

UNDERSTANDING THE GAME OF WATER POLO

Water Polo can be a confusing game for spectators. The whistle is constantly blowing and the play never stops, even when someone is ejected for a penalty. In addition, there are many misconceptions about the game, including how the players keep their horses swimming. Well hang in there, because the following information should help to make the picture much clearer.

General Information

1. Each team has six field players and a goalie.
2. Field players can only use one hand to touch the ball, goalies two.
3. Games consist of 7-minute quarters for club divisions, 8-minute quarters for varsity divisions.
4. The object of the game is to score by placing the ball completely in the goal. Players may move the ball by swimming or passing.
5. Teams may substitute after a goal is scored, during a time-out or during the play from the ejection area.
6. Each team receives three time-outs and one 20-second time-out per game.
7. Shots blocked out of bounds by defensive players result in the defensive team receiving possession. If a defender uses two hands to block a shot, the offensive team receives a penalty shot.

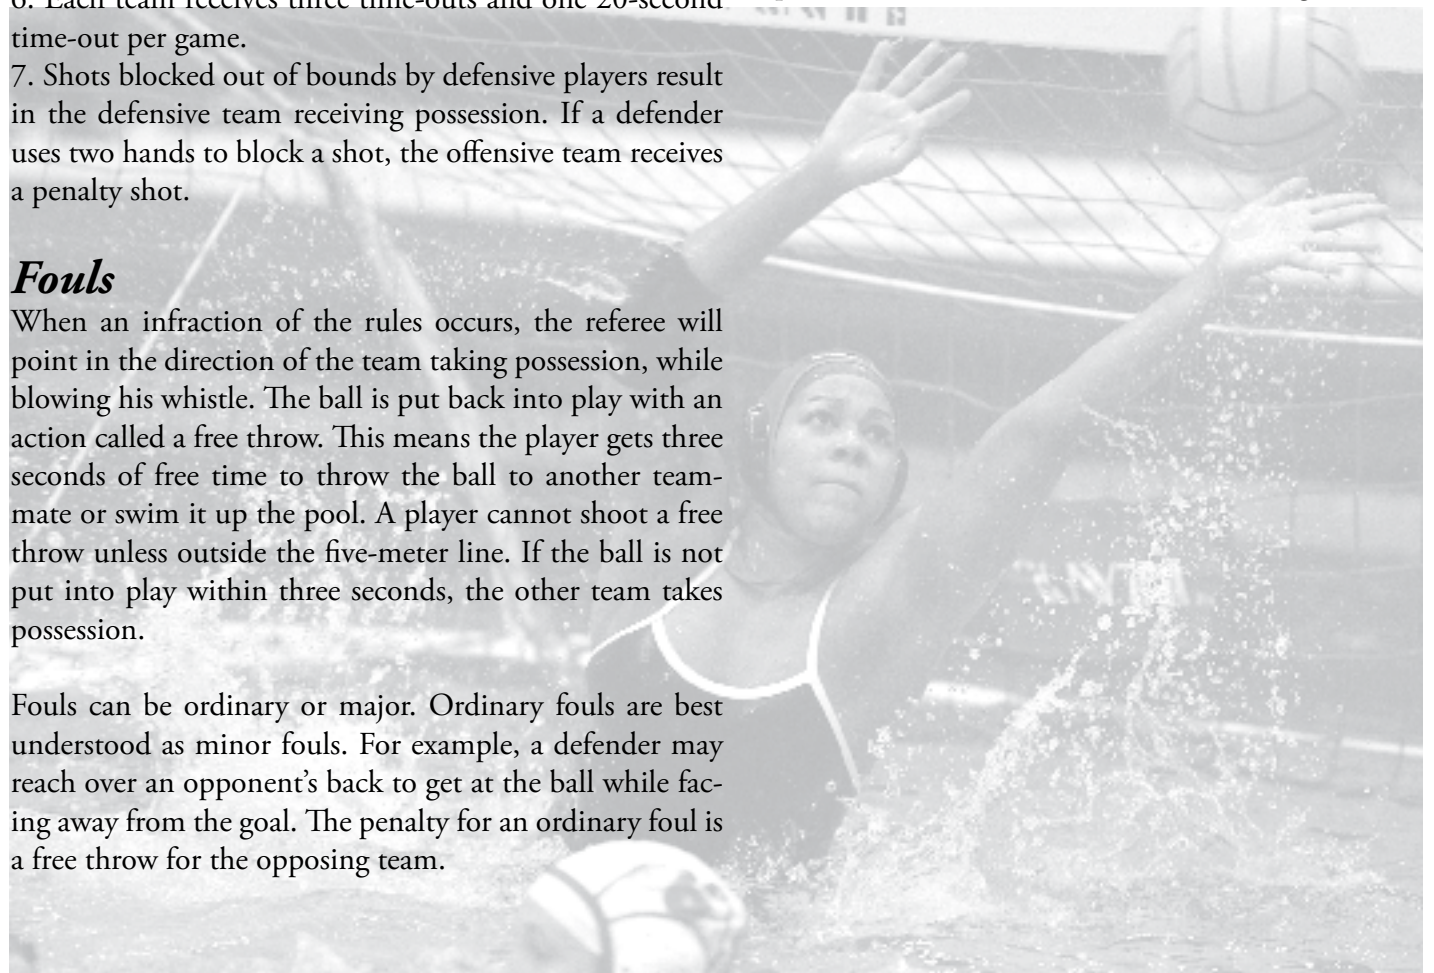

Fouls

When an infraction of the rules occurs, the referee will point in the direction of the team taking possession, while blowing his whistle. The ball is put back into play with an action called a free throw. This means the player gets three seconds of free time to throw the ball to another teammate or swim it up the pool. A player cannot shoot a free throw unless outside the five-meter line. If the ball is not put into play within three seconds, the other team takes possession.

Fouls can be ordinary or major. Ordinary fouls are best understood as minor fouls. For example, a defender may reach over an opponent's back to get at the ball while facing away from the goal. The penalty for an ordinary foul is a free throw for the opposing team.

Major fouls are more severe and are penalized accordingly. For example, when a defender fouls an opponent too aggressively, or from behind when the opponent is facing the goal, the defender is ejected for 20 seconds (players may reenter the game if their team recovers the ball before the ejection time is up, or if the opposing team scores). When the foul occurs within five meters of the goal and the referee believes the player had a high chance of scoring, the opposition shoots a penalty shot. Major fouls can also occur through disrespect to the referee or when a player interferes with an opponent's free throw. Players may only receive three major fouls before elimination.

If all of this has you totally confused, just sit back and enjoy the game. The easiest way to follow the play is by watching the scoreboard. If your team is ahead at the end, great! If not, well consider that you have expanded your horizons. When the game is over, you can at least explain to your friends that the horses never get wet.

CWPA Sportsmanship Statement

The CWPA and the NCAA promote good sportsmanship by student-athletes, coaches and spectators. We request your cooperation by supporting the participants and officials in a positive manner. Profanity, racial or sexist comments, or other intimidating actions directed at the officials, student-athletes, coaches or team representatives will not be tolerated and are grounds for removal from the site of competition. Also, consumption or possession of alcoholic beverages and tobacco products is prohibited.

Affiliate Organizations

There are many organizations affiliated with the sport of water polo and the landscape can be somewhat confusing when trying to sort out which entity offers what services. To make matters a little easier to understand, the organizations can be divided into two basic groups: scholastic and non scholastic. The scholastic organizations are those that have some affiliation with the educational system. These include college, high school, junior college, and middle school teams, as well as their respective administrative bodies that offer competitive leagues and support. In this category you would find state sanctioning organizations, the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), and the collegiate conferences recognized by the NCAA or NAIA. Each organization operates independently with its own governing structure.

The NCAA and the NAIA are two organizations that serve a unique position. They each provide a supervisory role for their member schools. The colleges and universities that are members of each respective organization choose to establish and follow a set of guidelines that govern competition. Specifically, these guidelines include eligibility, academic progress for their student-athletes, competitive rules, championship guidelines, recruiting, and financial aid.

Schools that become members of one of these organizations agree to abide by the rules and principles established within the organization. The NCAA and NAIA only provide oversight for the varsity teams on campus, not the collegiate clubs.

In addition to the NCAA and NAIA there are conference structures that operate for the purpose of arranging competition for their member institutions. Some conferences like the Big East or ACC handle several sports, while others like the CWPA handle just one sport. With respect to water polo, all collegiate clubs that play competitively are members of either the Big Ten or the CWPA conferences. To understand the difference between the conferences and the NCAA or NAIA, think of the conferences on a smaller scale performing similar functions for their member institutions. The conferences work with the NCAA and NAIA to help provide competitive opportunities and services, yet they still remain independent organizations with their own governing systems and budgets.

Non scholastic organizations include all other entities that offer the opportunity for people to be involved in the sport outside of an educational institution. These include YMCA's, Boys & Girls Clubs, township programs, parks and recreation programs, privately organized water polo clubs, and independent organizations like American Water Polo. United States Water Polo fits under this category as well, serving as the National Governing Body for the sport. They are also responsible for supporting and training an Olympic Team for men and women.

For more information about any specific organization, contact the CWPA office at 610-277-6787.

History of the CWPA

The Collegiate Water Polo Association originally began as the Mid Atlantic Conference, founded by Dick Russell (Bucknell University swimming & water polo coach) in the 1970's. Its founding membership included teams from Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

The leadership and management of the organization relied on volunteer coaches until 1990, when it hired a commissioner to perform basic scheduling for the 15 member teams. Officiating assignments at the time were performed by an independent organization called the Eastern Water Polo Referees Association (EWPRAs).

The next major milestone occurred in 1993, when the Southern and New England Conferences merged into the Mid Atlantic. The new structure combined all of the varsity teams in the East, along with the few sport clubs in existence at that time.

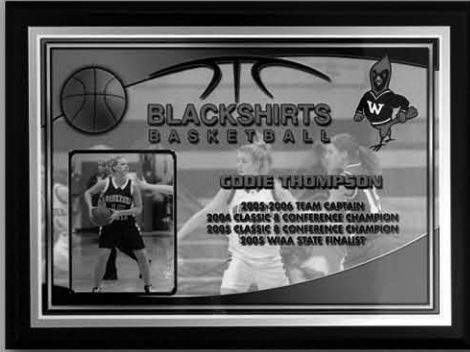

During the 1995 season, the conference received its first major challenge, as the organization experienced a strike by its officiating core. This strike ultimately resulted in the organization establishing its own officiating bureau, assuming responsibility for all of its officiating assignments. The conference hired Tere Ma as its inaugural Director of Officials and Loren Bertocci as its first Technical Director. These two individuals laid the groundwork for the Officiating Bureau that exists today.

Few changes were made to this structure until 2006, when the conference established a Technical Committee, comprised of former coaches and non-active CWPA officials for the purpose of education and development. One of these members, Ed Reed, initiated the CWPA's first online education program in 2007 for referees using video clips.	2001	Women's varsity and club programs separate competitively. Women's varsity teams form Northern and Southern Divisions. Women's Southeast Division added. Texas Division added for men and women. Membership increases to 122 men's teams and 80 women's teams totaling 202.
Over the years, the Association has undergone dramatic changes:	2002	Men's Florida Division added. Men's Great Lakes Division added. Men's Midwest Division renamed the Ohio Valley Division. CWPA formalizes internship program and hires two full-time interns. Membership increases to 124 men's teams and 91 women's teams totaling 215.
1970's The Mid Atlantic Conference is founded by Dick Russell.	2003	Men's New England and North Atlantic Divisions realigned. Men's Division II Eastern Championship established. Membership steadies at 120 men's teams and 95 women's teams totaling 215. Office moves headquarters to Bridgeport after 13 years in Norristown.
1990 The conference hires a commissioner to manage the league administration.	2004	Women's varsity teams realign to form Northern, Northeastern, Southern and Western Divisions. Men's Florida Division teams merge into Southeast Division. Men's Great Plains Division splits forming Great Plains and Missouri Valley Divisions. Student Athlete Advisory Committee established for the conference. Membership grows to 126 men's teams and 98 women's teams totaling 224.
1993 The New England and Southern Conferences merge into the Mid Atlantic. The conference changes its name to the Eastern Water Polo Association. Thirty-nine club and varsity teams participate in the new structure.	2005	Six women's varsity teams leave to join the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference and receive an automatic bid to the NCAA Championship. Teams realign to form Northern, Western and Southern Divisions. Women's Atlantic and North Atlantic Divisions added. Women's National Collegiate Club Championship expands to 16 teams. Membership grows to 131 men's and 99 women's teams, totaling 230 teams.
1994 The Association adds women's teams to its membership. Total membership equals 55 teams.	2006	Women's Atlantic Division merges with the Mid Atlantic Division. Men's Ohio Valley Division members join Great Lakes and Missouri Valley Divisions. CWPA establishes Technical Committee to oversee officiating education. Membership grows to 138 men's and 96 women's teams, totaling 234 teams.
1995 The conference ends its relationship with the Eastern Water Polo Referees Association and establishes its own officiating bureau. Tere Ma hired as the inaugural Director of Officials and Loren Bertocci hired as the first Technical Director. Men's Midwest division is added. Club championships are separated by division. Membership increases to 82 teams.	2007	Women's Ohio Valley Division added. Women's Sierra Pacific Division added. Men's North Atlantic Division realigned to qualify for the Division III championship. Men's Florida and Rocky Mountain Divisions added. Online education begins for referees and coaches via video clips on the website. Membership grows to 141 men's and 101 women's teams, totaling 242 teams.
1996 Women's Midwest Division is added. Men's Southwest Division is added. Men's New York Division separates into regions to accommodate growth. Eastern Water Polo Association changes its name to Collegiate Water Polo Association to reflect the geographic representation of its membership. Membership rises to 95 teams.	2008	Women's Ohio Valley Division merges into Midwest Division. Membership grows to 141 men's and 103 women's teams, totaling 244 teams.

COMPETITIVE FORMAT

The Collegiate Water Polo Association is divided into two classes, varsity and sport club. Each class of membership is then divided into divisions based on geography.

Varsity Class

Northern Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule within their division plus two additional games against opponents that finished closest to them at the championship the prior season to determine seeding for the championship.

Southern Division

Teams play a double round robin schedule within their division to determine seeding for the championship.

Western Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule. Seeding for the championship is based on the won/loss records from the regular season games.

The top two teams from each division championship will move on to the Eastern Championship, accompanied by two teams chosen at-large by a committee. The first place team at the Eastern Championship qualifies for the NCAA National Championship, held in May.

Sport Club Class

Teams are divided into divisions, based on geography. The top team from each division championship qualifies for the National Collegiate Club Championship.

Heartland Division

Teams play four games within their regions to determine seeding for the championship. In the Northern Region, teams play a single round robin, plus an additional game against an opponent drawn at random. In the Southern Region, teams play a double round robin schedule.

Mid Atlantic Division

Teams play a single round robin format during two weekends of competition. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Midwest Division

Teams play four games against opponents drawn at random to seed for the championship, with all teams attending the championship tournament.

New England Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

New York Division

Teams play a double round robin schedule during the regular season. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

North Atlantic Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Northwest Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament.

Pacific Coast Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Sierra Pacific Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Southeast Division

Teams play a single round robin format to seed for the championship, with all teams attending the championship tournament.

Southwest Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Texas Division

Teams play a single round robin schedule with additional games drawn at random. All teams attend the championship tournament, with seeding based on the regular season won/loss records.

Tie Breaker System - All Situations

If two teams are tied using the tie breaker system below and they have played each other, the head-to-head competition is used to determine ranking.

Tie Breaker System - Two Teams

If the won/loss records of two teams are the same, the team that won in their head-to-head competition is the higher seed. If these teams each beat one another, the goal differential in their games is used to break the tie. If the goal differential in their contests against one another is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, the differential for all common opponents seeded higher is used. If no common opponents are seeded higher, the goal differential against the highest seeded common opponent is used.

Tie Breaker System - Three or More Teams (for seeding championships)

If more than two teams are tied in won/loss records, goal differentials among the teams tied serves as the tiebreaker. If the goal differential in their contests against one another is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, the goal differential between common opponents seeded higher will be used to determine ranking. This may require averaging the goal differential per game if the number of games between common opponents is unequal. Should teams be tied in won/loss record and they have not played each other, goal differentials against common opponents that are seeded above them are used. If no common opponents are seeded higher, the goal differential against the highest seeded common opponent is used.

Tie Breaker System-Three or More Teams (for advancement w/in championships)

If more than two teams are tied in won/loss records, goal differentials among the teams tied serves as the tiebreaker. If the goal differential in their contests against one another is the same, the total of goals scored against each other is used. If the total of goals scored between the teams is equal, their original seeding will serve as the tiebreaker. If the totals are tied at any time between two of the three teams, the tie is broken by their head-to-head result.

Goal Differential

Goal differential is a term used to describe the difference between goals scored against an opponent and the number of goals scored by an opponent against a particular team.

VARSITY TEAM PROFILESNORTHERN DIVISIONBrown University

After graduating four seniors, including four of its top eight scorers last season, Brown has some big shoes to fill in 2008. However, with the All-Northern Division sophomore trio of Lauren Presant (57 goals), Sarah Glick (46 goals) and goalkeeper Stephanie Laing (6.81 GAA), the Bears are primed to stay on top in the North and book a trip to Easterns. Senior Alexis Blaxberg (32 goals) steps in at two-meters to start the season, with freshman Joanna Wohlmuth working her way into the lineup there, while the Stanton sisters – junior Rory and freshman Katherine – will take over duties at two-meter defense. Senior Ally Wyatt will once again provide solid perimeter defense and ball movement when she returns after swimming season, while senior Emily Schwartz will be counted on to improve on her nine goals last season with increased playing time.

Connecticut College

Three fantastic seniors will be relied on to lead the CC roster to the best year of Camels' water polo yet. The team looks forward to their first competitive trip to California to kick off the season and they are all excited to host the best teams in the country at the end of the year when the Camels host the Division III Collegiate National Championship.

Hartwick College

What do head coach Alan Huckins and his Hartwick water polo team have in store for 2008 following a 32-10 record, another CWPA Eastern crown, its third trip to the NCAA tournament in the last four years, winning two of three games and finishing fifth, and ending the season ranked 10th in the nation? The Hawks' goal is to remain as "top dog" in the East and once again head to the national championship. This year, with five of its six top scorers back from the fourth-best offense in the land, Hartwick has its mind on taking it one step further and make it into the national semifinals. Leading the team is All-America selection Kirsten Hudson. As a freshman, she ranked 10th in the country with 86 goals despite missing six matches as she represented her native land, New Zealand, at the World Championships. In 2007, Hudson was the CWPA Northern Division Player of the Year, the Eastern Region Rookie of the Year, the Eastern Championship MVP, as well as a selection to the second team at the NCAA Championship as she became the program's fifth All-America honoree. First team All-North honoree Ellen Sevigny finished her junior campaign tied for 31st in the country with a 65-goal season, while two-sport standout Christina Evans ended her inaugural season ranked in a tie for 39th with 59 goals. The Montreal duo of Kaitlin Leonard and Megan Dahl-Smith, a second team All-North honoree, netted 46 and 42 tallies, respectively. Junior Barbara Amaro, a second team All-North Division selection, returns as one of the best defenders in the East. With the losses of Olivia Colebourne, Hartwick's all-time leader in saves; Keri James, who netted 174 goals in her four-year career, and Kim Sumich, the fifth ranked goal scorer at Hartwick, there are some questions on who will fill the voids of their departures. Huckins will rely on newcomer Jessica Dorman to take over the goalie duties. The native of Auckland, New Zealand brings in a wealth of international experience as a member of her junior national squad. Jessica McKee is a three-time all-CIF honoree and a two-time first team Junior Olympic All-America selection out of California. Freshman Lisa Gibson, a member of the Great Britain National team, is another newcomer that figures to see a lot of quality playing time, as well as fellow Californian Audrey Mitchell.

Harvard University

The 2008 Harvard women's water polo team returns every player from last season and will look to improve on last year's records as the team will compete for the ECAC, Eastern and Northern Championships. The Crimson will look to an experienced senior class, including Melissa Mueller, Cassandra Forsyth, Melissa McCreery and Laura Stoppel, as well as newcomers Patricia Smith and Natasha Whitney for added depth. Senior Lauren Snyder, a 2007 All-Northern Division first-team performer, led last year's team with 46 steals and 10 blocks. She also finished third on the team with 22 goals. Sophomore Kathryn Bilder finished 2007 with a team high 24 goals, followed by junior Devon MacLaughlin with 23 and Snyder. Sophomore Roxanne Pinto had 20 goals in her first season. Kristina Bergquist had eight goals and finished second on the team with 41 steals last season as a freshman. Last season's team MVP and this season's captain, Vivian Liao, scored 18 goals for the Crimson before missing the final month of the season with an injury. Junior Nicola Perlman returns to the goal and will anchor the defense. Rick Offsay, a 2004 graduate of Harvard, returns for his third year as volunteer assistant and will be joined by 2000 and 2004 Olympian Ellen Estes Lee, a 2002 graduate of Stanford University.

Queens College

Queens University will look to improve on its fourth place finish in the Northern Division last year and make a run at capturing a berth to the Eastern Championship hosted by the University of Michigan. Head Coach Joe McCommons will have a bunch of new faces this year as the team will get its experience by competing against some of the nation's best teams.

Utica College

The Utica College women's water polo team is returning 10 players from last season as six of the 10 returnees are seniors: Lindsey McConnelee, Nicole Bossler, Nikki Glassmoyer, Denise Goodrich, Addison Lerner and Lauren D'Antonio. Juniors Arielle Feinstein, Mary Anne Tomko and Laura Gould, and sophomore Kristine Wowelko, are returning as well. Both goalies, McConnelee and D'Antonio, made tremendous strides last season and currently sit second and third in career blocks at UC with 235 and 229, respectively. Bossler, Goodrich and Lerner, last year's second, third and fourth leading scorers, will look to set the tone offensively for the Pioneers. With some quality senior leadership and a good mix of incoming players, Utica is a much more experienced program. Utica brought in some very impressive freshman: Kristin Rodriguez, Amanda Sulicz, Christa Pappas and Amy Gascon. All four will immediately impact the Pioneers. Junior Erin Schinasi will add to the team's depth as she rejoins the Pioneers after a year hiatus. With a good group of returnees, and freshmen who will contribute, the Pioneers are confident they will have a successful 2008 campaign.

SOUTHERN DIVISION

Bucknell University

With the loss of a talented six-person graduating class that helped Bucknell pile up a 61-37 record over the last three years, the Bison will welcome a number of new faces to the mix in 2008. Six freshmen dot the 14-person roster that, while young, features five players who started at least 13 games in 2007. Headlining the list of returning stars are senior Meagan Gins, junior Aubrey Rowe and sophomore Valentina Rozas. Team captain Gins piled up team highs with 62 goals and 85 points in 2007 and is set to break the program career records for both categories early this year. She has led the team in scoring each of the last two years. Rowe has 87 goals and 49 assists in her first two years and led the team with 28 assists last spring despite battling nagging injuries throughout the campaign. Healthy heading into 2008, Rowe will continue to be a defensive presence after racking up a team-best 51 steals last year to rank 10th on the program's single-season list. Rozas made an immediate impact as a freshman, finishing third on the team in scoring with 70 points on 49 goals and 21 assists last year. A first-team all-conference selection along with Gins, Rozas was second to Gins with 64 ejections drawn, the second-highest single-season total in program history. She also added 36 steals. While Gins, Rowe and Rozas will provide the offensive firepower, junior Rachel McGillis and sophomore Alison Carter will be charged with replacing four-year starter Mandy Bynum in goal. Carter tallied 40 saves in nine appearances last year, while McGillis stopped nine shots in limited action. Bucknell is coming off a year where it won 15 games against a potent schedule that featured a program-record 11 ranked opponents. The Bison also advanced to the Eastern Championship for a sixth straight season.

George Washington University

Head coach Scott Reed believes his 2008 team has matured and is ready to take its place among the CWPA's best. The Colonials will rely on a much more balanced attack in 2008 due to the graduation of Morgan Hooker and Jenna Burnett, the program's career leaders in goals and assists, respectively. Senior drivers Greta Pedraza and Rebecca Stein will be counted on to pick up the scoring slack and lead the Colonials youthful offense. Pedraza is GW's leading returning scorer with 35 points on 21 goals and 14 assists in 2007. Reed also will count on juniors Amy Moren and Luciana Maggiolo and sophomores Marissa Stamler and Bernadette Karandy at driver. The trio of Moren, Stamler and Karandy accounted for 48 goals and 18 assists last season. Moren and Stamler provide solid outside shooting to the offense, while Maggiolo and Karandy excel in igniting the counterattack. Rookie Erin Delker, who helped San Ramon Valley High to a North Coast Section title as a junior in 2005, and sophomore Rachel Wallace provide more depth at driver. Sophomore Emily Chereson steps into Hooker's spot at two-meter set and will run Reed's offense. Freshman Melissa Sesana will back up Chereson at two-meter set. Second-year performers Tara Sullivan and Sarah Fitch will be asked to do a little of everything, including fill Burnett's gap at utility. Senior Sarah Stimson returns to two-meter defense after pacing the Colonials with 41 steals in 2007. Sophomore Danielle Mayer, who also had 10 goals and four assists as a rookie last year, is another strong option at two-meter defense. Senior goalkeeper Julie Jacoby enters her final season on pace to become the program's career saves leader. Jacoby shattered the single-season mark with 290 saves in 2007 and will have to produce another outstanding season for GW to compete for a CWPA Southern Division title. Freshman Charlotte Schou will spell Jacoby, who played all but two quarters in net last season.

Princeton University

The Princeton women's water polo team enters the 2008 season looking to build upon a successful 2007 season, but faces the difficult task of doing it without last year's senior class, which played a crucial role in Princeton's success. Princeton lost in the Eastern championship game to Hartwick last season and returns nine players from that team. Goalkeeper Natalie Kim, the lone senior on the Princeton roster, leads the group. Princeton has a junior class of four players and the remaining 11 players are freshmen and sophomores. Kim has been Princeton's starting goalie for three years and returns for her fourth ranking second in career saves at Princeton and as a three-time All-Southern selection. Sophomores Phoebe Champion, Lauren Sabb and Helen Meigs headline Princeton's offense. The trio scored 35, 42 and 25 goals respectively and were three of Princeton's top six scorers. Also returning are juniors Liz Dilday, Claire Jacobson and Kara Murphy.

University of Maryland

Head Coach Carl Salyer is watching his first recruiting class grow up. At every practice and game, the 10 student-athletes who came to the University of Maryland to play water polo for the Terrapins gets a little better. This year, those student-athletes are juniors and they make up the bulk of the offense, the strength on defense and half the 20-player roster. This year, as upperclassmen, the fourth-year head coach is hoping the blending of that experienced group with a talented recruiting class will result in what he senses could be a breakout year. "I think we're coming off a real good year," said Salyer, whose team went 16-18 last year but vastly improved the difficulty of its schedule. "In the last two years, this group has logged a lot of minutes at the Division I level. Our expectations are high. This will be their third season together and we've added a solid group of freshmen. Salyer said one of the keys for the 2008 Terrapins is how quickly the juniors and freshmen can blend into a unit both inside and outside the pool. Junior Rachel Jordan started 34 games for the Terps last year and finished with 49 points at center. She currently ranks third on Maryland's career points list with 106. Salyer will count on freshmen Allison Beck, Casey Mills and Jessica Ernst to develop a four-player rotation at the two-meter position. At two-meter defender Christen Vagts started in 33 of Maryland's 34 games a year ago and is another of Salyer's talented junior class. Vagts led the Terps with 53 steals last year defending the opponents' inside players. Junior Liz Eicks also plays the center defender position, while Blaise Stanicic and Elizabeth Hopkins also see time in the middle. Each of the top scorers return at attack, with junior Elizabeth Hopkins coming off a season in which she led the Terrapins in points with 70. Shannon Simerly is the lone sophomore on the roster and led Maryland with 58 goals and a shooting percentage of .367 a year ago. Blaise Stanicic is another junior who finished third on the team in 2007 with 59 points. Behind that group are more talented juniors in Laurel Laidlaw and Bryndis Klein, who should improve their offensive output as well as continue their swarming defensive play. The lone senior on attack is Allie Houseal, while junior Jill Lau also adds depth at attack. Among the newcomers at attack are Maggie Eicks, the sister of Liz Eicks, as well as Meghan Powers, who has a knack for scoring off the drive and attacking the goal. Salyer's philosophy is to play many goalkeepers and to go with the player who has the hot hand between the posts. Junior Ashleigh Jobson got 11 starts in goal for the Terrapins last year, while senior Anna Gossett had three starts but saw action in 18 games.

WESTERN DIVISION

Gannon University

Gannon returns nine letter winners from last year's 16-11 squad, which finished third at the 2007 Western Division Championship with a 5-2 victory over Slippery Rock in the third-place match. Five of the top six scorers from a year ago return to form a formidable offensive unit. Sophomore Annie Greenhill is Gannon's top returning scorer after recording 51 goals and 34 assists a year ago. Junior Katelyn Hansen netted 28 goals, while seniors Val Adams and Brenna Pease added 22 goals each. Seventh-year head coach Don Sherman begins the second year of his second stint as Gannon's mentor looking to improve on his 94-51 career record and reach the 100-victory plateau. Gannon will have a new goalkeeper between the pipes in 2008 as the Lady Knights lost starting goalkeeper Shannon Bonsmann and leading scorer Kat Bucceri. Gannon has never recorded a losing season in its eight-year history.

Grove City College

Following an 18-19 record in 2007, Grove City College will look to turn the corner and contend for the Western Division title and a berth to the Eastern Championship in 2008. Several newcomers are also expected to challenge for playing time as the Lady Wolverines should field a team on the upswing to dominance in the Western Division.

Indiana University

The Indiana women's water polo team enters the 2008 season having graduated six seniors from a team that went 19-14 and completed the Hoosiers' third consecutive undefeated 7-0 season in the Western Division a year ago. The cupboard is far from bare for 11th year head coach Barry King as he returns the top goal scorer and assist leader from last year in attacker Brooke Zimmerman. The senior scored 76 goals to set a school record for goals scored in a single season. But she did not limit herself to just scoring goals, as she also set the single-season record by handing out 52 assists. She currently sits in fifth place in career goals and assists at IU, with a chance to reach the top spot in assists by the end of 2008. In addition to Zimmerman, Brittany Estrada is the only other player returning who started all 33 matches last year. Estrada will see action at both two-meter and two-meter defender positions for the Hoosiers. In 2007, she tallied 23 goals and 25 steals, showing her versatility to be able to play both positions effectively. Joining Estrada at the two-meter position will be Maggie Hannon, who appeared in all 33 matches last year and will be looked upon to take charge of the position this year. The two-meter defender position will be occupied by a number of different players for the Hoosiers this year, with Estrada being the leader for a pair of freshmen in Kelsey Campbell and Kate Dunn. In goal, Indiana will have two reliable options to go to in Katie Carson and Jackie Pyrz. A year ago, the two split time almost equally and posted nearly identical goals against averages. With the number of returning players (eight) nearly equaling the number of freshmen (seven), the outcome of the 2008 campaign will be determined by how well the newcomers are able to adjust to the college game and contribute to the team's success.

Mercyhurst College

Mercyhurst enters the 2008 season with hopes of rebounding from 2007's 12-14 mark, and with 11 returning contributors, including every starter and its top eight goal scorers, the Lakers have an excellent opportunity to do just that. The Lakers return to a potent two-pronged offensive attack that features seniors Carrie Willison and Christine Somera. In 2007, Willison emerged as a

All-Western Division Second Team performer by scoring a team-leading 57 goals and leading the team with 46 assists. Her 103 points was the third-best single season total in school history and moved her into second place all-time in points with 258. Willison is already Mercyhurst's all-time assist leader, as well. Next to Willison is two-time CWPA All-Western Division First Team pick Christine Somera who tallied 54 goals and 23 assists last season. She also led the team in drawn ejections with 69. Somera enters the season with 134 career goals and is second on the career scoring list. Willison and Somera will have plenty of offensive help, as Mercyhurst also returns senior Christie Haibach, who totaled 18 goals in 2007. Chrissy Genian is looking to build off a solid sophomore season of 15 goals and 19 assists, while sophomore Jacqueline Phillips returns after a solid rookie year of 13 goals, eight assists and 26 steals. Defensively, the Lakers will rely on the veteran presence of senior Rhonda Marable who scored 18 times and handed out 19 assists with 81 steals. Senior and three-year starter Gina Mieras will handle goalkeeping duties as she posted a .532 save percentage last year, supported by sophomore Cathi Korenich who will provide depth at the position. Also looking to contribute to the experienced roster are senior driver Renee Sander, junior Kallen Deambarger and sophomore Jenna Jeffereds. Robinette also added three freshmen as Chrissy Becks, Rachel Griepsma and Molly Keleshian will look to contribute, as well.

Penn State Erie, The Behrend College

Energized by a solid group of young players, the 2008 Penn State Behrend women's water polo team is eager to begin the program's eighth season of competition in 2008. The mix of new players and experienced veterans should give the Blue and White many options as they strive to compete with some of the best programs in the country. Amanda Weist is the lone senior on the squad, and has 22 goals in her first two seasons for the Behrend Lions. The junior class includes Kaitlyn Rinn and Alex Taylor. Rinn was the team Rookie of the Year in 2006, while Taylor is returning to the Lions after a year hiatus. The freshman group is six members strong and includes some players with big potential. including Ashley Frank, Bridget Cheng, Danielle Palski, Samantha Haller, Tegan Boland and Morgan Gregory. With some accomplished returners and an influx of youthful players, the Blue and White hope the 2008 season will be one to remember.

Slippery Rock University

The Rock expects to be competitive in the Western Division this spring. Top returning players include seniors Beth Choike, Ashley Goodwill, Megan Jo Ramage and Sarah Sander and junior Heather Walbright, supported by sophomores Katie Van Campen and Raquel Woerner. Junior Lauren Surbaugh returns for her third season as The Rock's starting goalie. Newcomers expect to contribute this spring include freshmen Kayse Gearhart, Amanda Giuseppetti, Caitlin Henney and Kaitlin Kaulius.

University of Michigan

The Wolverines welcome back four of their top five scorers from the 2007 campaign and a large class of freshmen looking to make their mark. The squad's lone senior, Michelle Keeley, and a strong group of eight juniors will provide veteran leadership for the 10 member freshmen class. The team will look to build on the most productive season offensively in program history with a well balanced attack. Junior Julie Hyrne, who is coming off of a 117 point sophomore campaign in 2007, is the team's top returning scorer. Sophomore Leah Robertson will look to build on her All-Western Division second team honors and her University of Michigan single-season record for steals with 109 thefts. The freshmen class boasts four high school All-America players in Libby Fase, Alison Mantel, Ryley Plunkett and Cara Reitz.

Washington & Jefferson College

The Presidents are somewhat of a young team this year having lost a few mainstay seniors to graduation. In goal, Polly Ziegler will have some big shoes to fill while trying to gain experience as freshman backup Verlinich shows promise. In the field we will be looking for leadership from our two most experienced players Alicia Sutton and Emily Allen. They should receive support from a talented but young crew in Jess Barby, Kate Silvestri, Erica Harpur, Kate Van Schaik and Caitlin Brown. The Presidents are rounded off with help from Kristen Mastropietro, Janna Green, Alexis England and Katie Wieber.

CLUB TEAM PROFILESHEARTLAND DIVISIONCarleton College

Profile not available

Grinnell College

With six returning seniors and a team full of varsity swimmers, the Grinnell College Black Sheep expect another fast paced and fun-filled season. Brianne Benness returns for her fourth year in the goal. Mari Guttman, Sofia Becker and Margaret Smith — all star shooters — will once again lead the team offensively. The formidable hole sets Josie Seff and Alex Peitz will continue their work at the two meter. The team will rely on speedy Allie Kossoy, Liv Gibbons and Emily Sipfle for fast breaks and turn-overs and turn to Abby Zillner and Allison Wisco for defensive strength. Emily Summers, having undergone knee surgery last year, will return as team manager.

Illinois Wesleyan University

Illinois Wesleyan is rebuilding after losing several seniors. Last year, the Titans played hard and finished out the year at the championship tournament. This year, the team will be looking toward the skill of previous players to get them through the year and to teach new players the skills. The Titans will also rely on returning goalie, Kristen Kopf, to lead them to the championship tournament in good standing. Illinois Wesleyan hopes to play strong and looks forward to a great season.

Iowa State University

The Iowa State University women's team is coming into their second year in the conference with high hopes. After losing one member to graduation from the previous year the outlook is good. Still carrying on the strong defense of last year is a top priority for the team. Goalkeeper Jenny Klmkowitz will be a crucial asset to the defense along with Emily Evers. On the offensive side of the pool, Dee Faas will be a key player after being one of the leading scorers last season. Anna Anderson, Rachel Goldsmith and Sara Fort will be crucial in keeping the score in favor the the ISU women. While still a young team with little experience, much is anticipated in the upcoming season.

Knox College

The Knox College Prairie Fire look forward to a competitive season with a well-balanced team. Led by senior captains Leigh Abrams and Lexie Kamerman, a 2007 women's All-America honorable mention player, the Knox team will count on the skill of experienced players Sara Dreiser, Christy Dechaine, Liz McPhail, Lu Yaeger and Angharad Hollingworth, in addition to the intensity of first-year Kelley O'Connor. The expertise of coach Jonathan Powers, and a strong pool of new players, will round out the Burning Squirrels game plan.

Lindenwood University

With last seasons Conference Championship under their belt, Lindenwood University has some promising competition this season. Lindenwood also has a new head coach as Danilo Lazarevic takes over the program with a whole new line of recruits who are ready and willing to take over where last season's seniors left off. The team is very thankful to have a women's team this year, and owe much of their thanks to Ted Greenhouse's volunteered time. All in all, this team is confident, strong and is sure to be some great competition in their division.

Saint Mary's College

MID ATLANTIC DIVISIONDuke University

Coming off of a fourth-place finish in their inaugural season, the Duke women eagerly anticipate the new season with six returning starters and an influx of new talent. The Blue Devils will once again look to driver Sarah Kennifer and utility player Ashley DiSilvestro to take charge. Veterans Alison Dorsey and Alex Kern as well as team newcomer Melissa Chernick will bolster the attack, while Mary Belniak, Julie Segner and Petty Chen look to provide valuable support on the defensive end. Jenna Maloka, Kaitlin Solera and Jenny Lin will all add options on the counterattack, as Duke looks to create offense from its pressure defense. The early play of new goaltender Sara Pilzer also has the squad excited about its second effort in league play.

James Madison University

James Madison University comes into the season with a very young team. After Graduating six seniors last year, the team is focusing on rebuilding. The Dukes are led by seniors Liz Steffy at two-meter defense, two-meter defender Katie Holland, Kelsey Pace at two-meter offense and Beth Wispelway who is a strong driver. The team will also rely on Tiffany Mothershead, Alli Chaplin and Heidi Lindenfesler to use their speed to strengthen the squad's offense. Theresa Smith and Emily Fano lead the defense from the goal, and will have a major influence on the team success. Many other players, as well as new rookies, will see playing time this season and will help keep JMU competitive.

University of North Carolina

Pennsylvania State University

The Nittany Lions are returning with a core group of role players and are looking to have a strong year. Look for their off season addition of skilled, experienced freshmen to make an immediate impact. With the goal of making nationals in sight and an off season tournament in Puerto Rico under their belts, the Lions are ready for the league competition.

University of Pennsylvania

Coming off a second Middle Atlantic Division Championship in as many years, and a sixth place finish at the 2007 National Collegiate Club Championship, the University of Pennsylvania returns all but one starter and will look to challenge for the National Club title in 2008. Penn's two most productive goal scorers, Soleil Roberts and Sheena Curtin, will return to lead a strong offense bolstered by the two-meter play of Deidre Sandrock and the shooting of Alex Malebranche and Stephanie Castellano. The core of the defense will also be returning, in two-meter defender and captain Rebekah Stevens, and sophomores Megan Calpin and Natasa Kordic. Although Penn's major loss to graduation was their two-timme All-Conference goalie Carolyn Corona, sophomore Elizabeth Lawrence, will take over the role of primary backstop. The Quakers will also be helped this year by their veteran leadership in senior and captain Claire Robertson, graduate student Laura Sander and new arrivals of graduate student Linda Meckel and Freshman Amanda Zwarenstein. With its strong returning core, Penn looks to repeat as Middle Atlantic Champions and return to Nationals to compete for the title.

University of Pittsburgh

The 2008 season is a rebuilding year for the University of Pittsburgh. After a second place finish in the Mid Atlantic Division in 2007, the Panthers lost six seniors, including three starters and All-America goalie Sara Battistone. The offense will rely heavily on senior driver Erin Murphy, senior two-meter set Stephanie Wallace and junior driver Kelly Martin. Newcomers Lauren Myrick and Taylor Reynolds will provide speed and stealth. Senior Ashley Everett and freshman Rachel Robertson will bring toughness and strength to the defense in backing up rookie goalie Courtlyn Mummert. Returners Sarah Dudeck and Ashley Weast will see plenty of playing time, as well as newcomers Lauren Martin, Abbi Nicolella and Caitlyn Conner.

University of Virginia

Virginia enters the 2008 season after losing four valuable seniors. Last year, Virginia finished third in the Mid-Atlantic Division and will look to make an appearance in the championship game in 2008. The Cavaliers will continue to rely on Kelly Benedict in the offensive two-meter position, who was a 2007 first-team All-Conference selection. Senior Kathryn Harris will be an offensive force with fellow senior Kristine Salm returning to lead the defense in the goal. Seniors Catherine Gray and Diana Brill return to take charge on defense with their key steals. Sophomores Sara Sparks, Robin Lang, Meghan Abramczyk and Julianne Harris will also see substantial playing time.

Virginia Polytechnic Institute & State University

Virginia Tech comes into the 2008 season with a more experienced team. After a few years of being a fairly new and inexperienced team, the Lady Hokies look to be a competitive force in the Mid Atlantic Division. Returning leading goal-scorer Claire Waller will be a strong influence in the offensive game. Other returning seniors looking to make large contributions to the starting line are Kara Mullen, co-captain Chelsey Zacherl, Stephanie Moore and Suzanne Szanyi. Returning player Paige Barlow, formerly of the University of Richmond, will provide strong offensive skills. Sophomore Rachel Gicquelais, along with incoming freshman Erin Weiner, will be taking over in two-meter set for the Hokies this season. Both players have a knowledge of the game and are very strong at the center position. Returning sophomore co-captain Lindsay Chapon will be a strong influence on both offense and defense with her strong knowledge of all positions and speed. The Hokies greatest defense will be in goal. Starting in goal for the season will be freshman Stephanie Malm. Other players that may see substantial playing time to keep the Hokie offense alive are incoming freshmen Brittney Brenner, Jennifer Murpy, Jenn Norman and sophomore Jackie Carl.

West Chester University

West Chester is hoping for a successful season with many new and promising players along with a group of talented returning players. Some players to look out for are senior two-meter set Erin Koehler, sophomore drivers Anna Leggett, Kasey McManus, Christine Janyszek, Katrina Smith and junior Cate DeSalvio. Also keep an eyed on freshman Jessica Easter and second year goalie Jill Goldner.

MIDWEST DIVISION

Grand Valley State University

The 2008 Grand Valley State Lakers are looking to contend this year for the Midwest Division title. Led by returning All-Conference member Katelyn Clancy at two-meters, the team will turn to returning starters Kristin Kuczera, Elisabeth Cole and Christina Billman to guide the team to victory. These players will be helped by the skilled freshman class, that should make the Lakers a very deep and talented team by the end of the season.

Miami University (OH)

Miami University is facing a rebuilding year, due to the loss of many talented seniors. The team is led by seniors Lauren Meeth, Caitlin O'Rourke and Christy Brodell, who will be relied upon both in and out of the pool for their skill and leadership qualities. The junior class of Andrea Segovia, Alyssa Guynn, Cassie Caldwell, Markel Lay, Sarah Trilla and Carly Wade bring power by numbers. Christine Ahern, who saw substantial playing time last year, is the only returning sophomore, but will be joined by fellow sophomore Betsy Clyde. Miami is expecting great things from the new freshmen class. Meredith Beck, Margaret Matavich, Alison Stewart, Caitlin Hamilton, Brittany Ashman, Lauren Brown, Megan Rigal and Whitney Weber bring a mix of experience and speed to the benefit the team. Miami is excited to see the impact that the freshmen will have on the team.

Ohio University

Ohio comes into the 2008 season with a young roster and will look toward the leadership and skill of their two returning first team All-Conference players from the 2007 season, Kate Walter and Elaine Healy, as well as their three seniors Ashley Bailey, Steph Horsfield and Kristen Severson. With the graduation of all-Conference Meghan Plantz, junior Amy Renner will step up at the two-meter. Sophomore Danielle Paszko will be tested in the goal for the first time this year, but shows great promise after studying under graduated all-Conference goalie Laura Bringer for a year. Ohio will rely on return players Ashley Galleher and Morgan Esh to bring their knowledge of the game and skill in the pool, while the biggest freshman class in several years adds depth to the team.

University of Dayton

The 2008 Dayton Flyers will look to improve upon the first two years of existence of the women's club program. The Flyers return 10 of 11 ladies from the team that finished fourth in the Ohio Valley Conference, which merged into the Midwest Division following the 2007 season. The Lady Flyers are optimistic that the knowledge they gained last year will help them in 2008. The Flyers will be led by All-Conference second team member Kathleen Imhoff who led the team with 21 goals. She will be helped on offense by Allie Hamm, who was second on the team in scoring with 20 goals, Katie John and Clare Connelly. The Flyers will look to get contributions on both sides of the ball from Megan Stowe, Jen Blessing, Colleen Seamands, Stephanie Shank, Danielle Carleton, Erinn Riley and Mary Penberthy. The Lady Flyers are excited about the incoming freshman like Bridget Kelly who will look to put up a brick wall against opponents in her first season. Kate O'Hara and Emily Rozanski will be counted on to add to the Flyers' offensive and defensive outputs.

University of Notre Dame

Notre Dame is looking for a strong season this year, returning all but two players from its 2007 squad which finished 29-9 and 11th at the National Collegiate Club Championship. The Irish line-up includes five returning All-Conference players in sophomore MVP Betsy O'Neill in goal, leading scorer Bridget O'Neill, juniors Kelly Horner and Kristen Harchut and sophomore Cristina Romano. Returning starter Kat Kennifer will be expected to make an impact for the Irish along with sophomores Alison Schilling, Emily Harig and Meghan Pearl. Junior Maggie Hyde will take the goal when O'Neill enters the field, and junior Paige Chang and senior Katie Godfrey will fill in the field rotation. Several newcomers will also be entering the mix, including freshmen Ali Durkin, Beth Nagel, Patricia Santamaria and Caitlin Garvey. Overall, the Irish will be relying on new speed and veteran experience to improve their finish from 2007.

Washington University

The Washington University women's water polo team is looking forward to a great season. Although they lost a few key players, several promising new recruits have joined the team. Under the expert coaching of Lewis Thomas, they are coming together as a strong team.

Western Michigan University

Western Michigan University is looking forward to a new season with a young team comprised of quite a few freshmen. The team will turn to four key returning players. Laura Beacham, who was a first time player last year, is expected to be the top shooter in 2008. Sandra Newberry is expected to out swim the rest of the team and will aid in counter attacks. Also look for returning players Sarah Newberry and Camie Coffey to add depth. In addition, the team would like to thank Coach Matt Kamman for all of his great work with the team.

Dartmouth College

Following their New England Championship season, Dartmouth anticipates another strong season. With the addition of six new freshmen, the girls hope that the depth of the bench and cumulative experience of the team will result in another exciting and successful season for the Big Green.

Middlebury College

The Middlebury Panthers enter the 2008 season after a second place finish in the New England Division last year. After losing a large group of seniors, this young team will be a strong competitor. Led by returning seniors Jeannie LaPlante, Pam Chatikavanij and Whitney Thomas, the Panthers have their sights set on making it to the National Collegiate Club Championship. Sophomore Kristen LaPlante will transition from the hole to the goal to replace first-team All-New England graduated senior Lee Corbett. The strong junior class will make up the majority of this team, and their experience will provide power both offensively and defensively. Caitlin Pentifallo, Ashleigh Weissman and Jeannie LaPlante are all expected to be offensive contributors and make this team a competitive one.

Wesleyan University

Williams College

Williams comes into the 2008 season anticipating a rebuilding year. After graduating three starters, the oldest girls on the team are juniors Emily Deans and Courtney Asher who will serve as captains in 2008. Claire Monroy also joins the junior class, which is looking to guide this young team. Sophomore captain Lily Zhou and starters Abby Islan and Lisa Chu will be looked to for strong offense and defense. Freshman Gabrielle Joffe takes over in goal as the squad will look to learn, improve, and grow throughout the course of the season. Coach Dan Meyer returns for another season on the bench as the team should contend for the New England title.

Yale University

Losing only one starter to graduation, Yale returns four All-New-England players and stands poised for a run at the division crown and a shot at national glory. The team's biggest loss came from the bench as coach Vince Elizarde relocated to Miami, Florida. Yale boasts one of the most experienced teams in the CWPA, with five grad students likely to see action this year: Liz Schurgin is back to strike fear in the hearts of opposing goalies as she anchors the hole set squad; the wily veteran skills of Giovanna Masci and Amy Heineemann will ignite the Bulldogs' offense with deceptive shooting, and the equally crafty defensive skills of Monica Mix and Kim Tsao will frustrate foes from Hanover to San Juan. Yale counterattack features the most unstoppable player in the league, Regina Goldman, and the always dangerous sting of southpaw Maya Bernadette. Offense may sell tickets, but defense wins championships, and the Yale "D" will be anchored by goalie and team co-captain Lillian Chen. Co-captain Lauren Sonderegger, Faris Montgomery and Kirsten Forsberg should also factor in the team's success. The team will also look for big contributions from Myrtle Rose Padmore, Melissa Campos, Julie McComish, Kristen McCall and Sarah Hsu under the direction of coaches Will Reid, Jason George and Paul Mittermiller.

NEW YORK DIVISION

Colgate University

After a season with a large portion of the team abroad, Colgate is excited for their large senior class to be back together. In addition to the experience of the seniors, Colgate also has some promising younger players that will become key parts of the team. Team leaders Becca Tennis, Devren Hobbs and Cassie Pagnam, along with the coaching of J.J. Figueroa, the team hopes to have a strong season and build on the program's past success.

Columbia University

After last season's 8-0 finish and subsequent status as New York Division Champions, the Columbia women's water polo club has some big shoes to fill. Despite graduating four starters (Kathryn Taylor, Julia Kaye, Elizabeth Gary and Natalie Levine), the upcoming season looks promising. Under 2007 Coach of the Year Igor Samardzija's guidance, with strong returning starters including sophomore Madi Whitmore, New York Division's All-Conference first team goalie Amy Lin, junior Lia Rosner and graduate student Megan Pryor, Columbia is prepared to defend its title. Also returning are junior Kacie Rice, senior Allison Kade, and after last semester abroad, co-captain and starter Briana Harper, in addition to newcomers Jessica Pepe and Jennifer Lichtblau. With strength in numbers, as well as ability, Columbia looks forward to an exciting new season.

Cornell University

The Cornell women return for an optimistic season in 2008 after finishing second in the New York Division last year. Goalie Diane Wu will be abroad for the semester, but the rest of the Big Red will return ready for a strong season. Two-meter players Corissa Lee and Chloe Hillmer will continue to lead the team's offense along with the help of Rebecca Troutman, Amanda Smith, Michelle Thonesen and Emma Wondergem as drivers. Alessendra Roqueta, Cathey Fahey, Mollie Miller and Lily Sui will join the Big Red for their second year and will be seeing substantial playing time. Cornell's tough defense will continue to thrive with the addition of a new goalie, Joanna Dai, as well as Anastasia Rudenko and Jennifer Bailard as crucial defensive assets. The arrival of several transfers, experienced freshmen and a strong returning team will lead the Big Red to a very competitive 2008 season in New York.

New York University

NYU has many questions to answer this year as the team will look to continue its upward climb to the top of the New York Division after finishing third in the final standings last season.

Syracuse University

Syracuse University is excited to begin its fourth season in the CWPA. Boasting a wide range of ability and experience amongst its members, the team is an eclectic mix of people who have been on the team since its inception or playing for years, while others are just learning the game. Syracuse may have lost two key players, but they have gained a number of fresh faces that are eager to play. The team is anticipating new experiences and competing in the league.

NORTH ATLANTIC DIVISION

Bates College

After an intense and exciting season last year, the Bates Bobcats are ready to go at it again. Not only is their starting line up filled with players who have trained with world class polo players in Australia, Sweden and California, but the bench is deep. Jeanette Hardy's time in Australia provided some meaningful reflection for her game, "I trained with some of the best athletes in the world, and now I'm psyched for a new season in the North Atlantic." Other key players, including Hope Fleming, Emilie Swenson, Alexis Boyatsis and Sarah Reingold, will be spending some serious time on their polo skills as they travel for their annual conference in Florida this winter. On the outside, Kerry Glavin, Eliza Reed, Julie McMillan and Vicki Howard are looking for some extreme goals. The freshmen class has been ignited as they have heard great stories of past seasons and are ready to egg beat their way to the division title. The Bobcats are certainly a team to be reckoned with this year—they're ready and rearing to get in the pool and win some games.

Boston College

The Boston College Eagles enter their 2008 season with experience and enthusiasm. After a strong 2007 season, the Eagles are ready to keep up the intensity even after graduating some key players. Led by captains Claire Tellene and Danielle Bastien, the team be a force with which to be reckoned in the North Atlantic Division.

Boston University

Profile not available

Bowdoin College

The Polo Bears come into this season excited and ready to take the division title. The team graduated two strong players last year: Lana Tilley and Megan McLean. Despite these losses, the Polo Bears are a team to be watched. Guided by captains Kelsey Killmon and Julia Lindsey, the Bears hope to improve on the squad's fifth place ranking last season. Senior Jessica Horstkotte is returning at two-meters and Anne Cathcart, also a senior, will be help the Polo Bears with her shooting skills. Juniors Julia Lindsey, Melissa Locke, Caroline Sholl, Kristina Sorg and Lydia Yeh are all strong shooters and should be watched. Sophomores Caitlin Beach, Connie Chi and Kirsten Chmielewski played well in their freshmen season and should continue to improve. With a strong defense, the team will lean on Kelsey Killmon in goal to block shots.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

The 2008 season will be one of growth for the Engineers of MIT. Although a young team of mostly freshmen and sophomores, the Engineers will be strong competitors. Despite the loss of their three senior captains, Kelly Cavazos, a force in the goal, Christi Winiarz, the team's leading scorer, and Lindsey Sheehan, the team's driver and sprinter, the team still has four of their starters lining up on the lane line this season, including their two-meter sets, Kristen Cook and Analiese DiConti. With the addition of Blair Brettman, a graduate student hailing from University of Texas, the two-meter set and two-meter defensive positions look promising. The contributions of returning starting drivers Lisa Tacoronte and Aditi Nagaraj will also be key, as the Engineers seek to capture their fourth consecutive North Atlantic Division Title in 2008. MIT also has a new head coach, Adam Foley, who is bringing his talents from the varsity level to the women's club team.

Wellesley College

Wellesley returns prepared for victory after a transitional 2007 season. Although Kate Barach, who graduated last year, will be missed, the team looks forward to competing with freshman Alex Simas, whose moves have already proven her to be a key player in the team's pre-season scrimmages. The team will rely heavily on the skilled driving of junior Jean Yau, the scoring and two-meter defense of sophomore Shaina Meyer and the brilliant goal-keeping of senior and captain Claire Marana. The team is glad for the return of senior Paige Boncher, whose defense was missed last season while in South America. Other returning players include Laura Foley, Gauri Gadgil, Christine Nichols, Anna Studwell, Sam Nidenberg, Dersha Patel and Liz Boehm. The squad is excited to play for the first time with Vicki Errickson, Tyler Branscome, Laura Ryan, Emily Hobkirk and Michelle Bourgeois. The team will be led by captains Beth Romano, and Claire Marana.

NORTHWEST DIVISION

Oregon State University

Oregon State has many incoming freshmen this year from all over from the state of Oregon and will look to build a championship program. Led by Katleen Reab and Allie McNamara as the President and Vice President of the club, the Beavers will be guided by new coach Erik Rottman, as Oregon State will look to improve and contend for the Northwest title.

University of Oregon

After finishing fifth in the nation last season, the University of Oregon is looking forward to another very successful season. Seniors Courtney Ashford and Karen Peront will hold down two-meter set, while Katie Fletcher, Lizzy Flowe and Maria Turner will be firing in the outside shots. Defensively, seniors Liz Sampson and Jessica Sander will be making life difficult for two-meter sets. Returning goalie Jessica Kragt will continue to act as a brick wall in the cage, while freshman Beth Gordon and senior Annie Giagni look to add more power to the Duck's attack.

University of Oregon "B"

The University of Oregon "B" team's defense looks strong with key returners Jessica Pulliam, Jennifer Butler, Kristina Kirchgessner, Laura von Stockhausen and Caitlin Hermann in the field, along with goalie Caitlyn Muller in the cage. Newcomers Sasha Globig, Stephanie Buxton, Liz Moore, Krista Nelisen, Marissa Paulling, Katie Peront and Reggie Chambers should help bring much needed offensive power to the Ducks.

University of Portland

The University of Portland comes in excited for the 2008 season. Following a seventh place finish last year in their first season of competition, the UP women are hoping to improve on their standing. The Pilots are looking to continue to grow as a team. Bringing experience to the team are seniors Stacey Anheier and Teresa Kindell, and sophomores Liz Newby, Kaela Calfas, Helen Mottershead, who will lend some speed to the Pilots' offense, with Laura Smith holding down the defense as goalie. Some new faces this year are freshman Annemarie Medrzycki, who is strong at the two-meter position, along with Amber Larson and Samantha Cuffe.

University of Washington

With the majority of returning players from last year, the Huskies plan to build upon last year's second place finish in the Northwest Division. The addition of several talented new players, including Kate Dickens and Marijana Surkovic, should bolster an already strong group of offensive players.

University of Washington "B"

The University of Washington "B" team will continue to improve this year with the addition of several new and talented players.

Western Oregon University

A small team, Western Oregon University returns only two players from its 2007 roster as Abby Turver and Naomi Simila-Dickinson will lead a growing program this year. Although inexperienced in the college game, many of the players have previous experience and are motivated and excited for the season.

Western Washington University

The Western Washington Vikings enter the 2008 season looking to improve upon their third place finish in the Northwest Division in 2007, the highest ranking garnered by the program in team history. With the help of many returning players, along with a talented group of newcomers, the team hopes to continue its recent success from the past few years. Led by coaches John Orlando, Myles VanCleave and Kevin Reese, alongside captains Rachel Ashleman and Sarah Henneford, this talented group has high expectations for the upcoming season. This year the team welcomed Devin Hamm, Alix Martinet, Bailey Mertinet, Samantha Russel, Brianna Zottman, Amber Rusco and new goalie Tanya Waller to the team. These girls join returning players Ashleman, Elise Averill, Kay Biccum, Henneford, Kristin Horton, Elisa Medrzycki, Katie Moore and Sarah Paschall.

PACIFIC COAST DIVISION

California Polytechnic State University

The 2008 season will be a building year for Cal Poly as the Mustangs will look to return to the National Collegiate Club Championship field. Last year, the Mustangs finished second at Nationals and graduated five seniors. Senior Colleen Scheitrum and sophomore Roxanne Eastwood will serve as a strong base for this year's team as Cal Poly was voted #1 in the nation in the preseason coaches poll. Carolyn Kissick, Greta Carroll and Melanie Schmidt will help fill the voids left by last year's graduates. Cal Poly's new players promise to add depth and speed to a team, which perpetually competes in the upper echelon of the nation's best teams. The Mustangs are excited to see what 2008 will bring and are looking to be a threat again in league and at Nationals.

California State University-Fullerton

Entering its second season as a member of the Collegiate Water Polo Association, Cal State Fullerton will look to improve on its third place finish in the 2007 division final standings. Six players return to the pool this year as Lauren Benson, April Chavis, Ann Marie Fisher, Vanessa Lara, Ally Mdikians and Chelsea Rittenhouse will form the base of Fullerton's title hopes. Another six to ten girls will fill out the team's roster as Cal State Fullerton will attempt to capture the Pacific Coast Division title and make an appearance at Nationals.

California State University-Northridge

Cal State-Northridge joins the Collegiate Water Polo Association this year with two goals - have fun and knock off the division's elite teams to earn a bid to their first National Collegiate Club Championship tournament.

Pepperdine University

Following a fifth place finish in the Pacific Coast Division a year ago, Pepperdine will seek to climb up the standings, upset some teams and earn a shot at the division crown in 2008.

University of California-Irvine

A first-year program which shows great promise to jump into the upper echelon of the league over the next few years, UC-Irvine has the talent to stay in games with the best programs in the nation this year.

University of California-Los Angeles

UCLA will look to equal the success of the institution's varsity program this year in capturing the national championship as the Bruins have their eyes on taking the Pacific Coast Division title in 2008. Last year, the squad placed second in the division, a mark which the team seeks to improve on this season.

University of California-Los Angeles "B"

University of California-San Diego

Coming into their third season with the CWPA, UCSD is looking forward to climbing up the ranks in the Pacific Coast division. With a new coaching staff and many talented young players joining the team, the Tritons will be a tough competitor this year. Key returning players are two-meter defenders Emma Feeney and Brigitte Ngo-Trinh, two-meter players Hannah Brace-Thompson and Casey Armstrong, utility players Amy Rinaldo and Leilani Gilpin, and goal-tender Christel Smith. Last year the Tritons were very strong defensively and this year with new additions to the offense, they look to be very strong offensively as well.

University of Southern California

USC returns with a number of new players, as well as many of its starters from last year. The 2008 season marks the final campaign for seniors Alison Barrett, Mariana Garcia, Anita Rai and Jana King, all prominent players on the team. Last year, Garcia, Rai and King were starting players and leading scorers on the team. They will be assisted by Barrett, who is excited to come back from her study abroad and get back in the pool. The Trojans enter the season with a new coach, Matthew Baham, and look forward to a promising season with him. Last year was USC's first year back with the league following a short hiatus.

SIERRA PACIFIC DIVISION

California State University-Chico

The Wildcats are looking forward to a strong 2008 regular season led by seniors Natalie DiMora, Stephanie Abed, Stephanie Wells and Samantha Dolan. Juniors Rachel Christie and Christa Winkler, as well as sophomore Heather Hibbs will provide speed and key defense. The Wildcats' roster is rounded out by a large freshman class that will bring new talent to the pool. CSU-Chico has high hopes for the season as the team is working hard to make an impression on the Sierra Pacific Division.

California State University-Maritime Academy

The Maritime Academy Keelhaulers will look to improve in their second season as a member of the CWPA. Cal Maritime is led by Kristen Swader, a junior who earned CWPA All-America honors last season. Junior Megan Braun will look to contribute again at two-meters, while Valerie Potts and Lila Schwarzbach bring talent and experience to Maritime as well, to bring added depth.

Fresno State University

The defending National Champions have lost many of their outstanding players, but with a lot of new talent, the Lady Bulldogs plan on making their fourth appearance at the national tournament this year. A few of the returning players who should make an impact are goalies Jacque Ritchie and Sarah Behlen, two-meter set Laura Imai and utility players Erika Tasier and Brittany Weaver.

Saint Mary's College

Co-captains Mary Grace Bone and Alyssa Schroeder lead Saint Mary's into the 2008 water polo season with a fresh combination of young talent and seasoned veterans. Malia Chung, returning to Saint Mary's after studying abroad last season, will continue to be a presence in the cage with Amanda Bjerke as both a back-up goalie and field player. Freshmen phenoms Theresa Hayes, Claire Pelpel and Maddie Patoir offer speed and experience to the team, with Britt Boyton and Blair Smith returning to the ranks. Newcomers Caitlin Jacobson and Emily Hook also join the team with previous water polo experience. Junior Hannah Murphy and freshman Barbara Perkins, both new to water polo, will show constant improvement as the season continues. Saint Mary's, after spending the first half of the school year building chemistry and working on basics, promises to bring a powerful combination of speed, experience, and team unity to the CWPA.

University of California-Berkeley

In its first season as a club team, California is looking to make a name for itself in the league. Despite being comprised of mainly sophomores and freshmen, this team is fast in the water and will look to Rhonda Adato and Natasha Cuk as its leading shooters. Many of the players come from highly competitive leagues in Southern California and will be an integral part of keeping Cal competitive in its first season. Players to look out for are junior Natasha Cuk, sophomores Rhonda Adato and Seana Diemer and freshman Margaux Fitoussi.

University of California-Davis

Finishing the season ranked #13 in the club polls and #2 in the Sierra Pacific Division, the UC-Davis squad is hungry for a bid to nationals having missed by one game the past five years. Last season's 9-3 record, with all three losses to eventual national champion Fresno State University, has the Davis players convinced that they are playing some of the best water polo in the nation. The current roster for Davis is loaded with seniors and juniors that have played together for three or more years. Seniors Debra Mazawa, Kristin Emde, Lindsay White, Kellie Banfield, Kristin Hundley and Faith Goss lead a talented core of juniors looking to win league this year.

University of California-Davis "B"

UC-Davis "B" comes into this season hoping to build on its third place finish in the Sierra Pacific Division last year. Having graduated four of the team's top players to the Davis "A" squad, and losing even more athletes to study abroad programs, Davis will have a new dynamic this year.

SOUTHEAST DIVISION

Emory University

Emory enters the upcoming year with a host of fresh faces, both in the water and on the coaching staff. While the Eagles will have to overcome the loss of several key seniors from last year's squad, they are led by captains Jen Lamontagne and Jill Dunham. Senior Cortney Crane will be a dangerous goal-scoring threat, as will other returning veterans such as Lisa Gozal, Nicole Hall, Laura Kolkin and Tali Weinberg. On defense, Emory is anchored by gifted goalkeeper Natasha Viswanathan.

Florida International University

Going into Florida International's third season as a member of the CWPA, the Golden Panthers are expecting to better their previous season record with the help of new coach RJ Lakhani and the addition of several new talented players. The ladies plan to work hard to prove themselves as a worthy opponent against the more experienced teams in the league, while working towards establishing a stronger program in Miami for the following seasons.

Florida State University

Due to the return of several gifted players, including star scorers Karla Norris and Alicia Hollingsworth, Florida State University will look to capture the Southeast crown. One of the team's strengths will be on the defensive end of the tank with goalkeeper Chelsea Griffin locking down the cage. She possesses a great eye for the ball and should shutdown team's this year. The seniors will be counted on to keep the team in check and provide leadership for the underclassmen.

University of Central Florida

Profile not available

University of Florida

After their continued presence at the National Championships in the previous years, the Florida Gators are looking forward to the 2008 season. With the sustained leadership of head coach Michael De Risi and assistant coach Katie Mayer, the Lady Gators look promising as the team was ranked #2 in the 2008 preseason poll. Due to the return of seniors Lucia Gonzales, Ashleigh Abel, Johanna Sierra, goalie Gina Petrakos and veteran Andrea Ferreira, the team's synergy is evident. The Gators will receive assistance from returning players Dana Simons, Jennifer Bean and Allison Moran, along with an experienced sophomore class consisting of Victoria Israels, Courtney Lenner, Jaquelyn Suarez-Murias and Anna Autrey. Freshmen Justine Bronson and goalie Mary Kathryn Atkinson give hope to a successful future in the years to come for the Gators within the Southeast Division and nationally.

University of Georgia

In Georgia's debut season with the CWPA, the team is full of fresh, young talent ready to make a splash. Senior Heidi Potratz is ready to lead the team along with juniors Lauren Molnar and Sallie Watkins. This season will be full of learning experiences and fun times.

SOUTHWEST DIVISION

Colorado State University

The CSU Women's Club Water Polo team is anxiously awaiting the new season with the addition of new players from all over the country. After playing in an off season tournament in Tacoma this fall, Colorado State is ready to compete.

Northern Arizona University

Northern Arizona is looking forward to another strong season as NAU returns seniors Eliese Wildes and Meredith Brandon, and juniors Kaitlin Bundock, Ranie Reineke and Marie De La Faye. Goalie Whitney Rocha brings a wealth of experience and leadership, while NAU looks forward to improving with their new and enthusiastic young players. The team is also excited to be led by their new head coach Dustin Hillard.

University of Arizona

After placing first in the Southwest Division, seventh at Nationals and losing only one starter (Lauren Silva), the 2008 Wildcats are ready to pick up where they left off in 2007 under the leadership of senior tri-captains Shelly Gogol, Rachel Nau and Lizzie Stevulak. Offensively, the Cats will look to shooting power-houses Stevulak, Cami Kliner and JJ Hedlund who each recorded over 40 goals in 2007. Defensively, Kliner, Gogol and Ashley Gusinski are expecting to control the game in front of the goal as third-year starter Nau returns to the cage with a .740 save percentage in league play. The Wildcats anticipate capitalizing on their deep roster including Janine Whitmore, Jennifer Shah and Maggie Schuur as the team will look to advance to Nationals in 2008.

University of Colorado

The University of Colorado is looking forward to an exciting season and improving on last season's fourth place finish in the Southwest Division. With only two seniors graduating last season, almost the entire team is returning, including the two top scorers Alex Maclain and Beth Knorek. In addition, the strong sophomore class will take on the responsibility of securing the necessary victories to advance the team to the division title game.

University of New Mexico

New Mexico comes into the 2008 season looking to build on its past success. Thanks in part to solid recruiting and training, in the wake of losing several top shooters, the team should be in the mix this year for one of the top four spots in the Southwest Division Championship.

University of Utah

The 2007 Southwest Division runner-up, Utah will look to improve on its 7-1 record during regular season play in 2007 and knock off perennial power the University of Arizona for the division's bid to the 2008 National Collegiate Club Championship tournament in Oregon.

US Air Force Academy

The United States Air Force Academy is no stranger to battling it out for supremacy as the Falcons will attempt to improve on their third place finish at the Southwest Division Championship a year ago. Look for experienced play from a group of athletes that are primed to fly past their competition and onto Oregon for the National Collegiate Club Championship.

TEXAS DIVISION

Baylor University

Sporting a large group of committed newcomers, under the guidance of senior and captain Stephanie Gonzalez and veterans Caitlin Malone, Alicia Starkey and Lauren Martin, Baylor University anticipates having another successful season.

Rice University

The Rice Owls look forward to an exciting and challenging 2008 season led by Lauren Schaefer, Caterina Kaffes, Beth Rowan and Stephanie Price. These four returning players will lead a young team through the Texas Division regular and postseason competition with the hope of capturing the division's berth to the National Collegiate Club Championship in Oregon. The team is excited about the large incoming freshman class, especially goalie Shannon Majoras, and Emily Larimer. During this rebuilding season, the Owls will strive to develop a new offense and use their strong defensive background to carry them through the year.

Texas A&M University

Texas A&M women's water polo team is excited about the 2008 season. Following the graduation of all but five of the team's most experienced players (Meagan Patrick, Pamela Kennedy, Jamie Lukeman, Christina Ramos and Stefani Sharpe), A&M will turn to the squad's younger players to rebuild the program's depth and consistency. In addition to the newcomers, transfer students Rachel Edwards and Alyssa Boyd will provide added talent to Texas A&M this year.

Texas State University

Profile Not Available

Texas Tech University

This is the first year that Texas Tech University has established a women's water polo team. Although Tech is a new team, all of its players have had previous experience playing water polo for colleges, club teams, and high schools. Since this is the program's first year, the team has few members but the hope is that the squad will grow in coming years as Texas Tech becomes more widely known in the Texas Division.

Trinity University

Trinity University comes into the 2008 season in a rebuilding mode with a very young team.

University of Texas

The Texas Longhorns will start the 2008 season with many new faces. Coach Karin Robertson continues to lead the team and has high hopes for her new group and returning players after finishing a successful 2007. The Longhorns return with the same passion that allowed them to go undefeated in 2007 and earn a trip to Nationals. Returning sophomore and All-Division goalie Courtney Coffey will maintain the Longhorn's strong commitment to defense, as junior and All-Division driver Flor Beckmann looks to continue making her rapid-fire goals. Returning starters Elizabeth Wallace, Chelsie Miller and Sally Farnsworth will continue to key the team's offense. Ashley Allen returns from shoulder injuries to provide leadership and depth to Texas. Rejuvenating the Longhorn line up with their enthusiasm are freshmen Hilary Rodriguez, Anna Hyatt, Katie Adams and Crystal Plunkett. Freshman Kristy Canales is a strong player who will enhance enhance the Texas line up.

PoloBase

Water Polo Event Manager

PoloBase is the only fully-integrated scoring system for water polo for use by high school, collegiate, open, and club teams. With PoloBase, one person can run the entire scoring table with ease. PoloBase includes:

- One-button game and shot clock management
 - Game score sheet and box score reports
 - On-demand reports, including team and athlete stats
 - Scoreboard display manager

Designed by a USWP "A"-rated referee with more than 30 years experience in software development, PoloBase is available in a Base edition, an entry-level Club edition, and a FINA-compliant International edition.

PoloBase is an Official Supplier of the CWPA.

PoloBase meets all requirements of USWP, NFHS, NCAA, and CWPA.

PoloBase was used at the:

- 2001 National Junior Olympics in Ann Arbor, MI
- 2004 Men's National Collegiate Club Championships at Notre Dame University
- 2005 NCAA Women's National Championships at the University of Michigan

"PoloBase software is incredibly simple to use, and it permits teams to manage the desk with fewer people. This will make it much easier for teams to organize and run events, knowing they need less staff."

— Dan Sharadin
Commissioner, CWPA

"PoloBase software significantly reduces the chance of table errors. This allows our officials to focus more on the flow of the game and creates a better playing environment for the athletes, the coaches, and even the fans."

— Tom Tracey
Director of Officials, CWPA

"I ran PoloBase at the Junior Olympics and the Michigan Boys and Girls High School State Championship tournaments. Workers actually have fun using PoloBase!"

— David Stover
Ann Arbor Pioneer High School
