryan Young who have a goal to finish their careers with a New York Division championship title.

United States Military Academy

The United States Military Academy water polo team is coming into 2009 in the wake of finishing second in the New York Division for the third year in a row. Last year, the squad finished 7-1 during the regular season and fell to Columbia in the New York Division Championship game.

Amherst College

After finishing third in last year's North Atlantic Championship, the Yo-Ho Penguins are looking forward to another strong season. Fielding one of the strongest groups of experienced upperclassmen that the team has seen in years, Amherst is glad to finally bring some matches to its home tank. Among the notable returning talent this year are senior captains Kendall Dacey and Spencer Haught, juniors Alex Fraser and Reid Fitzgerald, and sophomore Ethan Balgley. In addition, the team will be introducing new goalie Julia Eichenfield who is returning to the game after a brief absence.

Bates College

Bates will seek to improve on a seventh place finish in the North Atlantic Division and contend for the program's fifth division title after capturing the 1999-2002 crowns.

Bowdoin College

The host of this season's Division III National Collegiate Club Championship, the Bowdoin Polar Bears will strive to improve on a fifth place finish at the 2008 North Atlantic Division tournament.

Colby College

Colby looks to have a strong year, despite losing several seniors from a team that finished fourth in the division. California native Mason Roberts will take up the position of lead goal scorer with a strong perimeter offense. Also look for strong performances from lefty Ray Rieling and all-around playmaker Ryan Fisher. Filling the important void at two-meters will be captain Jim Rockafellow. A strong defense will back-up the offense featuring Reilly Taylor and Keril O'Neil. Goalie Doug Newkirk should have a stellar year after an injury prevented him from finishing last season.

Trinity College (Conn.)

Trinity is currently rebuilding its team due to several of its players either being abroad or having graduated. Due to this fact, the team will have to rely on some newer players to step up and fill in the gaps for a program that finished sixth in the New England Division last year.

Tufts University

Tufts returns after an impressive 8-0 regular season in 2008 as the Jumbos placed second in the division by falling to the Coast Guard Academy Bears 9-8 in the division title game. However, Tufts got its revenge at the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship by knocking off USCG 7-6 to finish third in the final championship standings.

United States Coast Guard Academy

The United States Coast Guard Academy Bears come into the season after winning their first ever division title and placing fourth at the Division III National Collegiate Club Championship. The team is lead by First Team All-America selection Mark Tatara. Overall, the Bears offense is supported by Tim Berry, Alex Brown, Liam Bell and Mitch Schumacher, while the USCG defense has a new addition in freshman George Thomas at starting goalie. Despite losing seven seniors, five of which were starters, the underclassmen are stepping in to fill their shoes in hope of a second division championship and another shot at the Division III Collegiate Club Championship.

University of Vermont

Vermont looks to rebuild this year after losing six starting seniors. Even though the Catamounts may be among the youngest squads in the league, with no seniors on the roster, no one should overlook them due to a well-balanced attack featuring speed, accuracy and power. Derek Wolf, the team's leading scorer, will be pushed by fellow sharpshooters Jesse Zastro, Drew Eberts and Chris Lund for the scoring title. This year will mark the first time the Catamounts will host a CWPA event as Vermont is scheduled as the site of the division opener on the weekend of September 19-20.

Central Washington University

Central Washington will seek to improve on last season's sixth place finish in the Northwest Division. While returning most of last season's starting lineup, the Wildcats hope to experience a successful year with returning athletes Sam Clark, Jordan Brouillet, Darrell Kangiser, Anthony St. Pierre, Mark Lewis, Lucas Larson and in the goal, Aaron Anderson. Central Washington also has a deep and talented bench returning to bolster the incoming freshmen.

Oregon State University

Oregon State looks to bounce back from a disappointing finish in 2008 after placing third in the final standings. Returning players Ian Simon, Erik Rottman, Zeno Helm and Jonathan Gabriel help make an Oregon State title run possible as the Beavers return six of seven starters and a very deep bench.

University of Oregon

After an impressive sixth place finish at the National Collegiate Club Championship, the men of Oregon return with even higher expectations for the 2009 season. Still a relatively young team, the Ducks are led by seasoned veterans Matthew Silliman and Andrew Del Carlo. Silliman possesses an accurate outside shot, while Del Carlo's all-around game makes him one of the biggest threats in the Pacific Northwest. Returning this season is senior Bobby Martini, whose speed and hustle also make him a threat. Left-handers Zac Yensen and Taylor Hedges are trouble in and out of set, while juniors Conor Broom and Kyle Wilson return to deliver a lethal mix of brute strength and cunning. Goalie/field player Anthony Nuccio is a double threat - quick in the cage and athletic in the field. Thomas Traudt and Taylor Cole return after taking a year off to hone their skills, while fellow juniors Sam Condon and Garrett Van Zanten continue to rise to meet any challenges. Rounding out the Ducks' impressive line-up are the newest additions to the pack as Shawn Gilmore, Nick Kish, Matt Bissel, Jake Allen, Zack Chinn and Justin Pomeranke look to become big threats in the upcoming season.

University of Portland

Portland is looking to come out strong this year and improve on its seventh place finish in the Northwest Division from a year ago.

University of Washington

The Washington Huskies are as hungry as ever to claim the Northwest Division championship title having worked hard during the off-season with one goal in mind: to avenge their 13-12 loss in last year's epic title game against Oregon. Captains Arad Abadi and Riley Brazil have put together a roster of outstanding returning players such as Phil Roan, Tony Raubitschek, Justin Rohrer, Rick Farmer,

Michael Moshofsky and Sam Sussman who are supported by new talents such as Eric Epler, Thomas Stowell, Kevin Faulkner and Travis Clark. The team will rely on the guidance of their tireless coaches Mike Dempsey, Shawn Turner and Chris Gilroy to dethrone the Ducks and regain the upper hand in the division.

Washington State University

Washington State turns to new team leadership in order to remain competitive in the Northwest Division. 2008 All-Conference First Team player Brent Tollefson will use his experience and extensive knowledge of the sport in order to lead the Cougars in what is expected to be a reorganization year. Gavin Tronstet returns to defend the goal for his third season with help from talented field players Carl Bohm, Matt Wyszogrodski, Casey McDonald, Pat Bauer and Madelyn Langford. Developing a powerful and alert defense will be a crucial factor in the team's success.

Western Washington University

Western Washington comes into this year's season with high hopes. Having lost one starting player from the 2008 team which placed fourth in the Northwest Division, the team's goal is to make it to the league championship game.

PACIFIC COAST DIVISION

California Polytechnic State University

Returning most of the 2008 National Collegiate Club Championship runner-up squad, Cal Poly expects to dominate the league and compete for the National Championship once again in 2009. Among the most successful water polo programs in the history of the Collegiate Club ranks, the Mustangs will seek to avenge last year's title game loss to Michigan State University and claim the program's sixth National Championship.

California State University-Chico

Coming off a breakout season, Chico enters with hopes to repeat as a Top Five finisher in the division after going 9-3 and placing fifth last year. Peter Jacobs and Justin Short will lead the offense, while the defense will boast several lines of potent stopping power in front of goalie Taylor Kudell. Chico will have a deep roster with many potentially strong players and outstanding athletes.

California State University-Fresno

Fresno State is building on its growth over the past few seasons and will continue to look to a core group of players to challenge in the Pacific Coast Division. The play of returning starters Evan Baird, Mike Sandoval and Ryan Stiner, as well as numerous other veteran players, will be key to helping the Bulldogs to the top of the division. On defense, Fresno State is expected to start a prospect in goal and focus on being aggressive against other teams' offense.

California State University-Maritime Academy

The Cal Maritime Keelhaulers return on the heels of an eighth place finish at the 2008 Pacific Coast Division Championship.

Saint Mary's College (Calif.)

Saint Mary's placed 15th in the Pacific Coast Division in 2008 and will strive to establish a program best mark in the new season after placing fourth in 2003.

San Diego State University

San Diego State enters its second season with junior Greg White playing two-meter offense and junior Trevor Abbey locking down two-meter defense. The Aztecs will also rely on outside shooting from Ryan Rainbolt, Dan Ebert, Spencer Sellers and Brian Aster. Under coach Sean Green, SDSU hopes to become more competitive in the Pacific Coast Division and is excited to grow as a team.

San Jose State University

San Jose State will depend upon the strengths of its underclassmen following the departure of several seniors and players. Competition for the starting position in the goal will be fierce with five goalies on the roster. Two sophomores to watch will be Greg Hightower and Sam Sowko. Veteran seniors Robert Prince, John Wagner and Sean McDonough will be greater offensive threats at two-meters for the Spartans. Freshmen Ben Scofield, Matt Bragg will bring speed to the squad as SJSU hopes to finish among the Top Five teams in the Pacific Coast Division-Northern Region.

Stanford University

Stanford's club team is in its third year and is looking to continue its spring season success. Although the team struggled in 2008 while getting its footing against some of the nation's best collegiate club teams, the Cardinal should improve on their 12th place finish in the Pacific Coast Division.

University of California-Berkeley

Following a 10-1 freshman season in which the team did not lose until the Regional semifinals, California is looking forward to another successful season. Cal's high aspirations are backed by the fact that they have not lost a single player from last year's successful team and have added more talent to an already loaded roster. Leading scorer Jay Stampfl returns, as well as solid two-meter defender and offensive threat Jackson Sharf. David Wright will play a major role in running the powerful offense highlighted by the speed and agility of Carson McDaniel, the experience of David Soderberg and the shot of lefthander John Chan. Nathan Lorenzen will continue to be a powerful force at set and will be supported by Erik Stromlund who is returning from playing in Eastern Europe. Payton Marshall continues as the final line of defense in cage with the rest of the starters supported by an extremely talented bench that holds equally qualified and talented players.

University of California-Davis

UC-Davis is looking to get back on track after a down year which saw an unfortunate suspension leading to a disappointing season for the Aggies. UC-Davis expects to return to the No. 1 spot in the Pacific Coast Division and in the national scene led by junior two-meter set David Svendsen, two-meter guard Matt Calhoun and drivers Dino Sulprizio, Andrew McAllister, Mason McMullin, Jeremy Crane and Jorge Sifontes. This year's team has plenty of experience with high expectations for the 2009 season.

University of California-Davis "B"

UC-Davis "B" is comprised mostly of incoming freshmen and those who are still grasping the concepts of water polo. While the "B"-squad will be young, the UC-Davis coaches expect them to represent Aggies' water polo with hard play, hustle and team execution. Training alongside the "A"-team, the "B"-team will gain valuable experience that is sure to benefit the Davis program in the future.

University of California-Irvine

This year marks the inclusion of UC-Irvine's first men's club team as the Anteaters have centered their ambitions on establishing their program as a competitive entity in the Pacific Coast Division.

University of California-Los Angeles

UCLA finished sixth in the 2008 final poll and looks to improve upon that finish a year later. Despite losing two four-year starters in Andy Akers and Chris Soper, the Bruins return with All-America selection Matt Wiener who will lead the team along with fellow captain Caleb Greig. In addition, the Bruins return all-league honorees Mike Scott and Eric Vallone, who will try to improve on UCLA's 10-1 Pacific Division record, with the only blemish coming via a 9-8 overtime loss to Cal Poly in the Pacific Coast Division title game.

University of California-San Diego

UC-San Diego brings a strong goalie presence as well as powerful offensive and defensive two-meter men to the Pacific Coast Division. Combined with efficient drivers, UC-San Diego looks to win the Pacific Coast and National Championships after placing seventh in the division last year.

University of California-Santa Barbara

UC-Santa Barbara comes into the new season with its returning upperclassmen being joined by multiple promising sophomores. Having lost only one senior following a fourth place finish in the Pacific Coast Division last year, Santa Barbara remains a powerhouse for years to come. Leading the defense for the Gauchos are returning veterans Chase Motley and Kyle Shobe, combined with offensive powderkegs Colin Gerber and Anton Sapoznikov. The team is aided by veteran player Frank Hurd, in addition to juniors Emmett Bloom and David Edberg. An extensive number of returning sophomores form the present and future strength of the club with Sean Towers, Aidan Lenihan and Sean Ison aiding the team's efforts.

University of San Diego

UC-San Diego will seek to move up the Pacific Coast Division standings following a 14th place finish in 2008.

University of Southern California

The Trojans enter the season seeking to put to rest a disappointing 2008 campaign in which the club placed ninth in the final Pacific Coast Division standings. Despite returning most of its starters a year ago, USC narrowly missed the playoffs due in large part to chronic uncertainty at the goalie position. This year, the Trojans return all but one of their core as utility defender Eric Hanyak graduated to a career. Seniors Jesse Farquhar and Drake Arnold are expected to lead Southern Cal, delivering a one-two punch at the two-meter position, while junior Tristan Krautkramer and sophomore Tim Brochier should contribute speed in the counterattack for the Trojans. Senior John Landon and juniors Josh Busse and Colin Dwyer will see substantial playing time, as well.

Colorado State University

Colorado State comes into this season with high hopes following last year's third place finish in the Rocky Mountain Division. The Rams have three returning All-Conference players and look to use these weapons to put goals on the board. Three of last year's top scoring players will be returning as Huba Harskuti, Rafael Vidal and Andrew Isaacson and the Rams hope to keep the offensive pressure on their opponents. Led by a new coach, CSU hopes to improve on its close losses to division opponents.

University of Colorado "A"

Coming off a 6-2 regular season record and a championship in the Rocky Mountain Division, the Buffaloes of Colorado are primed to defend their division title and improve on the program's 12th place finish at last year's National Collegiate Club Championship hosted by Ohio University. The title marked the third championship in the history of the Colorado men's program as the team previously won the 1998 and 2001 Southwest Division crowns.

University of Colorado "B"

Colorado "B" team will attempt to move up the division rankings after a fifth place finish at the 2008 Rocky Mountain Division Championship Tournament.

University of Denver

The Denver Pioneers will need to recruit quickly this year as the Rocky Mountain Division's first tournament is less than one week after classes begin on campus. After the departure of five seniors from the 2008 roster, only a few veteran players are expected to return including sophomores Tricia Whitaker, Katie Warner and Janna Taylor, and junior Katie Bernell. Sophomores Matt Gill and Adam Cyr and senior Chris Adams are expected to be the program's top scorers, while Paul Davis, the Denver goalie with the most shots blocked during the 2008 season, will also be returning as the Pioneers seek to surpass a fourth place finish in the division from a year ago.

University of Utah "A"

Utah anticipates an exciting and successful 2009 season. After a disappointing finish in 2008 in which the team went 8-0 during the regular season and advanced to the division title game before falling 12-8 to Colorado, Utah welcomes back several key players, a talented class of freshman and a new head coach. Expect great things from this team, as they eye goals of winning the Rocky Mountain Division title and finishing among the top teams in the nation after achieving both goals during the 2007 season.

Auburn University

Auburn heads into the fall campaign primed to move up the Southeast Division standings after placing fifth last season. Watch for Andrew Eick, Patrick Gilday, Joey Kirkpatrick, Danny Gutierrez, Logan McKenney, Donnie Decker, Michael Thompson, Nick Walsh and Billy Callahan to have a major impact for the Tigers this year.

Clemson University

Entering its sixth season as a Collegiate Water Polo Association club team, Clemson has made a habit of recruiting ex-swimmers and turning them into water polo players. On the heels of the most successful year in the history of the team in which the club placed fourth in the Southeast Division, the Tigers look forward to the challenge of improving, even with the loss of seven key members. Among the seven lost were the starting goalie and two leading goal scorers. However, with many promising young players and several experienced veterans returning, the team is excited about the tough competition in the fall.

Georgia Institute of Technology

After capturing the Southeast Division and an automatic bid to the National Collegiate Club Championship for a second consecutive year, Georgia Tech plans to improve team dynamics in order to win the Southeast for the fifth time in program history and ramble to the National Collegiate Club Championship at the University of Florida. The Yellow Jackets plan on accomplishing this by focusing on team chemistry and water polo fundamentals. Led by experienced players Steve Kuehne, Taylor Weiss, Erica Lance, Kim Weaver and Brian Twynham, Tech hopes to effectively train its freshman and improve the play of the returning players. With the prospect of having an incoming freshman class of eight players, Georgia Tech will rely on its younger players to fill in gaps caused by the graduation of key players Logan McLeod and Nate Brown. Rising sophomores Steve Larson, Steve Winton and Lex Overholt need to continue gaining confidence so that they may lead Tech to future victories. The return of veteran coaches Manny Torres and Kasi David provide the Ramblin' Wreck with a support system that will continue to improve the team dynamic.

University of Georgia

Georgia enters the new season after placing third in the Southeast last year, but will not settle for anything less than a bid to the National Collegiate Club Championship at Florida this season. Under the leadership of coach Will Hambry-Hopkins, the Bulldogs are motivated to return to the Southeast Division title game for the first time since 2007 and punch their ticket to Gainesville, Fla. for a shot at the title.

University of Tennessee

Tennessee finished second in the Southeast Division thanks to one of the greatest championship tournament turnarounds in collegiate club history. Following a 1-7 regular season, the Volunteers rolled through the division tournament to advance to the title game before falling to Georgia Tech. As only a handful of players return from last year's lineup, the team is entering the season in a personnel restructuring mode. Relying heavily on seniors and captains Chris Cox and Drew Rhodes for advice and leadership, the Volunteers could be the surprise team of the division once again. The offense will be anchored by the strong play of senior Louis Revenig, whose combination of speed, veteran leadership and experience could make for a strong presence in front of the cage. Sophomores David Whaley, James Hulsey and Joey Moran are penciled in to see substantial playing time and will be counted on to keep Tennessee competitive. UT will look to goalie and senior Charlie Carr to be a strong defensive force and a significant contributor to the team. Led by knowledgeable alumni coaching from the deck, the Volunteers hope to be highly competitive in the realms of conference play.

Vanderbilt University

Vanderbilt has set the bar high for its first season in the Collegiate Water Polo Association. Focused and driven by the leadership of dedicated team members captain Greg Larson, center-defender Reid Bartlett and center Matt Popkin, the Commodores return to the natatorium this fall with five starters from last season and plenty of young swimmers with speed to fill out the roster. The Vanderbilt student-athletes are inspired to make their inaugural season in the league a success and make an immediate impact in the Southeast Division.

Arizona State University "A"

In only their fourth season as a team, the Sun Devils return most of the personnel from last year's team that knocked off the University of Arizona 11-9 in the Southwest Division title game and placed third at the National Collegiate Club Championship Tournament via a 7-3 victory over the University of Florida. Key among the returning players are Alan Nguyen, Andrew Lowe, Anthony Cusumano, Cory Peterson, Dave Wied, Derek Byrd, Joey Sparks, Joshua Phillips, Luke Shafer, Marc Arroyo, Matt Bloch, Matt Susdorf, Sam Grucky, Steve Wurm, Tyler Oakes and Wesley Sjolholm. In addition, the Sun Devils have added their usual strong class of incoming freshman to help bolster an already fearsome roster.

Arizona State University "B"

Profile not available

Northern Arizona University

Northern Arizona, which is coming off a fifth place finish in the Southwest Division, looks forward to another season of water polo. The Lumberjacks are starting out strong with 11 returning players and a few new recruits who show the potential to push the veterans. Under new leadership, the team is looking to advance further in 2009 and contend for one of the top spots in the division standings.

University of Arizona "A"

After a run of National Collegiate Club Championship appearances, including six straight Final Four appearances, the Wildcats fell short in the division race last year to a talented Arizona State team, but come back hungrier than ever to make a championship tournament appearance in 2009. New coach Chris van den Berg will provide needed leadership, instruction and experience for a program that returns four starters. Leading the way on offense for the 'Cats is senior Alex Negronida and junior Taylor Knowles, while a strong defensive unit will be led by seniors Cameron Simmons and Michael Meier. Alex Williams, Bret Krouskup, Sam Binkow and Rob Muirhead provide Arizona with valuable utility players that are able to contribute on both ends of the pool. Senior Evan Zaggy will be stopping the shots in goal.

University of Arizona "B"

The Arizona "B"-team is coming off a third place finish at the 2008 Southwest Division Championship, a mark the team would like to improve upon to set up an All-Arizona Southwest Division title game.

University of New Mexico

New Mexico returns to the Southwest Division following a second-straight fourth place finish. The Lobos are amidst a rebuilding process brought on by the graduation of a solid group of seniors. Despite the return of a few experienced players, the team will need to develop some cohesion if it wishes to compete against the upper echelon of the division. Some key strategies include implementing a massive recruiting campaign and an intense training program to strengthen the players for the challenges ahead. Despite a lack of experience, the Lobos anticipate a successful season.

Baylor University

Baylor's outlook for the 2009 season is bright after a solid 2008 showing highlighted by a fifth place finish in the Texas Division. The team returns six sophomores, led by team captain Will Havens, and last year's scoring leader, Joseph Kirasich. Brian Sanders is back in the goal while Jeff Haver, Preston Wickersham and Andrew Henningsen return to lead the charge on the defensive end. Veterans Andrej Pogribny, Cameron Roeber and Jeff Dugan add stability and leadership to an otherwise young team. The Bears also expect significant contributions from newcomers Jake Brown, Mason Mcbee and Ryan Nealeigh. Baylor figures to try to use its speed early and often to take control of matches.

Rice University

Rice will seek to rebound from a season that third person experts have labeled as "challenging" due to the presence of perennial powerhouses Texas A&M and Texas in the division. Playing in front of goalkeeper Bryant Chan, the Owls will hope to overcome offensive struggles with solid defense. In the field, the team seeks to exploit the strengths of Jason Buckert, Craig Labatte and Edgardo dos Santos on offense. Further, Rice is seeking to expand its roster through the new underclassmen to add fresh talent in the pool.

Texas A&M University

Texas A&M hopes to continue its recent success from the past season during which the Aggies won the Texas Division for the second year in a row and had one of the best finishes in team history. The squad placed ninth at the 2008 National Collegiate Club Championship at Ohio University after placing 13th at the 2007 National Championship hosted by the University of Arizona. A&M lost three starters, but will look towards Jake Smith and Dustin Parker to step in and fill the necessary spots in the line-up vacated by the losses. Add in the presence of two-time Most Valuable Player Matt Davis at two-meters, newcomers such as Andrew MacDonald, and the speed of Wesley Fikes and Cameron Glass to an already explosive line-up and the Aggies appear primed to repeat as champions. On defense, Brian Coyle will anchor the Texas A&M stoppers with his tremendous shot-blocking talent, while goalies Kevin Goebel and Blake Burns both have the ability to shut down any team.

Texas State University

Texas State has several veteran returning players ready to put their team back among the leaders of the division. All-Conference player Kris Rhine and goalie Corey St. Lawrence are two players to watch for this year, while co-captains Alistair Laing and Nathan Galvan will lead Texas State into the new year with hopes of improving on the squad's eighth place finish in the division from a year ago. Jon Walden, Wes Poirer and Jim Locus are entering their final season, but their leadership will help the new recruits find their place on the 2009 Bobcats.

Texas Tech University

Texas Tech, which has placed fourth in the Texas Division during the program's first two years of competition in the Collegiate Water Polo Association, anticipates a large incoming freshman class to add to the currently experienced lineup. Stephen Bartz, John Wappelhorst, Cory Desmarais and Greg Preston intend to lead the team to a Top Four finish for the third consecutive year. Meanwhile, Johjanes Sanchez has an extra year of experience in the cage and will be a tough last-line of defense for opponents to overcome.

University of Houston

The University of Houston enters 2009 looking to build on a third place finish at the Texas Division Championship. Five starters return for the Cougars, led by Jon Fouty and Jesh Kapila, both of whom will look to exploit offensive mismatches as UH should contend for its first conference title.

University of Texas "A"

The 2003-06 Texas Division champion, Texas will work to continue its recent success from the past several seasons. A strong core of veterans return and several promising freshmen are slated to make contributions this year. The team looks forward to fighting for the Texas Division title in the wake of dropping the crown to Texas A&M during the past two years, including a narrow 6-5 defeat in the 2008 Texas Division title game. Team captains Hunter Henderson and Justin Cotter are expected to guide the team both in and out of the pool. Henderson will control the defense from the goal and Cotter will set the tone with his aggressive driving. Offense from the two-meter position will be provided by John Littlepage and Jonathan Berezin as the Longhorns will also receive offensive support from drivers Matt Johnson, Alex Hacopian and Bryan Byrnes. Defensive pressure will be felt from two-meter guards Brett Jensen and Phillip Denkler. Look for newcomers Jackson Gould and Kieran Kapila to have a major impact by the division championship tournament.

University of Texas "B"

Texas "B" will seek to improve on the team's sixth place finish at the 2008 Texas Division Championship.

PoloBase

Water Polo Event Manager

PoloBase is the only fully-integrated scoring system for water polo for use by high school, collegiate, open, and club teams. With PoloBase, one person can run the entire scoring table with ease. PoloBase includes:

- One-button game and shot clock management
  - Game score sheet and box score reports
  - On-demand reports, including team and athlete stats
  - Scoreboard display manager

Designed by a USWP "A"-rated referee with more than 30 years experience in software development, PoloBase is available in a Base edition, an entry-level Club edition, and a FINA-compliant International edition.

PoloBase is an Official Supplier of the CWPA.

PoloBase meets all requirements of USWP, NFHS, NCAA, and CWPA.

PoloBase was used at the:

- 2001 National Junior Olympics in Ann Arbor, MI
- 2004 Men's National Collegiate Club Championships at Notre Dame University
- 2005 NCAA Women's National Championships at the University of Michigan

"PoloBase software is incredibly simple to use, and it permits teams to manage the desk with fewer people. This will make it much easier for teams to organize and run events, knowing they need less staff."

— Dan Sharadin
Commissioner, CWPA

"PoloBase software significantly reduces the chance of table errors. This allows our officials to focus more on the flow of the game and creates a better playing environment for the athletes, the coaches, and even the fans."

— Tom Tracey
Director of Officials, CWPA

"I ran PoloBase at the Junior Olympics and the Michigan Boys and Girls High School State Championship tournaments. Workers actually have fun using PoloBase!"

— David Stover
Ann Arbor Pioneer High School
