

History of the Collegiate Water Polo Association

The Collegiate Water Polo Association originally began as the Mid Atlantic Conference, founded by Dick Russell (Bucknell University swimming & water polo coach) in the 1970's. Its founding membership included teams from Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

The leadership and management of the organization relied on volunteer coaches until 1990, when it hired a commissioner to perform basic scheduling for the 15 member teams. Officiating assignments at the time were performed by an independent organization called the Eastern Water Polo Referees Association (EWPR).

The next major milepost occurred in 1993, when the Southern and New England Conferences merged into the Mid Atlantic. The new structure combined all of the varsity teams in the East, along with the few sport clubs in existence at that time.

During the 1995 season, the conference received its first major challenge, as the organization experienced a strike by its officiating core. This strike ultimately resulted in the organization establishing its own officiating bureau, assuming responsibility for all of its officiating assignments.

The CWPA's office is located in Bridgeport, Pennsylvania and is comprised of Commissioner Dan Sharadin, Assistant Commissioner Tom Tracey, Director of Multimedia Jon Weaver, Director of Communications Ed Haas and Coordinator of Officials Ed Reed.

The staff oversees 280+ teams on the varsity and club level for both men and women to place the Collegiate Water Polo Association among the largest sports organizations in North America.

Understanding the Game of Water Polo

Water Polo can be a confusing game for spectators. The whistle is constantly blowing and the play never stops, even when someone is ejected for a penalty. In addition, there are many misconceptions about the game, including how the players keep their horses swimming. The following information is here to make your game-viewing experience a little bit clearer!

General Information

1. Each team has six field players and a goalie.
2. Field players can only use one hand to touch the ball, goalies two.
3. The game consists of four quarters and the clock stops on the whistle. If the game is tied at the end of regulation, the teams play two three-minute overtime periods. If it is still tied, the game goes into sudden victory. A typical game lasts about an hour and ten minutes.
4. The object of the game is to score by placing the ball completely in the goal. Players may move the ball by swimming or passing.
5. Teams may substitute after a goal is scored, during a time-out, or during the play from the ejection area.
6. Each team receives three time-outs and one 30-second time-out per game.
7. Shots blocked out of bounds by defensive players result in the defensive team receiving possession. If a defender uses two hands to block a shot, the offensive team receives a penalty shot.

Types of Fouls

When an infraction of the rules occurs, the referee will point in the direction of the team taking possession, while blowing his whistle. The ball is put back into play with an action called a free throw. This means the player gets three seconds of free time to throw the ball to another teammate or swim it up the pool. A player cannot shoot his free throw unless outside the five-meter line. If the ball is not put into play within three seconds, the other team takes possession.

Fouls can be ordinary or major. Ordinary fouls are best understood as minor fouls. For example, a defender may reach over an opponent's back to get at the ball while facing away from the goal. The penalty for an ordinary foul is a free throw for the opposing team.

Major fouls are more severe and are penalized accordingly. For example, when a defender fouls an opponent too aggressively, or from behind when the opponent is facing the goal, the defender is ejected for 20 seconds (players may reenter if their team recovers the ball before the ejection time is up, or if the opposing team scores). When the foul occurs within five meters of the goal and the referee believes the player had a high chance of scoring, the opposition shoots a penalty shot. Major fouls can also occur through disrespect to the referee or when a player interferes with an opponent's free throw. Players may only receive three major fouls before elimination.

The easiest way to follow the play is by watching the scoreboard. If your team is ahead at the end, great! If not, well consider that you have expanded your horizons. When the game is over, you can at least explain to your friends that the horses never get wet.

CONNECTICUT COLLEGE

2016 Mid-Atlantic Water Polo Conference (MAWPC)-West Region Championship runner-up

Connecticut College will aim to improve on last season's Sixth Place finish at the 2017 MAWPC-West tournament...The No. 6 seed for the 2018 championship, Connecticut would have been the No. 5 seed but Washington & Jefferson College, which also finished 2-4 in MAWPC-West play, holds a 16-9 head-to-head victory over the Camels and won the tiebreaker...Connecticut's four wins on the year have come against Monmouth College (15-11 W at Salem University on September 22), McKendree University (10-8 W at Salem University on September 23), Austin College (12-11 W at Johns Hopkins University/Division III Eastern Championship on October 14) and Monmouth (15-14 W OT at Johns Hopkins /Division III Eastern Championship on October 14) as the team stands 0-8 in home games, 0-5 in away games and 4-5 in neutral site contests...Players to watch include the freshmen quintet of John Krill, Jake Florio, Lucas Verrilli and Mike Gertsik who will be the foundation of Connecticut's future success in the MAWPC-West...Last year, the Camels fell to then West Region member La Salle University (13-11 L), stopped Washington & Jefferson College (19-10 W) and dropped the Fifth Place game to McKendree University (7-6 L) to finish in Sixth Place...In 2016, Connecticut downed La Salle (19-9 W) and Salem University (19-15 W) in the opening two rounds prior to falling to the host Lakers of Mercyhurst University by an 11-8 count in the title game...If Connecticut wins the championship this weekend and earns a berth to the 2018 MAWPC tournament at Fordham University on November 16-18, it will mark the teams's second appearance at the event. In 2016, the Camels' runner-up finish qualified Connecticut for the MAWPC Championship where the team fell to eventual champion/host Bucknell University (24-4 L), Wagner College (18-6 L) and Mercyhurst (15-11 L)...Connecticut head coach Matt Anderson will aim for his seventh post-season championship in an East Coast league (CWPA, MAWPC, Northeast Water Polo Conference (NWPC)) as he previously won four Women's CWPA Championships (2005, 2008, 2009, 2010) at the University of Michigan prior to leading the Camels' to the 2015 and 2016 CWPA Women's Division III crowns....Anderson is one of three coaches in the field with a past post-season championship as Mercyhurst's Curtis Robinette led the Lakers to the 2016 MAWPC-West title prior to Gannon University's Sean Morphy taking the Golden Knights to the MAWPC-West championship in 2017.

TEAM INFORMATION

GANNON UNIVERSITY

The defending Mid-Atlantic Water Polo Conference (MAWPC)-West Region Champion, Gannon University will aim to repeat in 2018 following a perfect regular season in which the team finished 19-0, including a 6-0 mark in league competition...13 of Gannon's victories have come against Washington & Jefferson College (12-5 W, 19-6 W), Salem University (14-12 W, 18-12 W, 17-6 W, 13-11 W), Connecticut College (20-8 W, 17-10 W), Monmouth College (20-7 W), McKendree University (19-9 W, 10-6 W) and Mercyhurst University (11-6 W, 20-6 W)...The Division II Eastern Champion, Gannon took down Salem (17-6 W), host McKendree (10-6 W) and Mercyhurst (11-6 W)...Unlike last year in which the Golden Knights served as host and won the crown—continuing the tradition as 2018 host Mercyhurst captured the 2016 championship as the host institution—Gannon will need to make history and do it as a road team...Last year, Gannon held the No. 1 seed following a 7-0 MAWPC-West slate and mowed through the championship field with victories over W&J (17-2 W) and La Salle University (12-9 W) prior to dropping Mercyhurst (15-10 W) for the program's first conference title. Courtesy the win, Gannon advanced to the MAWPC Championship at the United States Naval Academy where the team fell to George Washington University (10-7 L) and Johns Hopkins University (12-11 L) prior to holding off Mercyhurst (13-12 OT SD W) to finish in Seventh Place...This marks the third consecutive year Gannon is the No. 1 seed. However, in 2016 Mercyhurst clipped the Golden Knights 12-10 in the semifinals before Gannon managed Salem by a 14-7 score in the Third Place game...The Gannon coaching staff is all about family as head coach and former Gannon goalie Sean Morphy is the brother of assistant coach/fellow former Golden Knight Bryan Morphy. Further, volunteer assistant coach/former Golden Knight Marko Sadikovic is the brother of current Gannon standout Zarko Sadikovic...The roster has a similar situation as two pairs of brothers dot the line-up with Thomas Squeglia and Anthony Squeglia joining Brett Rehner and Jake Rehner...The team is playing to continue the collegiate coaching career of 2016 and 2017 MAWPC-West Coach of the Year Sean Morphy who announced his resignation for the following the season to take a position on the institution's faculty.
